Chicago Official Victim In Gang-Style Killing

Alderman Murdered In Office

CHICAGO (UPI)—Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis, powerful Democratic leader of Chicago's West side, was found handcuffed and shot to death in "Chinese execution" style Thursday in his new political headquarters.

West Side politicians and investigators speculated that the 53-year-old Nego fell victim to a political assassinaiton at the hands of enemies made in his rise to power in the 24th Ward.

The tough 24th is in a neighborhood swept by political violence in the racket-torn era of Scarface Al Capone and is the bailiwick of the "West Side bloc" a political combine accused of a shadowy alliance with the underworld.

Police said the slaying might have been the work of a bandit but Coroner Andrew Toman said there was no evidence of robbery.

Lewis, his hands handcuffed above his head and four bullet holes in the back of his skull, was lying face down in a "diving position" on the floor.

Powder Burns

Toman said there were powder burns on the back of the alderman's head, indicating he had been shot at close range in the traditional style of Chinese executions. A cigarette between his fingers had burned down to the filter.

Lewis, a protege of Rep. William L. Dawson, aging Chicago Negro political boss, was slain less than two days after he won overwhelming re-election to a second term in the city council.

He was one of a group of rising Negro Democrats who have seized political control in wards where white political leaders had held the reins of power for decades.

He was regarded as a key man in Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful party organization and as a possible congressional candidate upon the retirement of Democratic Rep. Roland Libonati.

"Tragic Loss"

Daley, who is battling former state's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski for a third term in city hall, called Lewis' death a "tragic loss" and said "There was nothing I could think of in his operations that would cause any enmity." Lewis' widow, Ella, said she had no idea who killed him "because he had no enemies."

Alderman Slain

With his hands handcuffed in front of him, Chicago Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis is stretched face down on the floor of his office, dead from a bullet wound in the head. A Chicago policeman surveys the scene yesterday morning as the body was discovered. The Chicago Negro Democratic leader, (shown in the oval) won reelection last Tuesday by a 12-1 margin. 83-Year-Old Jap Wins 50-Year Court Fight For Murder

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — Ishimatsu Yoshida, 83, can die in peace now. A high court has ruled out a murder charge for which he served 21 years.

Yoshida was convicted in 1913 of murdering a silk merchant in a 50-cent robbery. Released from prison by amnesty, Yoshida tracked down a witness and got an admission from him that he lied in his testimony.

Yoshida had told his lawyers he would shout "banzai"—long live—if acquitted. But when the verdict came all the aged man could do was nod his head.

GOP Leaders Term U. S. Fiscal Plans Dangerously Wrong

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republican leaders denounced the Kennedy administration's fiscal plans Thursday as "dangerously wrong" and said U. S. prestige is being risked with concessions to the Soviet Union in the nuclear test-ban talks.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House GOP leader, said President Kennedy's new budget could be cut upwards of $10 billion without endangering national security or the economy. He said he feels each of the military service budgets could be sliced by $1 billion and added that space spending plans also could be pared down.

Halleck made the remarks at a news conference in issuing a Senate-House Republican leadership statement saying to most Americans, "There is something dangerously wrong about the federal government going farther into debt so it can cut taxes while increasing spending."

The statement described Kennedy as "the greatest spender of public monies in the history of the world in peace or war."

Post Plans Publication On Monday

Woman Publisher Says Plant Idle Long Enough

NEW YORK (AP) — Publisher Dorothy Schiff announced Thursday that the New York Post will resume publication on Monday. It has been closed throughout the 83-day New York newspaper blackout.

Mrs. Schiff, sole owner of the afternoon tabloid, said: "I think the strike has gone on long enough. I see no evidence of a settlement."

The Post will be the first of nine closed newspapers to reopen. Four of the papers were struck Dec. 8 by Local 6, AFL-CIO International Typographical Union. The Post was one of five unstruck papers that closed voluntarily.

Mrs. Schiff said she had resigned from the Publishers Association of New York City, in order to gain freedom to reopen the paper.

The New York Post is the city's oldest continuously published newspaper, founded by Alexander Hamilton in 1801.

At the time it suspended publication, it employed 1,183 persons.

The Post's circulation reached 335,859 last September, a gain of 21,000 over the same month of 1962. It has the smallest circulation of the city's three afternoon newspapers.

Standing beside Mrs. Schiff as she made her announcement was Bertram A. Powers, president of striking Local 6, ITU. He previously had offered to send his printers back to work on the nonstruck papers whenever they wanted to reopen. The union had labeled the closing of the five nonstruck papers as a lockout.

The printers said they would work the five nonstruck papers under terms of their old contract during negotiations for a new one.

Marginal Paper

Powers had termed the Post one of the marginal papers in New York, and there were frequent rumors during the blackout that it might have to fold if the strike settlement was too steep. Mrs. Schiff, herself, said at the outset of the printers strike that a long blackout could prove disastrous to her newspaper.

Mrs. Schiff's announcement of the reopening came as Mayor Robert F. Wagner shelved plans to umpire the newspaper blackout, and called new peace talks for Friday. He said both sides had requested renewed negotiations, and saw this as offering "some glimmer of hope."

Brown Is Called

Elmer Brown, national president of the striking ITU, was summoned from his Colorado headquarters by the mayor to take part in the negotiations.

Wagner had prepared to assume the role of umpire and propose his own nonbinding settlement

Soviet Combat Action In Cuba Will Not Be Tolerated By U. S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States served notice Thursday that it will not tolerate Soviet combat operations in the Western Hemisphere, not even any attempt to put down an uprising against the Castro regime in Cuba.

The warning was sounded by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara when he was asked at a news conference what the government would do if Soviet forces in Cuba should be used to quell a revolt.

"I think that this administration indicated before that we will not accept operations in this hemisphere, combat operations by Soviet military personnel," the secretary replied.

On other points, McNamara said:

—It is too early for any report on movement of Soviet troops out of Cuba in accordance with Moscow's promise to remove "several thousand" by about March 15. Earlier, the State Department denied a published report that Russia had told the United States it planned to keep some forces in Cuba indefinitely.

—Contrary to some speculation, there was no "photo gap" during a period of several weeks just before the missile showdown with Russia last fall. McNamara referred to six U2 flights he said were made Sept. 5, 26 and 29 and Oct. 5, 7 and 14. He said he did not discuss these flights in his television report on Cuba because they did not deal with specific missile sites.

McNamara's news conference statements came as Rear Adm. Vernon L. Lowrance director of naval intelligence, said he ordered all-out scrutiny of Cuba late last August when he became "increasingly apprehensive" about the nature of the Soviet buildup.

Lowrance told the Senate preparedness subcommittee that "reliable coverage of Cuba is a difficult problem." But he said U.S. intelligence efforts uncovered existence of the Soviet offensive missiles and bombers because "we take nothing for granted."

The admiral said his suspicions were aroused in late August and September with the introduction of surface-to-air missiles, patrol vessels and cruise missils. He said he then ordered "no stone unturned" to determine the nature and extent of the Soviet buildup.

The possibility of finding offensive weapons was constantly considered before, he said, but earlier arms shipments were viewed primarily as aimed at bolstering Cuba's defenses against invasion.

Lowrance said he now considers Cuba's potential for subversion in Latin America a "serious threat."

Telstar Loses Voice Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Telstar, the communications satellite that beamed live television programs across the Atlantic, has lost its voice again.

Bell Telephone Laboratories said that for the past week the remarkable satellite has failed to respond to commands from the earth.

U. S. Reports Red Flights Over Fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia has been making long-range aerial reconnaissance flights over U.S. carrier fleets in the Atlantic and Pacific for more than a month, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed Thursday.

McNamara said the new, longer range flights, originating in Soviet territory, appeared to be "routine reconnaissance operations" with no hostile intent. All occurred over international waters, where they had "a legal right to be," he added.

The defense secretary said the United States will not ask Russia to explain the overflight.

He said U. S. planes perodically fly over Soviet vessels such as merchant ships.

He insisted there was no Soviet air reconnaissance of U.S. territory.

JFK Seeking Strong Law In Congress

Message Urges End To Abuses In Schools, Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for unprecedented powers to safeguard Negro voting rights, including referees to rule on voter qualifications as soon as a registrar's impartiality is challenged in federal court.

Other federal action, no matter how speedy and how drastic, Kennedy said, can never correct abuses of local and state power to curtail Negro civil rights.

The President, spelling out his first civil rights program to Congress, added:

"It is necessary instead to free the forces of our democratic system within these areas by promptly insuring the franchise to all citizens, making it possible for their elected officials to be truly responsible to all their constituents."

School Segregation

The President also called for federal help in ending school segregation and requested a four-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission with expanded duties.

"The program outlined in this message should not provide the occasion for sectional bitterness," Kennedy said. "No state or section of this nation can pretend a self-righteous role, for every area has its own civil rights problems."

Civil rights advocates in Congress generally hailed the program as a step in the right direction. Many said it didn't go far enough.

Southern Reaction

Typical of Southern reaction was that of Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., who said:

"As far as Virginia is concerned we can get along very well without any of that new legislation."

White House officials acknowledged there is a good chance a Southern filibuster might result when the program comes up for Senate action.

They insisted, however, that the proposals are realistic and have a good chance of being enacted.

The legislative requests are expected to be submitted within 10 days as three separate bills.

Kennedy said slavery has vanished in the century since the Emancipation Proclamation, but "progress for the Negro has been too often blocked and delayed."

He said, "Equality before the law has not always meant equal treatment and opportunity. And the harmful, wasteful and wrongful results of racial discrimination and segregation still appear in virtually every aspect of national life, in virtually every part of the nation."

New Recommendations

Kennedy made two new recommendations to speed up action in voting rights cases:

—Calling for appointment of federal referees to pass on voter qualifications as soon as the suit is filed in any county where less than 15 per cent of the eligible population of any race claiming discrimination is registered to vote.

—Calling for voting right suits to be given priority in federal courts, just as election suits are expedited in some state courts "on the sensible premise that, unless the right to vote can be exercised in a specific election, it is, to the extent of that election, lost forever."

Both would apply to local, state or federal elections.

Under present law, a referee may be appointed only after a federal judge finds that discrimination exists. Presently, there are some 200 counties, mainly in five Southern states, where less than 15 per cent of any racial group is registered to vote.

The referees would have to follow existing state laws and regulations, and their actions would be subject to court review.

Officials said the interim referees could make it possible for Negroes to vote immediately without the two- to three-year wait that often results as voting rights cases are appealed.

Kennedy had two other requests, which would apply only in federal elections:

—A specific ban on the application of different tests and standards to different people.

—A declaration that anyone who has completed the sixth grade is presumed to be literate.

Bootleggers Say Business Booms

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Business is booming for streetcorner bootleggers in hard-drinking Sweden. A foremen's strike at the state liquor monopoly threatened drought.

Police said Thursday that aside from the bootleggers, they look for a return of the moonshiner to Sweden if the strike of the 374 foremen lasts long. It began Wednesday.

The bootleggers, who sell otherwise legal liquor after legal hours will have to restock from the state stores—one bottle of wine and one bottle of hard liquor to each customer.

Swedes thronged the stores. Others, wanting more, went around the corner and paid a stiff price to the bootleggers for black market liquor.

Supplies of the popular items—domestic braennvin and vodka, brandy and whisky, dwindled rapidly.

"By the end of the week there will be nothing left," a customer commented sadly.

Court Ends Hearings On School Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court concluded hearings and took under advisement Thursday two cases which could touch off new uproar over the constitutionality of religious exercises in public schools.

The court is expected to decide the cases from Maryland and Pennsylvania before ending the present term in June. Last year, a running controversy erupted after the court ruled that the reading of a state-written prayer in New York schools was unconstitutional.

The current cases involve the reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in Baltimore and Abington Township, Pa.

The court wound up two days of hearing arguments with the presentation by both sides in the latter case. Pennsylvania law requires that at least 10 verses of the Bible be read without comment at the start of each school day.

In opposition to the practice, attorney Henry W. Sawyer told the justices that the requiement is just as unconstitutional as was the New York prayer.

On behalf of the Bible reading, Deputy State Atty. Gn. John D. Killian III said the ceremony stemming from colonial days is "an educational practice" not a religious exercise.

"If you want to be a musician, you have to study sacred music," he told the court, "and if you want to be a good person you have to study morality."

Similarly, attorney Philip H. Ward III, representing Abington Township, said the reason for the Bible reading is moral rather than religious.

The law was challenged by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Schempp who have two children in Abington High School. A three-judge federal court has ruled the practice unconstitutional.

Arguments in the Baltimore case were heard Wednesday. At issue is a 1905 statute which requires the recitation of the Lord's Prayer or passages from the Bible at the beginning of school although students who wish may be excused.

The requirement was protested by Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, an avowed atheist and the mother of two school age children.

Engineer Dies At Train Controls

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — The engineer collapsed and died at the controls of a speeding Grand Trunk Western freight train here Thursday but his assistant stopped the train without damage.

James A. Palmer, 57, of Battle Creek, Mich., fell over and Lawrence Hart, also of Battle Creek, stopped the train just short of a busy U.S. 20 crossing.

Telstar Loses Voice Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Telstar, the communications satellite that beamed live television programs across the Atlantic, has lost its voice again.

Bell Telephone Laboratories said that for the past week the remarkable satellite has failed to respond to commands from the earth.

Bootleggers Say Business Booms

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Business is booming for streetcorner bootleggers in hard-drinking Sweden. A foremen's strike at the state liquor monopoly threatened drought.

Police said Thursday that aside from the bootleggers, they look for a return of the moonshiner to Sweden if the strike of the 374 foremen lasts long. It began Wednesday.

The bootleggers, who sell otherwise legal liquor after legal hours will have to restock from the state stores—one bottle of wine and one bottle of hard liquor to each customer.

Swedes thronged the stores. Others, wanting more, went around the corner and paid a stiff price to the bootleggers for black market liquor.

Supplies of the popular items—domestic braennvin and vodka, brandy and whisky, dwindled rapidly.

"By the end of the week there will be nothing left," a customer commented sadly.

Court Ends Hearings On School Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court concluded hearings and took under advisement Thursday two cases which could touch off new uproar over the constitutionality of religious exercises in public schools.

The court is expected to decide the cases from Maryland and Pennsylvania before ending the present term in June. Last year, a running controversy erupted after the court ruled that the reading of a state-written prayer in New York schools was unconstitutional.

The current cases involve the reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in Baltimore and Abington Township, Pa.

The court wound up two days of hearing arguments with the presentation by both sides in the latter case. Pennsylvania law requires that at least 10 verses of the Bible be read without comment at the start of each school day.

In opposition to the practice, attorney Henry W. Sawyer told the justices that the requiement is just as unconstitutional as was the New York prayer.

On behalf of the Bible reading, Deputy State Atty. Gn. John D. Killian III said the ceremony stemming from colonial days is "an educational practice" not a religious exercise.

"If you want to be a musician, you have to study sacred music," he told the court, "and if you want to be a good person you have to study morality."

Similarly, attorney Philip H. Ward III, representing Abington Township, said the reason for the Bible reading is moral rather than religious.

The law was challenged by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Schempp who have two children in Abington High School. A three-judge federal court has ruled the practice unconstitutional.

Arguments in the Baltimore case were heard Wednesday. At issue is a 1905 statute which requires the recitation of the Lord's Prayer or passages from the Bible at the beginning of school although students who wish may be excused.

The requirement was protested by Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, an avowed atheist and the mother of two school age children.

Former Adventurer, Foreign Correspondent, Dies At 81

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Charles Sweeny, 81, former foreign correspondent and adventurer who fought under five flags in seven wars, died Wednesday in a Salt Lak hospital.

Physicians attributed death to the infirmities of age.

CHARLES SWEENY

A native of San Francisco, Sweeny enlisted in the U.S. Army at the age of 16 and fought in the Spanish-American War, acquiring a taste for battle he never lost.

He later graduated from Notre Dame University and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, then went to France where he graduated from the Ecole Militaire, a military school.

In 1914, Sweeny enlisted as a private in the French Foreign Legion, rising in three years to lieutenant colonel. He was transferred to the U.S. Army in 1917 when this country entered World War I.

Wounded three times, he retired at the end of the war as a colonel.

Pursuing adventure, he fought as a general in the Polish army against the Bolsheviks, then joind the revolutionary army of Kemal Ataturk of Turkey.

In 1925, Sweeny headed a squadron of U.S. volunteer pilots who fought with the French in the Riff war against the Arab leader, Abdel Krim.

During the Spanish revolution, Sweeny served as a military advisor to the Spanish Loyalists. In 1939, after the outbreak of World War II, he was commissioned a major general in the Frnch Foreign Legion.

He later organized the Eagle Squadron, consisting of U.S. volunteers attached to the French air force. When France surrendered to Germany, Sweeny and his squadron went to England.

He continued to command the squadron, with the rank of group leader in the R.A.F., until 1942, when the squadron was transferred to the U. S. Army Air Forces.

Between military assignments Sweeny was a foreign correspondent for several U.S. newspapers and magazines, including the old New York World.

He returned to the United States in 1942 and had been living in Salt Lake since 1944.

terms, when the request for new peace talks reached him.

He announced at City Hall: "Both sides feel that they prefer to be able to arrive at a settlement through mediation and negotiations rather than have me make a proposal at this time."

Following Mrs. Schiff's announcement of the reopening of the Post, the publishers association said in a statement:

"The decision of Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, publisher of the New York Post, to resign from the Publishers Association of New York City and to resume publication, does not alter the firm determination of the other publishers in the association to continue to press for a satisfactory agreement to end the current strike.

"They will meet tomorrow, Friday morning, for this purpose, at the suggestion of Mayor Robert Wagner, with union representatives, including Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union."

Papers struck by the ITU are the morning Times and Daily News, and the afternoon Journal-American and the World-Telegram & Sun. Papers that were not struck but that closed include, besides the Post, the morning Herald Tribune and Mirror, and the afternoon Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The latter continued to publish suburban editions for distribution outside the city.

Pair Charged In Beating Children

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 23-year-old Baltimore man and his 22-year-old wife were charged by police Thursday with beating two of their children, aged 3 and 4, earlier this month.

Hearings for the couple accused of assault, Bradley W. and Marjorie Insley, were scheduled for Central Municipal Court. Police said the father is unemployed and quoted him as saying he beat the children "because they were getting on my nerves."

Police said the case came to their attention when one of the children, Christopher, 3, was treated at Maryland General Hospital for a cut over his eye. Police said the child had bruises over his body.

When they questioned the parents at home, they found that the other child, Dianne 4, also bore several bruises. The couple's other child, aged 6, was not involved, police said.

Frank M. Duvall Final Rites Set

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held Saturday at St. Margarets, Anne Arundel County, for Frank Merriken Duvall, former delegate and state senator from Anne Arundel County.

Duvall, 90, died Wednesday night at Church Home and Hospital in Baltimore, where he had been a patient for a month.

A Democrat, Duvall was elected to the House of Delegates in 1904 but did not seek re-election. He returned to the house in the 1914 election and ran successfully for the senate two years later, serving there until 1920.

Duvall's annual watermelon party at his 30-acre farm five miles east of Annapolis became a fixture among Democratic leaders.

A widower, he is survived by three daughters—Mrs. Howard T. Orville of suburban Towson, Mrs. Beauford W. Fink of Oakton, Va., and Mrs. Edwin P. Archibald of Newport News, Va.

Teenage Girl Slain

The body of a teenage girl (left) tentatively identified as Mary Bell, 15, lies in snow beside a secluded path in Minnehaha Park in Minneapolis, as homicide detectives check the area. Police said the girl had been missing from a babysitting job since Wednesday night. She had been brutally beaten about the head. Footprints in the snow yesterday show she was accompanied to the area by at least one person. (AP Photofax)

Clues Scarce In Double Murder

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Several sets of fingerprints found in the H. Denis Hoover home, scene of a double slaying Monday, have been identified as "friendly," Josept A. Massie Jr., Frederick County commonwealth's attorney, said Thursday.

The fingerprints were analyzed at the FBI crime laboratory in Washington Wednesday.

Massie met again with law enforcement officers Thursday to coorelate the few shreds of evidence found in the knife slaying of Hoover's wife and her 85-year-old mother, Mrs. E. M. Snow.

Automobile makers said car assemblies this week will be up 3 per cent to 148,755, compared with 144,701 last week and 137,883 a year ago.

Court Denies Dismiss Motion In Fraud Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Motions to dismiss charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and conflict of interest against two former Democratic congressmen were denied Thursday by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen in U.S. District Court.

Former representatives Thomas F. Johnson, 53, of Maryland and Frank W. Boykin, 77, of Alabama had sought dismissal on the ground that congressional immunity had been violated and that the U.S. District Court in Maryland did not have jurisdiction in the case.

The indictment, returned last October, also charged J. Kenneth Edlin, a savings and loan association promoter, and William L. Robinson, Edlin's Miami, Fla., attorney, with aiding and abetting the conspiracy to defraud.

Boykin, who was represented by Washington attorney Edward Bennett Williams, and Johnson also had filed a joint motion seeking transcripts of the grand jury proceedings.

Judge Thomsen ruled that Johnson failed to show any compelling reasons for his plea, but granted Boykin access to the transcript because he had been ill in a hospital during the grand jury inquiry.

Trial of the four men is scheduled to begin here April 1. All have pleaded innocent.

George Cochran Doub, attorney for Johnson, contended that a June 1961, speech on the floor of the House of Representatives by Johnson came under the congressional immunity privilege.

"Congress has repeatedly enacted statues providing for criminal prosecution in courts of congressmen for bribery and graft—including taking money for his action, vote, or decision," Judge Thomsen said.

"To hold the indictment is barred by privilege would subvert rather than advance the purpose of the privilege—the independence of a legislator in fulfillment of his public trust."

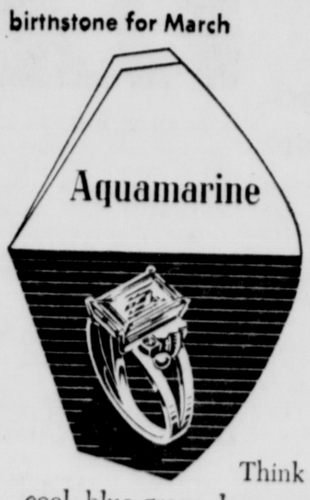

The first count of the eight-count indictment charged the four men with conspiring to defraud the U.S. government, the Maryland General Assembly and depositors in some Maryland savings and loan associations.

The other seven counts accuse Johnson of receiving compensation for services rendered in behalf of Edlin, who had been charged with mail fraud in connection with the operation of savings and loan firms. Edlin subsequently was convicted and imprisoned.

Briefs From Maryland And Vicinity

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission has awarded a $669,500 contract for construction of an administration building and toll facilities on the Northeastern Expressway to Henry A. Knott Inc., of Baltimore.

The administration building and toll plaza would be situated north of the Susquehanna River in Cecil County. The 48-mile highway is scheduled for completion on Nov. 15.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three men arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents during a raid in Seat Pleasant last July have pleaded guilty to gambling charges in U.S. District Court.

The guilty pleas were entered by Peter J. Gianaris, 49; Charles Azzi, 34, and John Lacovaro, 40, all of Washington. Gianaris has been described by Washington police as the kingpin of gambling operations in the area.

The IRS said the raid on a house three blocks from the Prince Georges County police headquarters broke up an estimated $2,500,000 a year betting operation.

GREENBELT, Md. (AP)—The Goddard Space Flight Center awarded Radiation Systems Inc. of Alexandria, Va., a $185,000 contract Thursday to design and fabricate four antenna arrays, each larger than a six-room house.

The antennas will be used to transmit command signals to spacecraft.

The first assembly is to be delivered to Goddard within three months. The others will be completed at the rate of one every three weeks.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Education has voted to ask Gov. Tawes for $50,000 for engineering studies of a statewide educational television system.

The Educational Television Advisory Committee had recommended the board ask the governor and the legislature for $175,000 for other programs. But the board decided to limit its request to $50,000 from the contingency fund.

The committee's report called for the establishment of a network of stations to provide both classroom instruction and evening programs of a cultural nature.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treeland Nurseries Inc. of Frederick, Md., has received a $15,049 contract from the National Park Service for plantings around the visitor center at the Antietam National Battlefield site. The contract award was announced by Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore woman gave her attacker some of his own medicine, so to speak.

Attacked by a bandit at her grocery store, Mrs. Tobi Leder ripped off his coat, beat him over the head with a soda bottle and chased him from the store.

Mrs. Leder told police the man grabbed her and put a small pen knife to her side, and then she turned on him.

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Leo C. Wolf Jr., 26, of Halethorpe, has surrendered to Baltimore County authorities on a charge of embezzling $77,298 from the GAC Finance Corp.'s Arbutus branch.

Wolf entered a plea of innocent before Judge John E. Raine Jr. in Circuit Court and was released in $5,000 bail for a later trial. The defendant was indicted by the Baltimore County grand jury Monday and surrendered Wednesday.

Senator's Wife Is Naturalized

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes extended his congratulations Thursday to Mrs. John Thomas Parran Jr., wife of the Charles County senator, on her naturalization.

The governor presented American and Maryland flags to Mrs. Parran who became an American citizen at Upper Marlboro, Md., Wednesday.

Mrs. Parran, 27, is the former Christel Hermani who lived in the town of Wuppertal, near Cologne, Germany, before she came to the United States on a visit five years ago.

She visited Southern Maryland during Charles County's 300th anniversary where she was introduced to Parran at a play.

They were married the following year. They have no children.

Royal Relative Ill

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—Attorney Ronald Armstrong-Jones, 63, father-in-law of Princess Margaret, was rushed from the dock to Liverpool Royal Infirmary with suspected pneumonia Thursday when the liner Empress of Britain arrived. Authorities said Armstrong-Jones, father of Lord Snowdon, was stricken Wednesday night.

To People Who Hate Their Nights

Funny thing about people. Many of them sleep restlessly, wake up tired, feel grumpy and never wonder if their mattress is at fault.

Yet, our experience indicates that a poor mattress is at the bottom of most sleep problems. We say that because so many of our customers have been amazed at the improvement in their sleep after they bought a Beautyrest. Here are typical comments:

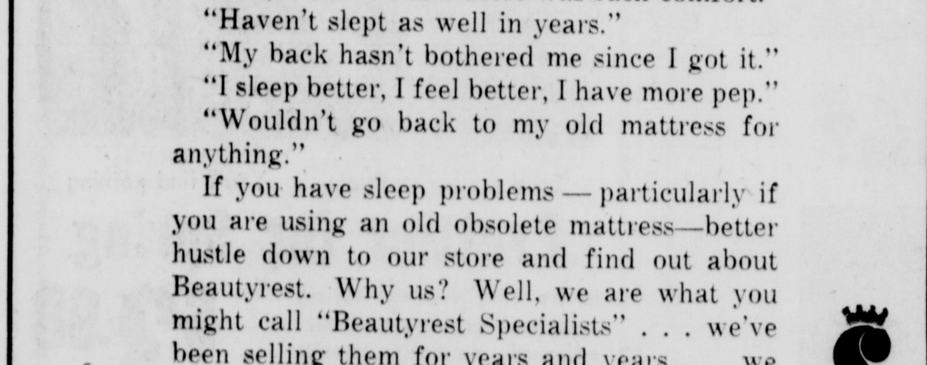

"Gee, I didn't know there was such comfort."
"Haven't slept as well in years."
"My back hasn't bothered me since I got it."
"I sleep better, I feel better, I have more pep."
"Wouldn't go back to my old mattress for anything."

If you have sleep problems — particularly if you are using an old obsolete mattress—better hustle down to our store and find out about Beautyrest. Why us? Well, we are what you might call "Beautyrest Specialists" . . . we've been selling them for years and years . . . we carry all models in stock (few stores do) . . . . and you'll find people here who will be genuinely glad to help you find the model that is best for your sleep problem.

Briefs From Maryland And Vicinity

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission has awarded a $669,500 contract for construction of an administration building and toll facilities on the Northeastern Expressway to Henry A. Knott Inc., of Baltimore.

The administration building and toll plaza would be situated north of the Susquehanna River in Cecil County. The 48-mile highway is scheduled for completion on Nov. 15.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three men arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents during a raid in Seat Pleasant last July have pleaded guilty to gambling charges in U.S. District Court.

The guilty pleas were entered by Peter J. Gianaris, 49; Charles Azzi, 34, and John Lacovaro, 40, all of Washington. Gianaris has been described by Washington police as the kingpin of gambling operations in the area.

The IRS said the raid on a house three blocks from the Prince Georges County police headquarters broke up an estimated $2,500,000 a year betting operation.

GREENBELT, Md. (AP)—The Goddard Space Flight Center awarded Radiation Systems Inc. of Alexandria, Va., a $185,000 contract Thursday to design and fabricate four antenna arrays, each larger than a six-room house.

The antennas will be used to transmit command signals to spacecraft.

The first assembly is to be delivered to Goddard within three months. The others will be completed at the rate of one every three weeks.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Education has voted to ask Gov. Tawes for $50,000 for engineering studies of a statewide educational television system.

The Educational Television Advisory Committee had recommended the board ask the governor and the legislature for $175,000 for other programs. But the board decided to limit its request to $50,000 from the contingency fund.

The committee's report called for the establishment of a network of stations to provide both classroom instruction and evening programs of a cultural nature.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treeland Nurseries Inc. of Frederick, Md., has received a $15,049 contract from the National Park Service for plantings around the visitor center at the Antietam National Battlefield site. The contract award was announced by Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore woman gave her attacker some of his own medicine, so to speak.

Attacked by a bandit at her grocery store, Mrs. Tobi Leder ripped off his coat, beat him over the head with a soda bottle and chased him from the store.

Mrs. Leder told police the man grabbed her and put a small pen knife to her side, and then she turned on him.

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Leo C. Wolf Jr., 26, of Halethorpe, has surrendered to Baltimore County authorities on a charge of embezzling $77,298 from the GAC Finance Corp.'s Arbutus branch.

Wolf entered a plea of innocent before Judge John E. Raine Jr. in Circuit Court and was released in $5,000 bail for a later trial. The defendant was indicted by the Baltimore County grand jury Monday and surrendered Wednesday.

Senator's Wife Is Naturalized

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes extended his congratulations Thursday to Mrs. John Thomas Parran Jr., wife of the Charles County senator, on her naturalization.

The governor presented American and Maryland flags to Mrs. Parran who became an American citizen at Upper Marlboro, Md., Wednesday.

Mrs. Parran, 27, is the former Christel Hermani who lived in the town of Wuppertal, near Cologne, Germany, before she came to the United States on a visit five years ago.

She visited Southern Maryland during Charles County's 300th anniversary where she was introduced to Parran at a play.

They were married the following year. They have no children.

Royal Relative Ill

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—Attorney Ronald Armstrong-Jones, 63, father-in-law of Princess Margaret, was rushed from the dock to Liverpool Royal Infirmary with suspected pneumonia Thursday when the liner Empress of Britain arrived. Authorities said Armstrong-Jones, father of Lord Snowdon, was stricken Wednesday night.

To People Who Hate Their Nights

Funny thing about people. Many of them sleep restlessly, wake up tired, feel grumpy and never wonder if their mattress is at fault.

Yet, our experience indicates that a poor mattress is at the bottom of most sleep problems. We say that because so many of our customers have been amazed at the improvement in their sleep after they bought a Beautyrest. Here are typical comments:

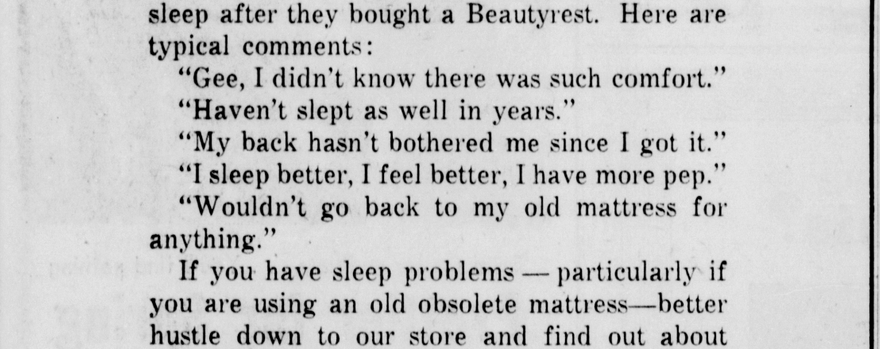

"Gee, I didn't know there was such comfort."
"Haven't slept as well in years."
"My back hasn't bothered me since I got it."
"I sleep better, I feel better, I have more pep."
"Wouldn't go back to my old mattress for anything."

If you have sleep problems — particularly if you are using an old obsolete mattress—better hustle down to our store and find out about Beautyrest. Why us? Well, we are what you might call "Beautyrest Specialists" . . . we've been selling them for years and years . . . we carry all models in stock (few stores do) . . . . and you'll find people here who will be genuinely glad to help you find the model that is best for your sleep problem.

More Americans Turning To Mobile Home Living

By GAY PAULEY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—One answer Americans have found to the space race—room for living—lies in the mobile home.

Today, more than 4.1 million persons live the mobile way and 300,000 more are added to this total each year, says Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers As-

Wilson reported during the 27th annual National Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show here that the whole industry now has reached the multi-billion dollar figure, by the time you count in also the mobile home parks, services, and suppliers.

The mobile home phase of the industry alone totaled $600 million in retail sales in 1962, a 26 per cent increase over 1961. In 1947, the first big post-war year, sales totaled $147 million, compared with the $1.3 million of sales in 1930, when the first "house trailers" were made.

But the industry long since has quit using the word trailer. And in truth, the term mobile sometimes is a misnomer, because many of the so-called mobile homes are plunked down at a park site and remain there, just as permanently as a house built on a lot.

Wilson said more than 50 per cent of mobile homes remain on the site. Travel trailers, which one official of MHMA called the "log cabin of the industry," are another matter. These primarily are for on-the-go weekenders and vacationers. Sales of the travel trailers for 1962 totaled $75 million, said Wilson.

The mobile homes industry has had its problems—with local officials on matters of zoning and building codes, and with getting community acceptance of the mobile home dweller.

Wilson observed in an interview that "there are slums on wheels." But the association has taken action to overcome these problems. Standards for plumbing, heating and electrical equipment and their installation have been prepared by engineers from the firms that are members of MHMA and the Trailer Coach Association, Wilson said.

The MHMA-TCA standard, as it is known, has been incorporated into the recommended building codes of the Building Officials Conference of America and the Southern Building Code Congress. A manufacturer-member of the association must conform to the code. Plants are inspected regularly, Wilson said.

As for the mobile home dweller's fitting into the community, Wilson points out that 3 per cent of mobile home dwellers are church goers; 75 per cent are registered to vote; 55 per cent are professional people and skilled workers; 20 per cent are members of the armed forces, and 14 per cent are retired or semi-retired persons.

One of the big plroblems the mobile homes assocation and individual home owners face is that of places to park—there is a serious shortage of good parks, said Wilson.

At present, there are some 16,000 such parks located from Maine to Oregon. Florida, Arizona and Southern California lead in the number of mobile home parks.

Park management provides the maintenance, utilities, the refuse pickup, and the new, luxury ones provide swimming pools, tennis courts, landscaping, and recreation buildings. Cost to the mobile family ranges from $25 per month, on up to $300 for some of the most elaborate parks.

Help For Nails

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—While the primary purpose of proper seasoning is to "pre-shrink" lumber, the side effects on nail holding power are equally important. The Southern Pine Association says the process gives an advantage of as much as 400 per cent in the ultimate nail holding power of a structure.

Catholic Priest Has Hobby Of Exploring Caves

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) —A Roman Catholic priest whose hobby is exploring caves has constructed an electronic device with which he can correlate points underground with local surface topography.

The priest, Rev. Paul Wightman, O.M.I., teaches mathematics at St. Henry's Preparatory Seminary here. Father Wightman, 33, has been interested in caves since 1948 and has explored and mapped them throughout Monroe County, Illinois.

Father Wightman recently completed an assignment for a Missouri cave operator who wants to build a fallout shelter in his underground emporium.

Lester B. Dill, of Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., wanted to locate spots in the cave for drilling escape hatches and air purification vents. Conventional survey methods were tried but three shafts that were sunk failed to strike the cavern.

Dill then asked Dr. Albert J. Frank, associate professor of geology and geological engineering at Saint Louis University, to make the survey. Dr. Frank immediately thought of Father Wightman, who had just completed an electronic system of directional radio transmitters and receivers for location of points on the surface corresponding to locations underground. Father Wightman and Dr. Frank then made the successful survey.

Understatement

WASHINGTON (UPI — Patrick Murphy's Weather Almanac for 1838 said flatly that January 20 would be the coldest day of the winter. It turned out to be the coldest day England had suffered in generations and the 1837-38 season was long known as Murphy's Winter, says the National Geographic Society.

Big, Big Tree

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A giant sequoia in California has a circumference of 101 feet and a height of 272 feet, says American Forest Products Industries. The tree contains enough wood to build 35 five-room houses. Its bark is two feet thick in some places.

Neckties, formerly known as cravats, were first worn extensively in Europe during the French Revolution.

CINCINNATI (AP) — During one of the days of extreme cold, snow and ice this winter, motorists driving along Cincinnati's riverfront saw a husky man out with a pick and shovel clearing ice on a drive leading to the wharf-bridge of the Greene Line Steamers.

It was Capt. Ernest E. Wagner, master of The Delta Queen, last of the sternwheel passenger steamers on the inland waterways.

Ice on the sharp incline leading to the wharf had prevented fuel deliveries and fuel was running low on his beloved Delta Queen, tied up at the wharf.

Capt. Wagner was making sure fuel could be delivered over the cobbelstone drive to keep heat on the Delta Queen. He didn't want anything to happen to her before he starts late in March the first of 19 cruises on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and several of their tributaries.

Capt. Wagner, who stands 6-5 and weighs 240, is a veteran of 30 years on the river.

He was aboard The Island Queen as a first mate when she blew up at a wharf in Pittsburgh on Sept. 9, 1947. The explosion ripped open the hull and the boat sink. Wagner was trapped but he ripped his way through fallen timbers, shattered bulkheads and windows to safety. He took two shipmates with him.

When he isn't traveling up and down the rivers, Capt. Wagner makes his home at New Richmond, Ohio, where he just is known as "big Ernie."

Although he was only a captain aboard an amphibious "duck" with the Navy during the war he also is an admiral. In 1958 the governor of Nebraska made him an admiral in the Nebraska navy, for directing the first sternwheeler up the treacherous Missouri River in several decades.

After looking over the ice in the Ohio river this winter, Capt. Wagner calmly said, "The Queen's all right. She's got a steel hull and we could dig her out of this ice to start traveling in March even if it's not melted."

Half Of People In Maine Town Hold Public Office

BEDDINGTON, Maine (AP) — Nearly half the people in Beddington hold office in the town government.

That may sound like a burdensome bureaucracy for the taxpayers but it really isn't. The yearly appropriation for administration is only $50. And the town is Maine's smallest with a population of 19.

Seven persons hold a total of 11 offices — selectmen, school board members, town clerk, town treasurer, road commissioner and overseer of the poor.

Beddington is pretty much off by itself in eastern Maine and the residents say they like it that way. Nearest good-sized city is Bangor, 40 miles away.

Local telephone service is free because the phone system is maintained by the state for fire and other emergencies.

Outside calls have to be paid for but they can only be made seven months out of the year. This is because the Maine Forest Service station at nearby Lead Mountain handles all outside calls and the station is closed from December to April. And outside calls must be made collect because the Forest Service doesn't care to get involved in bill collecting.

There is no electrical service, so each home is equipped with its own power generating plant.

The high cost of providing good schools plagues most communities but the problem is unknown in Beddington. Only two youngsters live in town. One is 3-year-old Christine Drinkwise, who hasn't started school yet, and the other is her sister, Elizabeth, 17. She attends Cherryfield Academy in another town and is an honor student.

Main source of employment is a saw mill and two restaurants on Route 9, a Bangor-Calais highway.

The first law school in the United States was established by Tapping Reeve, a lawyer from Connecticut, in 1784.

Half Of People In Maine Town Hold Public Office

BEDDINGTON, Maine (AP) — Nearly half the people in Beddington hold office in the town government.

That may sound like a burdensome bureaucracy for the taxpayers but it really isn't. The yearly appropriation for administration is only $50. And the town is Maine's smallest with a population of 19.

Seven persons hold a total of 11 offices — selectmen, school board members, town clerk, town treasurer, road commissioner and overseer of the poor.

Beddington is pretty much off by itself in eastern Maine and the residents say they like it that way. Nearest good-sized city is Bangor, 40 miles away.

Local telephone service is free because the phone system is maintained by the state for fire and other emergencies.

Outside calls have to be paid for but they can only be made seven months out of the year. This is because the Maine Forest Service station at nearby Lead Mountain handles all outside calls and the station is closed from December to April. And outside calls must be made collect because the Forest Service doesn't care to get involved in bill collecting.

There is no electrical service, so each home is equipped with its own power generating plant.

The high cost of providing good schools plagues most communities but the problem is unknown in Beddington. Only two youngsters live in town. One is 3-year-old Christine Drinkwise, who hasn't started school yet, and the other is her sister, Elizabeth, 17, She attends Cherryfield Academy in another town and is an honor student.

Main source of employment is a saw mill and two restaurants on Route 9, a Bangor-Calais highway.

The first law school in the United States was established by Tapping Reeve, a lawyer from Connecticut, in 1784.

Bill Would Clear Up Clerk Status

The Senate Wednesday passed Sen. Bill 204 sponsored by Sen. George R. Hughes Jr. that clears up a point in the Allegany County Code of Law that pertains to the Circuit Court stenographer.

While Robert Thomas has been stenographer for Garrett and Allegany County Circuit Courts for a number of years, the bill calls for the "appointment of an official court stenographer" for the two counties.

It also provides for the payment of the stenographer by the judges of the Fourth Circuit of which there are five, and also stipulates the amount which may be charged by the stenographer for any copies of court proceedings.

The Senate Wednesday enacted House Bill 280 sponsored by the Garrett delegation that states that the sum of $40 and 80 per cent of all wages over $40 per week shall be exempt from attachment.

The Senate passed House Bill 413 that makes it lawful for certain licensed persons to sell opossum and raccoon in Maryland.

Safety Group To See Film

A film, "The Eagle's Talons," will feature the program at a dinner meeting of the Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society today at 6:30 p.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The film will be shown by Robert E. Creaghan, Baltimore, training officer of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, in connection with a report on an industrial training program, according to Henry A. Johnson, program chairman.

To Hear Biologist

Ventis Blume, forestry biologist at the University of Maryland's Appalachian Research Center in LaVale will speak at a meeting of the Methodist Men of Flintstone Methodist Church Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Hyndman Firemen Plan Fund Drive

HYNDMAN — The Hyndman Volunteer Fire Company has completed plans for a fund-raising campaign. The goal is $2,500.

Coin cards distributed to the area covered by the company will be collected the latter part of April. Proceeds will be used to maintain the firemen's equipment fund.

New officers of the company are Roland Shaffer, president; Lewis Mangus, vice president; Maurice B. Sembower, secretary-treasurer. Directors are J. H. Phillips, H. C. Bingman, C. B. Shaffer and Harry Keller.

Other officials include: Fire chief, Robert Gaster; first assistant chief, Richard Emerick; second assistant chief, J. C. Shaffer; third assistant chief, Adam Budnick; trustees, C. B. Shaffer, J. C. Shaffer and H. C. Bingman.

Jackson Hits School Critics

The president of the Allegany County Board of Education, speaking before the LaVale School Parent-Teacher Association, decried the current tendency to downgrade the U. S. educational system in comparison with Russian and European school education.

But J. Goodloe Jackson said he hoped in the future American students would learn more of their own country at an earlier age.

Jackson spoke on the "Role of Parents and Teachers Together in the Education of Our Youth" at the meeting held last week.

Also on the program were the Musettes, an Allegany High School vocal group with Nancy Beachley as accompanist. Participating in a selection of songs were Margaret Filler, Pamela Fisher, Dawn Shelkley, Carol Dyck, Caroline McIntyre, Shirley Robertson, Beverly Beckman, Susan Hamner and Judy Price.

Mrs. Glenn Coffman gave a resume of the history of the National Parent-Teacher Association in honor of Founder's Day.

Mrs. Robert Wilson reported progress on the purchase of curtains for the auditorium stage.

Mrs. Robert Zimmerla said a skating party will be held by the PTA Monday, March 25, from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Frostburg Armory.

Paper Output

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. production of paper and paperboard in 1962 climbed to about 37.5 million tons, an increase of 2 million tons over 1961, according to American Forest Products Industries. Consumption also increased 2 million tons to 42 million.

South End School Receives Documents

Reproductions of George Washington historical documents on antique parchment were to be presented yesterday to Pennsylvania Avenue School by Joseph Powell, of 516 Woodside Avenue.

Powell said he would give the school library the following documents which he received from the Library of Congress:

Washington's Inaugural Address, his Farewell Address, Letters of 1782 to Col. Nichola, Washington's Oath of Allegiance in 1789 at Valley Forge, his commission by the 1775 Continental Congress as commander-in-chief, and his acceptance of the commission.

Sheep Shearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Expert sheep shearers take less than a minute to remove all the wool, says the National Geographic Magazine. A New Zealander, Godfrey Bowen, holds the world's record for clipping 463 sheep in nine hours.

Republican Women Plan Caravan To Annapolis

A nominating committee was elected and two announcements were made by Mrs. Holmes Cessna at the meeting of the Cumberland Women's Republican Club Wednesday evening in the GOP headquarters, North Liberty Street.

Elected to serve on the nominating committee are Mrs. John Findley, Mrs. Ruthella Fey, Mrs. Lucille Roeder, Mrs. E. J. McAfee and Mrs. Leah Hafer. A president, first and second vice presidents are to be elected in the odd years. The other officers are elected in even years.

Announcement was made of the spring rally to be held by the Republican Women of Maryland at Ocean City. The tentative dates are May 24 and 25.

A letter was received from Mrs. Idela K. Whittle, political education chairman of the Republican Women of Maryland, concerning the "Day in Annapolis" to be held March 13. The group is to arrive in time for lunch. Plans include a short program and visit to either the House of Delegates or State Senate. If a tour of the Executive Mansion is desired, arrangements are to be made with Mrs. J. Millard Tawes. March 11 is the deadline for reservations. Plans were formulated for a "caravan of cars" to go.

The annual May dinner was discussed. It will be the 15th at the Woman's Civic Club house on the regular meeting night. Following the installation of officers an entertainment program will be presented. Mrs. George Barncord was named program chairman; Mrs. Catherine Regan will be in charge of table arrangements and Mrs. Paul Rank, menu.

It was decided to return to the Woman's Civic Club house for the regular March meeting, which will be the 20th. At that time James S. Getty, state's attorney, will be the guest speaker. His topic is to be "The Constitution."

Members also discused having a rummage sale March 27 in the room on the corner of South George and Union streets; and having the local club fiscal year coincide with the state federation.

Kenneth Lowe was guest speaker. His subject was "The Coming Showdown in Cuba."

Social Chart

The Allegany Saddle Club will meet at 8 Monday evening at the Baltimore Pike fire hall. Junior members are requested to attend.

A benefit spaghetti dinner will be held by the Swim Team Booster Club, March 5 from 5 to 7 at the YMCA with Mrs. Glenn Zembower chairman.

The Homemakers Chorus will have rehearsal at 7:30 Monday at the YMCA.

Ladies Order of Owls Nest 2180 will meet tonight at 8 at the Owl home, 121 Harrison Street.

Miss Margaret Flurshutz, deputy grand lecturer will make her official visit to McKinley Chapter, OES tonight at 8, at the temple.

Allegany County Bird Club Discusses Wildlife Sanctuary And Junior Camp

Because of the state meeting for the formal dedication of the wildlife sanctuary in Garrett County, just acquired from Bernard A. Minick, members of the Allegany County Bird Club decided to cancel the adult camp this year.

At the meeting Wednesday evening in the board of education building a committee for the formal dedication weekend, June 7-9, was appointed. It includes Mrs. C. Gordon Taylor, president of the local club, Miss Nan Livingstone, Miss Sara Wright, Mrs. Aden Everstine, John Workmeister, Mrs. Harold Frankhouser, Miss Virginia Neff and Miss Irene Lapp. The ceremony will be June 8.

The 52.3-acre farm, acquired for the sanctuary, was vacated four years ago. It is located in Garrett County and is bounded on the northwest by the old Cary farm, on the northeast by the old Hefner farm, southeast by the Beall School area and John Minick farm, and on the southwest, the Garlitz farm. Approximately 20 acres is covered with second-growth hemlock, maple, beech and oak woods. An apple orchard covers four or five acres and abandoned fields cover the remaining area. Besides several springs and marshy areas on the sanctuary, there is Hefner Run and Carey Run, emptying into the Little Savage River. There is a 76-year-old, two-story white pine house, and farm buildings; five beaver ponds have been completed since September 8, and members reported "deer tracks everywhere," woodchuck holes spotted; ruffed grouse, ringnecked pheasants, several species of sparrows, goldfinches, blue jays, black-capped chickadees, hairy woodpecker, bluebirds, phoebes and a rufous-sided towhee.

Each chapter in the state is to suggest a name for the sanctuary and they will be voted upon at the convention in May at Ocean City.

Junior conservation and nature camp preparations will be discussed at a meeting March 8 at 7:30 at the home of Miss Livingstone, 513 Memorial Avenue. Camp will be held at Pleasant Valley Recreation Center June 17-22, with Miss Livingstone director.

The next meeting of the club

North End Club Plans Dinner

A covered dish dinner and program for March 28 were discussed at the meeting of the North Cumberland Homemakers Club, conducted by Mrs. Catherine Kilroy yesterday in Fairview Avenue Church social hall. A film on cancer will be shown and a "public membership auction" will be held. Each member is to bring a white elephant for it. Mrs. Elwood Stewart is in charge.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer said in unison. The hymn of the month was sung and roll call was answered with favorite valentines received this year. Mrs. Honora Burkey installed Mrs. Kilroy as vice president and Mrs. Mary Alma Margherita, secretary. Mrs. Burky also demonstrated "Hot Breads and Quick Tips," making fancy hot breads from canned biscuits and rolls.

Announcement of a monthly workshop on the second Tuesdays was announced by Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle. Under the direction of Mrs. Burkey, it will be held from 10 until 3 in the social hall beginning March 12. Each is to bring a bag lunch. A display was held of needlework and a chair with wide herringbone caning.

Explaining urban renewal in Cumberland, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, citizenship chairman, that as the 10 year program progresses William F. DeMare will meet with the various clubs, present the planning proposals and explain the meaning of the agency and how it will help the city.

Birthdays of Mrs. John Maureen, Mrs. Margherita, Mrs. Dewey Zimmerman, Mrs. John Reynolds, Mrs. Catherine Welton and Mrs. John Streett were celebrated. Refreshments were served during a social hour and "Yankee Doodle" sung.

St. Lukes Women Elect

A slate of officers and a constitution were accepted at the meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Luke's Church in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Eugene Hilton was elected president; Mrs. Fred Carson, vice president; Mrs. Hugh Young, secretary; and Mrs. Forrest Milleson, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Vernon I. Naugle, education; Mrs. Kermit Andrews, Christian service; and Mrs. Donald Mason, fellowship.

It was voted to meet the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 in the fellowship hall.

Devotions were conducted by Rev. Vernon Naugle. Members of the constitution committee were Mrs. Lee Fresh, Mrs. Hilton, Miss Betty Hammond, Mrs. Henry Kirk, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Mrs. Naugle and Mrs. William Brotemarkle. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Coit Speicher, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Lawrence Grina, Mrs. Paul Hartung and Mrs. Joseph Pellerzi.

Mrs. C. W. McDermott, 850 Gephart Drive, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Tours, Project Discussed By Xi Nu Exemplar, BSP

Projects and programs were discussed at the meeting of the Xi Nu Exemplar, Beta Sigma Phi held Tuesday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. It was decided as a project for the chapter to have a card party, but it was decided to postpone planning it until later. The chapter again will sell knives as during the previous year.

The program chairman announced a visit to Frostburg State College, after a list of games was given, and it was decided to attend the "Showmobile" March 26. It is sponsored by the Second Army. It also was decided to tour Ort's Bakery, March 17 at 7 p. m.

The short business session was conducted by Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Genevieve Twigg and Mrs. Grace Moore. Members were reminded of the Bruise Ball dance sponsored by BSP City Council, which will be held April 20 at the Shrine Club for the benefit of the new Sacred Heart Hospital.

Preceding the meeting Dr. Earl Paul spoke on artificial resuscitator and closed heart massage. A film was shown entitled, "Pulse of Life," followed by a demonstration on the resuscitator with doll, which was donated to the Heart Association by the chapter. Each member then using the doll tried the closed heart massage and mouth to mouth resuscitation.

The next meeting will be March 12 at the home of Miss Joann Hafer, Ellerslie.

Others attending the meeting were Mrs. Dolly Green, Miss Hafer, Mrs. Donna Lambert, Mrs. Sara Rank, Mrs. Florence Snelson, Mrs. Helen Treat, Mrs. Ruth Wood and Mrs. Yvonne Young. Guests for the talk and demonstration were Paul Rank, James Snelson, Jack Twigg and William Lewis.

E. E. Crippen, 467 Goethe Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Girls Discuss Assemblies

Ways to raise funds for members to attend the supreme assembly in Philadelphia, 1964 were discussed at the meeting of Cumberland Assembly 6, Order of Rainbow for Girls, held at the temple. The first will be a bake sale. Sheila Park was named project chairman, assisted by Audy Sharps, Marsha Purucker, Linda Fearnow and Shirley Strachan.

Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach spoke of the grand assembly to be held here April 5, 6 and 7.

Announcement was made of the choir practice to be held March 16 from 11:30 to 1:30. The girls are to bring a packed lunch. Teryl Chaney announced an officers' practice at 5 p.m. March 7 and one March 9. The roster of members and their phone numbers were given to the telephone committee. An invitation was received for the reception of grand officers by Waverly Assembly. Substituting for Faith, Margaret Ellen Filler was presented and honored in the "east."

Day Of Prayer To Be Observed

Calvary Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren churches will observe the World Day of Prayer in the United Brethren Church at Ridgeley, tonight at 7:30.

The speaker will be Mrs. Evelyn Baker.

A prayer vigil from 1 until 6 p.m. will be held in Calvary Methodist Church.

A nominating committee was elected and two announcements were made by Mrs. Holmes Cessna at the meeting of the Cumberland Women's Republican Club Wednesday evening in the GOP headquarters, North Liberty Street.

Elected to serve on the nominating committee are Mrs. John Findley, Mrs. Ruthella Fey, Mrs. Lucille Roeder, Mrs. E. J. McAfee and Mrs. Leah Hafer. A president, first and second vice presidents are to be elected in the odd years. The other officers are elected in even years.

Announcement was made of the spring rally to be held by the Republican Women of Maryland at Ocean City. The tentative dates are May 24 and 25.

A letter was received from Mrs. Idela K. Whittle, political education chairman of the Republican Women of Maryland, concerning the "Day in Annapolis" to be held March 13. The group is to arrive in time for lunch. Plans include a short program and visit to either the House of Delegates or State Senate. If a tour of the Executive Mansion is desired, arrangements are to be made with Mrs. J. Millard Tawes. March 11 is the deadline for reservations. Plans were formulated for a "caravan of cars" to go.

The annual May dinner was discussed. It will be the 15th at the Woman's Civic Club house on the regular meeting night. Following the installation of officers an entertainment program will be presented. Mrs. George Barncord was named program chairman; Mrs. Catherine Regan will be in charge of table arrangements and Mrs. Paul Rank, menu.

It was decided to return to the Woman's Civic Club house for the regular March meeting, which will be the 20th. At that time James S. Getty, state's attorney, will be the guest speaker. His topic is to be "The Constitution."

Members also discused having a rummage sale March 27 in the room on the corner of South George and Union streets; and having the local club fiscal year coincide with the state federation.

Kenneth Lowe was guest speaker. His subject was "The Coming Showdown in Cuba."

Allegany County Bird Club Discusses Wildlife Sanctuary And Junior Camp

Because of the state meeting for the formal dedication of the wildlife sanctuary in Garrett County, just acquired from Bernard A. Minick, members of the Allegany County Bird Club decided to cancel the adult camp this year.

At the meeting Wednesday evening in the board of education building a committee for the formal dedication weekend, June 7-9, was appointed. It includes Mrs. C. Gordon Taylor, president of the local club, Miss Nan Livingstone, Miss Sara Wright, Mrs. Aden Everstine, John Workmeister, Mrs. Harold Frankhouser, Miss Virginia Neff and Miss Irene Lapp. The ceremony will be June 8.

The 52.3-acre farm, acquired for the sanctuary, was vacated four years ago. It is located in Garrett County and is bounded on the northwest by the old Cary farm, on the northeast by the old Hefner farm, southeast by the Beall School area and John Minick farm, and on the southwest, the Garlitz farm. Approximately 20 acres is covered with second-growth hemlock, maple, beech and oak woods. An apple orchard covers four or five acres and abandoned fields cover the remaining area. Besides several springs and marshy areas on the sanctuary, there is Hefner Run and Carey Run, emptying into the Little Savage River. There is a 76-year-old, two-story white pine house, and farm buildings; five beaver ponds have been completed since September 8, and members reported "deer tracks everywhere," woodchuck holes spotted; ruffed grouse, ringnecked pheasants, several species of sparrows, goldfinches, blue jays, black-capped chickadees, hairy woodpecker, bluebirds, phoebes and a rufous-sided towhee.

Each chapter in the state is to suggest a name for the sanctuary and they will be voted upon at the convention in May at Ocean City.

Junior conservation and nature camp preparations will be discussed at a meeting March 8 at 7:30 at the home of Miss Livingstone, 513 Memorial Avenue. Camp will be held at Pleasant Valley Recreation Center June 17-22, with Miss Livingstone director.

North End Club Plans Dinner

A covered dish dinner and program for March 28 were discussed at the meeting of the North Cumberland Homemakers Club, conducted by Mrs. Catherine Kilroy yesterday in Fairview Avenue Church social hall. A film on cancer will be shown and a "public membership auction" will be held. Each member is to bring a white elephant for it. Mrs. Elwood Stewart is in charge.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer said in unison. The hymn of the month was sung and roll call was answered with favorite valentines received this year. Mrs. Honora Burkey installed Mrs. Kilroy as vice president and Mrs. Mary Alma Margherita, secretary. Mrs. Burky also demonstrated "Hot Breads and Quick Tips," making fancy hot breads from canned biscuits and rolls.

Announcement of a monthly workshop on the second Tuesdays was announced by Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle. Under the direction of Mrs. Burkey, it will be held from 10 until 3 in the social hall beginning March 12. Each is to bring a bag lunch. A display was held of needlework and a chair with wide herringbone caning.

Explaining urban renewal in Cumberland, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, citizenship chairman, that as the 10 year program progresses William F. DeMare will meet with the various clubs, present the planning proposals and explain the meaning of the agency and how it will help the city.

Birthdays of Mrs. John Maureen, Mrs. Margherita, Mrs. Dewey Zimmerman, Mrs. John Reynolds, Mrs. Catherine Welton and Mrs. John Streett were celebrated. Refreshments were served during a social hour and "Yankee Doodle" sung.

Tours, Project Discussed By Xi Nu Exemplar, BSP

Projects and programs were discussed at the meeting of the Xi Nu Exemplar, Beta Sigma Phi held Tuesday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. It was decided as a project for the chapter to have a card party, but it was decided to postpone planning it until later. The chapter again will sell knives as during the previous year.

The program chairman announced a visit to Frostburg State College, after a list of games was given, and it was decided to attend the "Showmobile" March 26. It is sponsored by the Second Army. It also was decided to tour Ort's Bakery, March 17 at 7 p. m.

The short business session was conducted by Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Genevieve Twigg and Mrs. Grace Moore. Members were reminded of the Bruise Ball dance sponsored by BSP City Council, which will be held April 20 at the Shrine Club for the benefit of the new Sacred Heart Hospital.

Preceding the meeting Dr. Earl Paul spoke on artificial resuscitator and closed heart massage. A film was shown entitled, "Pulse of Life," followed by a demonstration on the resuscitator with doll, which was donated to the Heart Association by the chapter. Each member then using the doll tried the closed heart massage and mouth to mouth resuscitation.

The next meeting will be March 12 at the home of Miss Joann Hafer, Ellerslie.

Others attending the meeting were Mrs. Dolly Green, Miss Hafer, Mrs. Donna Lambert, Mrs. Sara Rank, Mrs. Florence Snelson, Mrs. Helen Treat, Mrs. Ruth Wood and Mrs. Yvonne Young. Guests for the talk and demonstration were Paul Rank, James Snelson, Jack Twigg and William Lewis.

E. E. Crippen, 467 Goethe Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Girls Discuss Assemblies

Ways to raise funds for members to attend the supreme assembly in Philadelphia, 1964 were discussed at the meeting of Cumberland Assembly 6, Order of Rainbow for Girls, held at the temple. The first will be a bake sale. Sheila Park was named project chairman, assisted by Audy Sharps, Marsha Purucker, Linda Fearnow and Shirley Strachan.

Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach spoke of the grand assembly to be held here April 5, 6 and 7.

Announcement was made of the choir practice to be held March 16 from 11:30 to 1:30. The girls are to bring a packed lunch. Teryl Chaney announced an officers' practice at 5 p.m. March 7 and one March 9. The roster of members and their phone numbers were given to the telephone committee. An invitation was received for the reception of grand officers by Waverly Assembly. Substituting for Faith, Margaret Ellen Filler was presented and honored in the "east."

Day Of Prayer To Be Observed

Calvary Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren churches will observe the World Day of Prayer in the United Brethren Church at Ridgeley, tonight at 7:30.

The speaker will be Mrs. Evelyn Baker.

A prayer vigil from 1 until 6 p.m. will be held in Calvary Methodist Church.

St. Lukes Women Elect

A slate of officers and a constitution were accepted at the meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Luke's Church in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Eugene Hilton was elected president; Mrs. Fred Carson, vice president; Mrs. Hugh Young, secretary; and Mrs. Forrest Milleson, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Vernon I. Naugle, education; Mrs. Kermit Andrews, Christian service; and Mrs. Donald Mason, fellowship.

It was voted to meet the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 in the fellowship hall.

Devotions were conducted by Rev. Vernon Naugle. Members of the constitution committee were Mrs. Lee Fresh, Mrs. Hilton, Miss Betty Hammond, Mrs. Henry Kirk, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Mrs. Naugle and Mrs. William Brotemarkle. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Coit Speicher, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Lawrence Grina, Mrs. Paul Hartung and Mrs. Joseph Pellerzi.

Mrs. C. W. McDermott, 850 Gephart Drive, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

C&P To Build Service Center In Mapleside

Bids will be opened Tuesday at 2 p. m. in Baltimore by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for the construction of a new service center in Mapleside.

The structure will replace the present one located at 121 West Elder Street and will be used for storage and maintenance of vehicles and also for housing supplies.

A long car port will have space for 64 vehicles and Richard Dayton, district manager, pointed out that the utility has 60 trucks busy in the repair of the communications system and also for new construction.

The supply quarters will contain cable wires and fixtures and adjacent to it will be a pole yard.

The architect is J. Prentiss Browne, 2435 North Calvert Street, Baltimore.

Invited bidders are Steiner Construction Company Inc., Baltimore; George Construction Company, George F. Hazelwood Company; John I. Vandegrift Company, Carl Belt Inc., all of Cumberland, and Kirby and McGuire Inc., Baltimore.

The C&P is in the process of constructing a three-story addition to its Cumberland exchange.

Plenty Pedaling

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americas' 55 million cyclists pedal more than 7 billion miles a year, about 240,000 times around the earth, according to the Bicycle Institute of America, Inc.

First tin plate in the United States was turned out in a copper works in Pittsburgh more than 100 years ago.

Many Groups Reached Goal In CUF

A complete list of employe groups in the Cumberland area which met their goals or increased their participation in the 1962 County United Fund campaign, thereby qualifying for group giving awards, has been announced by 1962 chairman Alvin H. Wilson.

Forty-two groups attained fourth-year recognition. They are Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Charity Fund; Amcelle Employes' Charity Fund, A&P Supermarket (Greene Street); Arbee Club (Rosenbaum's); Bachman Transfer and Storage; Baer Brothers, B&O Railroad Employes' CUF; Commercial Press, Community Baking Company, Crystal Laundry, Cumberland Contracting Company, Cumberland Office Supply, Cumberland Steel Company, Employes' charity funds of Liberty Trust Company, Memorial Hospital and Times and Alleganian Company.

Also Employes' United We Give of Sacred Heart Hospital, First Federal Savings and Loan, First National Bank and Trust, Footer's Cleaners, Goss Contracting, Howard E. Douglass, Kelly-Springfield Employes' Charity Fund, R. H. Lapp and Sons, Liberty Milk, S. T. Bill Sought On Fire Tax Bill For LaVale

A bill calling for a referendum on a fire tax for LaVale will be introduced by four of the six Allegany County delegates.

Del. Charles M. See, delegation chairman, said the measure will not be a delegation bill but will be signed by four delegates.

Del. See said he will not be one of the signers. The other name of the other delegate against the bill was not divulged.

Introduction of the bill is being held up until the attorney for the fire company sets the date that the firemen want the referendum held.

Several years ago, the volunteer unit had a similar bill sponsored and in the resulting vote the fire tax was turned down by the residents.

At that time, only about 600 of the 2,220 persons eligible to vote went to the polls.

Petitions have been circulated by the firemen in the community and over 900 names have been obtained supporting the fire tax.

The proposed bill calls for a tax of up to ten cents on $100 of assessed valuation of property.

However, the firemen report that under the company's present budget only three cents per $100 would have to be used.

The person having a house assessed at $5,000 would have to pay only $1.50 fire tax.

The firemen claim the tax would be the only equitable way to furnish fire protection and support the company.

Europeans Casually Friendly Toward U. S.

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—Some West Europeans call Americans saints, others condemn them as sinners but most are indifferent, in a friendly way.

The relationship of West Europeans and Americans has evolved into a state of tolerance, almost a feeling of equality, in the 17 years since World War II.

Immediately after the war the conquering American was king—admired, courted, envied.

A lot of the admiration rubbed off during the postwar occupation because of the involvement of American troops in blackmarketing, money-dealing and womanizing among the rubble of devastated Europe.

Now West Europe is back on its feet and merging into an economic unit that will be a powerful rival to the United States.

Most West Europeans no longer feel that they are dependent on the rich uncle from the states whose favor must be courted. The American is just another citizen who will get the same welcome as anyone else—if his behavior merits it.

This does not mean there is a common European attitude toward Americans. European unity has not advanced far enough for there to be a common opinion on anything.

In a tour of American bases from front-line Berlin to the sunny shores of Spain, I found local feelings about Americans ranged from hero's worship through polite indifference to Communist-inspired hatred.

In West Berlin the American soldier is regarded as a hero, a knight in shining armor protecting the city from being gobbled up by communism. In the East sector of the city the controlled press keeps up a barrage of abuse and delights in printing any derogatory story it can dredge up from German cities where Americans are stationed.

In the poverty-ridden Spanish villages in the Don Quixote country around the U.S. radar station at Villatobas the children call Capt. W. B. (Bill) Adams "the black saint," because of his charitable activities.

The nearer you are to the reality of the Communist menace, the friendlier people are toward the protecting American troops. The nearer you are to the poverty line in southern Italy and Spain the more appreciative are the people of characteristic American generosity.

It's the affluent and privileged Europeans who are likely to be most cool.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

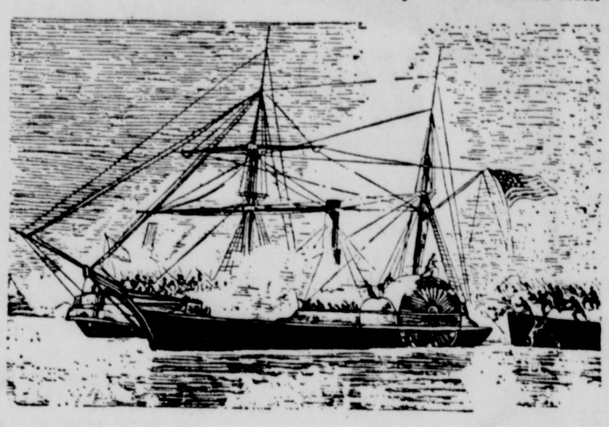

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 256 Maj. Gen. John B. Magruder had planned masterfully, and his plans worked. At 2 a. m., Jan. 1, 1863, when it was expected many of the Union defenders of Galveston would be sleeping off the effects of New Year celebrating, a ground force struck at the wharf where the most Union troops were quartered. The operation was covered by barrages from 14 field cannon, six siege guns, and a captured 8-inch Dahlgren gun mounted on a railway car.

While this attack ashore was creating havoc among the Federal infantry, two Confederate steamers, the Neptune and Bayou City, carrying other troops behind cotton bale bulwarks, moved against U.S.S. Harriet Lane, U.S.S. Westfield and other Union ships in the harbor. The Harriet Lane, the only U. S. Navy vessel named for a living woman (niece of ex-President James Buchanan), was rammed and captured; the Westfield was forced on a shoal, where Comdr. William B. Renshaw had his crew set it afire to keep the ship out of Rebel hands.

The effect of the double attack was to return Galveston to the Rebels, from whom this important Texas port had been wrested in October 1862 by a Union naval expedition under Commander Renshaw.

When a Confederate major, Albert M. Lea, boarded the captured Harriet Lane, he found his son, Edward, fatally wounded. Edward had been second in command of the ship. The captain, Jonathan M. Wainwright, also was a casualty. The bodies of young Lea and Capt. Wainwright were taken ashore and buried with full military honors. Major Lea read the burial service.

Two of the Union ships that escaped from Galveston that day, the Sachem and Clifton, were captured by Confederates later in the Union attempt to penetrate Sabine Pass, Tex. That was the occasion when Dick Dowling's Rebel battery, in a mud fort with six guns, held off 21 Union ships.

Public Education Has Growing Pains

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public education, one of the nation's biggest and fastest booming activities, is suffering from growing pains.

A statistics-packed report issued Thursday by the National Education Association says there were 46,382,261 school-age youngsters in the United States last July 1, and 40,007,912 actually enrolled in public schools this year.

Public school enrollments have jumped a whopping 44.6 per cent since the 1952-53 school year.

The school-age population, 5 to 17, represents one of every four Americans. Altogether, 36 per cent of the nation's total population is 17 or under.

These youngsters attend elementary or secondary school an average of 178 days a year, ranging from 182.1 days in Missouri to 169.2 days in Kentucky.

The NEA report, "Rankings of the States," did not attempt in its 90 different charts to rank the states on educational quality. It posted some direction signs, however.

It showed, for instance, that Utah has the highest average education and tied for the lowest percentage of Selective Service registrants failing the mental test. South Carolina tied for the lowest average education, and led in mental test failures.

In the median number of school years completed by residents aged 25 or over, Utah had the high mark of 12.2 years, only slightly better than Alaska, California, Colorado, Nevada and Washington, each with 12.1 years.

Kentucky and South Carolina were at the bottom of this list, showing a median of 8.7 years.

The report showed that New York state with $645 leads the nation in money spent on current expenditures for each pupil in average daily attendance in elementary and secondary schools.

Mississippi, with $230, is ranked 50th and last in this category.

India Asks For Air Force Missile

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— India has asked the United States and Britain for air-to-air missiles to strengthen its air force against any aerial attack from Red China, authoritative sources said today.

They said Western military experts here took the request under study and that there has been no decision on the type of missiles the Indians would get.

The Red Chinese are estimated to have 1,800 combat planes, including Soviet MIG19 interceptors and IL28 jet bombers.

The Netherlands originally were cities and provinces of present Holland and Belgium, ruled by Burgundy, Austrian Hapsburgs and Spain.

The national salute in the United States is 21 guns. It is also the salute to the national flag.

Peter Ustinov's "Photo Finish" Provides Season's Coup De Grace At Brooks Atkinson Theatre New York

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Broadway's latest hit is a play by and with Peter Ustinov, who is as English as his last name is Russian.

His "Photo Finish" at the Brooks Atkinson Theater seems to provide the coup de grace in the British conquest of the New York season that has progressed steadily with the arrivals of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off," "Beyond the Fringe," "Oliver!", "The School for Scandal" and "The Hollow Crown."

"Photo Finish" is a gem. In all-round terms, it is the most appealing play Ustinov has written. It is also the wittiest, the funniest, the cleverest and the most penetrating.

The play easily might have wound up as simply a sort of theatrical stunt.

But Ustinov has avoided this. His study of "the human condition," as he calls it, if you get time to think about it between laughs, is as profound as any of the less ebullient dramas of the moment that have received the okay of the so-called intellectual element.

He is, undoubtedly, the wittiest English-language dramatist of the day. And, thank goodness, not afraid to be a genuinely theatrical actor.

"Photo Finish" finds the 41-year-old star playing an 80-year-old book author of considerable success who is finishing his autobiography while in a semi-invalid state. In his mind he sees himself as he was at various ages—20 and 40 and 60.

Actors John Horton, Donald Davis and Dennis King play the man at those ages, respectively. They appear singly with the author and collectively, as they argue over events of the past. In essence, it is the flashback technique but a most unorthodox use of same.

Complicating this review of the past is the father of the author at an age some 20 years younger than that of the son. And you'll never forget Paul Rogers, one of England's finest actors who is too little known here, in the role of the father. His major work is in the second of the three acts, and it is a most memorable act.

Then there is the author's wife, a woman he married when he was 21 and whom he never really loved. This character is shown at about 19, in her late 30s and as an old woman. Eileen Herlie, a jewel of an actress, plays them all. Magnificent! But then, she always is.

The son of the couple, with Horton doubling in the role, appears in the last act, and there are two mistresses for the different periods, both played by Jessica Walter. Cynthia Latham and Paddy Edwards round out the cast as the author's mother and the fiancee of his son, respectively.

If all this sounds complicated in the telling, it is not so in performance. The skill of the writing and the direction, which Ustinov shared with Nicholas Garland, insures against a confused moment or a tedious one.

Peter Ustinov's "Photo Finish" Provides Season's Coup De Grace At Brooks Atkinson Theatre New York

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Broadway's latest hit is a play by and with Peter Ustinov, who is as English as his last name is Russian.

His "Photo Finish" at the Brooks Atkinson Theater seems to provide the coup de grace in the British conquest of the New York season that has progressed steadily with the arrivals of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off," "Beyond the Fringe," "Oliver!", "The School for Scandal" and "The Hollow Crown."

"Photo Finish" is a gem. In all-round terms, it is the most appealing play Ustinov has written. It is also the wittiest, the funniest, the cleverest and the most penetrating.

The play easily might have wound up as simply a sort of theatrical stunt.

But Ustinov has avoided this. His study of "the human condition," as he calls it, if you get time to think about it between laughs, is as profound as any of the less ebullient dramas of the moment that have received the okay of the so-called intellectual element.

He is, undoubtedly, the wittiest English-language dramatist of the day. And, thank goodness, not afraid to be a genuinely theatrical actor.

"Photo Finish" finds the 41-year-old star playing an 80-year-old book author of considerable success who is finishing his autobiography while in a semi-invalid state. In his mind he sees himself as he was at various ages—20 and 40 and 60.

Actors John Horton, Donald Davis and Dennis King play the man at those ages, respectively. They appear singly with the author and collectively, as they argue over events of the past. In essence, it is the flashback technique but a most unorthodox use of same.

Complicating this review of the past is the father of the author at an age some 20 years younger than that of the son. And you'll never forget Paul Rogers, one of England's finest actors who is too little known here, in the role of the father. His major work is in the second of the three acts, and it is a most memorable act.

Then there is the author's wife, a woman he married when he was 21 and whom he never really loved. This character is shown at about 19, in her late 30s and as an old woman. Eileen Herlie, a jewel of an actress, plays them all. Magnificent! But then, she always is.

The son of the couple, with Horton doubling in the role, appears in the last act, and there are two mistresses for the different periods, both played by Jessica Walter. Cynthia Latham and Paddy Edwards round out the cast as the author's mother and the fiancee of his son, respectively.

If all this sounds complicated in the telling, it is not so in performance. The skill of the writing and the direction, which Ustinov shared with Nicholas Garland, insures against a confused moment or a tedious one.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A cable from London brings word that Richard Burton's countrymen view his considerable talents as distinct and separate from the sensational headlines he's been making with Elizabeth Taylor, with whom he is currently co-starring in "Very Important Persons."

In fact, Liz was with Burton a few nights ago when he attended a meeting of St. David's Theatre Trust at the home of Lord Devon, to set plans for a Welsh national theatre in Cardiff. Burton was named as one of the first directors who will stage plays there with other recognized talents such as Emlyn Williams and Hugh Griffith. The theatre will be built on two acres of land near Cardiff Castle in Wales.

Richard Harris, the British actor who feuded with Marlon Brando through "Mutiny on the Bounty" and was "excused" from the cast, is both happy and unhappy over current events.

He's laid up from injuries suffered in an auto crash and is just out of the hospital after two weeks. But poor Richard also has some consoling news: His wife, the daughter of Lord Ogmore, is expecting their third child.

As the Harrises already have two children they are moving into a new Victorian home of 14 rooms in London. And, oh yes, the movie he made with Rachel Roberts (Mrs. Rex Harrison) is Britain's entry this year in the Cannes Film Festival.

With everyone raving about "How the West Was Won"—and "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm" still doing good business, Cinerama officials are quickening interest in a new project. The two leading possibilities are "Charlemagne," and a modern version of "Trader Horn." The latter was made 31 years ago—before it was a popular thing to film motion pictures in Africa.

Edwina Booth, who starred in "Trader Horn," contractes some sort of fever and never fully recovered. Cinerama, as "How the West War Won" has proved, can be very interesting in movies like "Charlemagne" and "Trader Horn."

Anita Ekberg and Rod Taylor are no longer on fire romantically, but they haven't chilled to the point where they aren't friends—at least friendly enough to consider appearing in the same movie and doing their love making on the screen.

Ray Starke wants Rod and Anita for "Latitude 35," Alec Coppel's story of a treasure hunter and a sea captain's daughter, which would be a joint venture of Rod's own independent company, Starke's Seven Arts Co., and an MGM release.

Anita, who prefers working in Europe, would have to come back to Hollywood for this one.

Wait until Ethel Kennedy, the Washington hostess whose guests are most likely to wind up in the swimming pool, hears this!

The "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed," company at Paramount is moving over to the Beverly Hills Hotel this week to shoot a poolside party. It's for the sequence following the wedding of Elizabeth Montgomery in the picture.

And Dean Martin has the fun of pushing the entire cast, including Liz, Carol Burnett, Jill St. John and the others into the pool!

First it was Vincent Price, then Peter Lorre, and now Boris Karloff, who was signed by Samuel Z. Arkoff and James H. Nicholson on a long-term multiple picture deal.

Boris, who is guaranteed to scare children and grownups, as well, has a deal which bars the veteran terror star from doing any outside motion pictures dealing with any horror, science-fiction, macabre comedy or Edgar Allen Poe subjects. The restrictions on the Poe material also extends to television.

Bridge, at times, can be just as exasperating to those who teach and write about the game as it no doubt is to those trying earnestly to digest and master the rules and principles that have been expounded to them. It appears that, just when a particular dictum is finally getting across, along comes a situation where the student is urged to violate the very doctrine he has been trying to absorb. Today's hand presents just such a case, and we are inclined to offer it to the reader purely for its entertainment value.

This hand came up in a recent team of four match and both North-South pairs arrived at their three no trump contract on an identical sequence of bids. A small heart was led at both tables, and both declarers overtook the dummy's queen with the king in order to lead the ten of diamonds at the second trick. The finesse lost to the queen in each case, but here the respective Easts diverged from the pattern.

One East switched to the queen of spades, the top of his complete sequence. South played low and, when the queen held, back came the jack. Declarer went into an agonizing huddle and finally ducked again. West was obliged to win the trick with his ace and, tho East got in again with the ace of diamonds, that was the end of the defensive boom. South made his contract.

At the other table, East also shifted to a spade at trick three. However, he led back his fourth best, the deuce. Declarer played small and West was obliged to win the trick with his ace. A spade was returned and East's ten forced out the king. Now, when East got in with the ace of diamonds, he was able to cash two more spade tricks and set the contract.

Perhaps it would not be considered remiss on our part to point out that East's lead of the low spade is designed to cover those cases where his partner has either a doubleton ace or a doubleton king. The play of the queen in both instances may result in the blocking of the suit.

Cribbager

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds against a cribbage player being dealt a perfect hand are 216,579 to 1, according to Card Commentary, but B. F. Banta, of Sunnymead, Calif., knows the thrill of holding such a hand. Banta came up with his 29-point masterpiece: a jack and three fives with a five turned up.

Fair Housing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Housing Bureau of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair already has signed agreements with 350 establishments with nearly 100,000 rooms—practically every transient hotel and motel in New York City and its environs—to insure Fair visitors a wide choice of housing in all price ranges.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As one of the first editors in America to print your column I have more than a casual interest in it. As a parent I have cheered when I felt your counsel was good. Today I thought your counsel was not good. I refer to your approving of boys helping Mom in the kitchen.

As I see it the central issue is should a boy do male work — carrying out the trash, mowing the lawn, shoveling the snow, and so on? Or should he do female work, such as drying the dishes?

Togetherness has been carried to extremes and with disastrous results. Years ago the situation was equally bad with the all-powerful male and the meek female. But the pendulum has swung too far in the opposite direction. If you start boys out in the kitchen they will forever be mama's boys and yes-men to women.

You may think I'm nuts but I wouldn't dream of letting our Johnny help with the dishes, except in an emergency.

—C. W.

DEAR EDITOR: Today work knows no gender. During World War II when America was engaged in a production race for survival, women proved that when there is a job to be done it doesn't make any difference who does it.

A boy in the kitchen needn't be a yes man or a mama's boy. He can be a useful member of the family whose willing hands are making lighter work for his mother.

Your statement that you wouldn't dream of letting your Johnny help with the dishes — "except in an emergency" — helps to make my point. If Johnny is kept out of the kitchen to protect his maleness, he'd be useless in an emergency.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 16. I see by your column that you are not in favor of teenagers holding hands in church. I happen to think holding hands in church is a very good idea, so long as you don't forget why you are in church.

Today I read an article in our newspaper which proves that a certain minister in England is on my side. Apparently a couple of clergymen in London are having a hassle about this subject.

One minister said, "It is a good and natural thing for young people to bring their friendships into God's presence."

What do you have to say now, Ann Landers?—DENNIS

DEAR DENNIS: I say you're a pretty sharp cookie. But I also read the article in my newspaper and this is what the OTHER clergyman had to say:

"I do not approve of too much familiarity among teenagers in church. The way some of them hold hands and flirt back and forth I should not be surprised one day to see them necking in the back pew."

Thank you for writing, Dennis. I hope you will remember why you are in church. And if you keep your Bible-holdin' hands to yourself, Bub, it will be a lot easier.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That college fellow who is in a state of depression because he doesn't have a beard, ought to get down on his knees and thank the Lord for his soft, beardless face.

After the first couple of years of marriage my face began to break out in a rash. I tried staying away from certain foods, I changed from a down pillow to a foam rubber pillow. I bought skin lotions and creams. Nothing seemed to help.

Finally, I went to a skin specialist. He matter-of-factly said, "This looks like an irritated condition caused by a man's beard." Well, he was right. My husband's beard has gotten tougher with the passing of time and he was scratching me to pieces.

There's no cure for it. The only alternative is to keep away from him — and I don't want to do that. — MRS. SCAR FACE

DEAR MRS.: Thanks for your story. I hope it will make baby-face feel better.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems: Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Join Local Naval Reserve

Lieutenant Commander A. W. Tiedemann Jr., commanding officer of U. S. Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 (L), McKaig's Hill, has announced the enlistment of James H. Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Conner, RFD 1, Box 75, Hyndman, Pa., and James W. Swann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Swann, 125 McKinley Street, Westernport.

Conner is a junior at Hyndman High School and Swann is a junior at Bruce High School in Westernport.

Both young men have begun a training program in military and professional subjects in preparation for promotions at the end of six months and one year. While learning at the local training center, they receive regular pay, earn retirement points, meet their military obligations, hold deferments from active duty as long as they are in high school or college and have the opportunity to serve their country as ready reservists of the nation's first line of defense.

Lt. Cmdr. Tiedemann also announced the return of four men to the local division, three from tours of active duty and one from inactive status.

Returning from active duty were John T. Lease Jr., FN, of Barton; Walter H. Waugaman Jr., AQ 2, 117 Harrison Street, and Clarence E. Murray Jr., RD 2, of Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley. Coming back to active status locally is Thomas S. Davidson, CT 2, RD 5, Box 351, Cumberland.

These four men will be assigned to administrative and instructional duties in the unit, where their experience will be applied to the training of the younger men. Simultaneously, they will continue it study for their own advancement with the assistance of their officers.

Opening lead: Four of ♡

Bridge, at times, can be just as exasperating to those who teach and write about the game as it no doubt is to those trying earnestly to digest and master the rules and principles that have been expounded to them. It appears that, just when a particular dictum is finally getting across, along comes a situation where the student is urged to violate the very doctrine he has been trying to absorb. Today's hand presents just such a case, and we are inclined to offer it to the reader purely for its entertainment value.

This hand came up in a recent team of four match and both North-South pairs arrived at their three no trump contract on an identical sequence of bids. A small heart was led at both tables, and both declarers overtook the dummy's queen with the king in order to lead the ten of diamonds at the second trick. The finesse lost to the queen in each case, but here the respective Easts diverged from the pattern.

One East switched to the queen of spades, the top of his complete sequence. South played low and, when the queen held, back came the jack. Declarer went into an agonizing huddle and finally ducked again. West was obliged to win the trick with his ace and, tho East got in again with the ace of diamonds, that was the end of the defensive boom. South made his contract.

At the other table, East also shifted to a spade at trick three. However, he led back his fourth best, the deuce. Declarer played small and West was obliged to win the trick with his ace. A spade was returned and East's ten forced out the king. Now, when East got in with the ace of diamonds, he was able to cash two more spade tricks and set the contract.

Perhaps it would not be considered remiss on our part to point out that East's lead of the low spade is designed to cover those cases where his partner has either a doubleton ace or a doubleton king. The play of the queen in both instances may result in the blocking of the suit.

Cribbager

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds against a cribbage player being dealt a perfect hand are 216,379 to 1, according to Card Commentary, but B. F. Banta, of Sunnymead, Calif., knows the thrill of holding such a hand. Banta came up with his 29-point masterpiece: a jack and three fives with a five turned up.

Fair Housing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Housing Bureau of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair already has signed agreements with 350 establishments with nearly 100,000 rooms—practically every transient hotel and motel in New York City and its environs—to insure Fair visitors a wide choice of housing in all price ranges.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As one of the first editors in America to print your column I have more than a casual interest in it. As a parent I have cheered when I felt your counsel was good. Today I thought your counsel was not good. I refer to your approving of boys helping Mom in the kitchen.

As I see it the central issue is should a boy do male work — carrying out the trash, mowing the lawn, shoveling the snow, and so on? Or should he do female work, such as drying the dishes?

Togetherness has been carried to extremes and with disastrous results. Years ago the situation was equally bad with the all-powerful male and the meek female. But the pendulum has swung too far in the opposite direction. If you start boys out in the kitchen they will forever be mama's boys and yes-men to women.

You may think I'm nuts but I wouldn't dream of letting our Johnny help with the dishes, except in an emergency.

—C. W.

DEAR EDITOR: Today work knows no gender. During World War II when America was engaged in a production race for survival, women proved that when there is a job to be done it doesn't make any difference who does it.

A boy in the kitchen needn't be a yes man or a mama's boy. He can be a useful member of the family whose willing hands are making lighter work for his mother.

Your statement that you wouldn't dream of letting your Johnny help with the dishes — "except in an emergency" — helps to make my point. If Johnny is kept out of the kitchen to protect his maleness, he'd be useless in an emergency.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 16. I see by your column that you are not in favor of teenagers holding hands in church. I happen to think holding hands in church is a very good idea, so long as you don't forget why you are in church.

Today I read an article in our newspaper which proves that a certain minister in England is on my side. Apparently a couple of clergymen in London are having a hassle about this subject.

One minister said, "It is a good and natural thing for young people to bring their friendships into God's presence."

What do you have to say now, Ann Landers?—DENNIS

DEAR DENNIS: I say you're a pretty sharp cookie. But I also read the article in my newspaper and this is what the OTHER clergyman had to say:

"I do not approve of too much familiarity among teenagers in church. The way some of them hold hands and flirt back and forth I should not be surprised one day to see them necking in the back pew."

Thank you for writing, Dennis. I hope you will remember why you are in church. And if you keep your Bible-holdin' hands to yourself, Bub, it will be a lot easier.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That college fellow who is in a state of depression because he doesn't have a beard, ought to get down on his knees and thank the Lord for his soft, beardless face.

After the first couple of years of marriage my face began to break out in a rash. I tried staying away from certain foods, I changed from a down pillow to a foam rubber pillow. I bought skin lotions and creams. Nothing seemed to help.

Finally, I went to a skin specialist. He matter-of-factly said, "This looks like an irritated condition caused by a man's beard." Well, he was right. My husband's beard has gotten tougher with the passing of time and he was scratching me to pieces.

There's no cure for it. The only alternative is to keep away from him — and I don't want to do that. — MRS. SCAR FACE

DEAR MRS.: Thanks for your story. I hope it will make babyface feel better.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems; Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Join Local Naval Reserve

Lieutenant Commander A. W. Tiedemann Jr., commanding officer of U. S. Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 (L), McKaig's Hill, has announced the enlistment of James H. Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Conner, RFD 1, Box 75, Hyndman, Pa., and James W. Swann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Swann, 125 McKinley Street, Westernport.

Conner is a junior at Hyndman High School and Swann is a junior at Bruce High School in Westernport.

Both young men have begun a training program in military and professional subjects in preparation for promotions at the end of six months and one year. While learning at the local training center, they receive regular pay, earn retirement points, meet their military obligations, hold deferments from active duty as long as they are in high school or college and have the opportunity to serve their country as ready reservists of the nation's first line of defense.

Lt. Cmdr. Tiedemann also announced the return of four men to the local division, three from tours of active duty and one from inactive status.

Returning from active duty were John T. Lease Jr., FN, of Barton; Walter H. Waugaman Jr., AQ 2, 117 Harrison Street, and Clarence E. Murray Jr., RD 2, of Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley. Coming back to active status locally is Thomas S. Davidson, CT 2, RD 5, Box 351, Cumberland.

These four men will be assigned to administrative and instructional duties in the unit, where their experience will be applied to the training of the younger men. Simultaneously, they will continue it study for their own advancement with the assistance of their officers.

Four Area Youths Enlist In Navy

Four area men entered the regular Navy this month, according to Chief Elmo Bollman and TM1 Jack Davis, local recruiters.

Two are first enlistments. They are James A. Huster, 17, Mt. Savage, and Warren R. Lancaster, 18, Frostburg. Both youths are undergoing basic training at Navy Recruit Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. This will be followed by a 14-day leave before reporting to their station.

Reenlisting were Patrick F. Lynch, radarman second class, Frostburg, and Dale Roy Davis, shipfitter third class, Ridgeley. Lynch enlisted for four years and was sent to Radarman Technical School, San Francisco. Davis reenlisted for six years and is currently on leave awaiting orders.

Mother's the model for charm school at home.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Are You Charming — To Your Children?

Is it too much of a "loaded" question to ask a mother: How charming do you look to your children?

Children are so painfully candid, even when the answers are not expressed in words. And after all, you must frequently make unpopular rules and decisions, prescribe punishments, etc.

Yet, you are teaching your children the most influential things they'll ever learn about feminine charm. Both sons and daughters look to you for their ideas and ideals about women — the ones they'll be or the ones they'll wed.

The need for firm regulation and guidance doesn't excuse rudeness and lack of regard for the feelings of others—however small the others may be (or however trying!) On the contrary, the example you are able to set of self-control, consideration, patience-under-pressure, is worth a thousand lectures. Lectures do little good without living illustrations.

The cheerful mother of television commercials who produces a gay laugh as the youngsters tramp mud through the house and spill horrible concoctions on the linens is a caracature. On the other hand, you wouldn't launch a shrill tirade at a guest who got careless with a glass. A little of that courteous "accidents will happen" approach might convince your child that you're the greatest — AND help him gain self-confidence along with better manners.

Of course you're embarrassed when children misbehave in public; it takes bone-deep poise to cope with tantrums in the supermarket. A childish reaction from you at such moments, however, will only convince the public that there are two members of your family who need help.

It isn't easy to be charming in the intimacy of the home. Inevitable failures will come along. The wise person will recognize them, and try to limit and cope with them. Such an attitude will convince the youngsters that Mom is "just about perfect" — and perfectly charming!

Citizens Urged To Take Part In Cleanup

Spring and summer housecleaning problems of the city are not the Street Department's responsibility alone, Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday in revealing she is studying plans to set up a cooperative program on a city-citizen level.

Mrs. Roeder said she hopes to call a meeting soon of interested groups and city officials and employes to set up a program in which the city and citizens can work jointly.

"We do not have in mind a one-shot deal," Mrs. Roeder said, adding "rather we want to set up a program on a continuing basis—one which will be in operation the year-around."

Among problems to be discussed at the first conference when held will be dirt removal as the result of the battle against winter snows; street sweeper schedules and resultant problems of parked cars or failure to observe alternate parking requests; weed removal; the annual Cleanup Campaign the first week of May; and the pigeon problem in the downtown area.

There are other facets to the problem, she said, "and the Street Department cannot fight them all alone. We must have the cooperation of all since we feel there is a double responsibility."

Mrs. Roeder said she thinks a program can be worked out that will not be too cumbersome, but one that will benefit the city as well as the citizen and at the same time "not be a makeshift job."

"We are not going to throw our hands up in horror and say it cannot be done. Rather, we are going to attempt to set up a cleanup program and we're sure with cooperation of local groups and citizens, it will work," she said.

Many Changes Have Been Noted In Russia Since Stalin's Death 10 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Josef Stalin died on March 5, 1953, the whole world held its breath, waiting to see what would come next in—and from—the Soviet Union. The ensuing decade has brought changes that no one would have predicted. It has been marked by a series of crises and several major confrontations between the two super-powers, Russia and America. But it has also led to what is termed a "freer dialogue" between them.

MOSCOW (UPI)—His trousers whipped by a Washington airport breeze, his hat held aloft to shade the sun, Nikita Khrushchev stood smiling alongside President Eisenhower that September day in 1959.

For millions of Americans who saw it on television or who were there, it was a sight to be etched into their memories. The impossible had happened. The master of the Kremlin stood on American soil at the invitation of none other than the President of the United States.

It was the same Khrushchev who three scant years later was to secretly install missiles in Cuba and almost find himself at war with the United States.

Nothing could better epitomize the hot-and-cold course of Soviet-American relations in the decade since Stalin's death than the fact that in only 36 months the wheel of U. S.-Kremlin relations had come full circle — from Khrushchev's visit and the resultant "spirit of Camp David" to the crisis in Cuba.

Ten years ago a visit from a Soviet leader would have been virtually unthinkable because Josef Stalin was still alive and encased in an "armored box" — a term coined by Khrushchev himself.

Talking, At Least

But with the death of Stalin in the Kremlin March 5, 1953, the communications channels between Washington and Moscow seemed to come unfrozen. As one Western diplomat in Moscow put it, nothing basically had changed in Soviet-American relations. After all Khrushchev had said capitalism would be "buried" and that his policies would change when "crabs learned to whistle."

"But here was one thing," said the diplomat. "At least America and Russia began to talk to each other."

Theoretically Washington and Moscow began talking to each other diplomatically in 1933 when President Roosevelt recognized the Bolshevik regime.

But it was a whispered, halting dialogue made more difficult by the surge of Hitler and Stalin's pact with him just before World War II.

Pearl Harbor changed all that. From 1941 to 1945 America and the Soviet Union enjoyed the closiest relations in history as allies fighting a common enemy.

But that it was a friendship whetted by expediency became clear even before the end of the war when President Roosevelt was faced with Soviet territorial demands that later were to be fleshed out in Communist rule over Eastern Europe. And before the gun barrels of World War were barely cold, the Iron Curtain clanged down across Europe.

Wartime friendship was completely forgotten when the United States and the Soviet Union squared off at the United Nations in 1946 in the first big issue of the cold war. It was a territorial dispute in northern Iran with American firmness helping to stem the tide.

The Iran issue was only the first of innumerable battles in the U. N. that were one day to see Khrushchev banging his shoe on a table.

Low Point

Soviet-American relations reached their lowest point in the Stalin era when the dictator choked off Western access to Berlin, resulting in the 1948-49 Berlin airlift.

Hardly had the Berlin issue been settled without shooting when the signal was given for the North Koreans to march south across the 38th parallel. It touched off the Korean war in June, 1950, in which Soviet-made MIG fighters strafed and killed American GIs.

Shots were still being fired in Korea when Stalin died and many saw the signing of an armistice four months later as a good omen. Winston Churchill, as he says in his wartime history, was one of those in the West who hoped for a new era in Soviet-American relations under new Kremlin leadership that was to see Khrushchev rapidly rise to the top.

In the new Communist Party boss there seemed to be a new breed of Kremlin man. He globetrotted, wisecracked with American tycoons, used butter instead of guns to influence neutrals in Asia and displayed his willingness to talk by showing up at the first post-war summit conference in Geneva in 1955.

But the image quickly changed with the 1956 Hungarian uprising and Soviet tanks going into action.

As far as Americans were concerned, matters went from bad to worse. In October, 1957, the Soviet Union launched its first sputnik, causing a wave of soul searching in America about the bold military - scientific strength of its rival.

In November, 1958, came the six months' Berlin ultimatum.

Khrushchev Visit

Largely because of the Berlin tension that was generated in the months that followed, pressure began to build up for another top level get together of world leaders, particularly Khrushchev and Eisenhower. The vehicle was to be a visit to America by Khrushchev and then one to reciprocate by Eisenhower.

So it was that Khrushchev stumped his way across America for two weeks in the fall of 1959 and he and Eisenhower met outside Washington to proclaim the Spirit of Camp David.

That spirit lasted eight months before the shooting down of Francis Gary Powers in a U-2 plane brought Soviet-American relations to zero again.

The U-2 led directly to the breakup of the Paris summit in June, 1960, and shortly afterward there were more war jitters with the shooting down of the RB-47 jet bomber.

Khrushchev made it clear he held Eisenhower's administration accountable for the U-2 incident and he refused to negotiate with it. He was waiting for a new administration.

Another "K"

After John F. Kennedy became president the thaw immediately set in. The RB-47 pilots were released and once again Soviet-American relations got off dead center.

With a new face on the scene in Washington there were some vague hopes of a lasting Washington-Moscow detente as there had been with the advent of the Kremlin "K."

But these hopes were short-lived, lasting until June, 1961, when Khrushchev met Kennedy in the Vienna summit conference —the third in which America and the Soviet Union were represented.

By this time the question of a nuclear test ban rivalled Berlin as a chief cold war issue but Khrushchev slammed the door on the on-site inspection issue and remained adamant on Berlin.

Two months later came the Berlin wall and Soviet and American tanks faced each other across a cold war line. The world was an itchy trigger finger away from shooting and perhaps nuclear war.

Cool heads on both sides prevailed. The world breathed easier. Another confrontation between the super powers had passed safely.

In the months that followed, claim some Western political and military experts, Khrushchev began to worry that his nation was falling behind in the missile race.

This was the reason, according to these experts' opinions, that Khrushchev began to install missiles in Cuba. Ignoring American warnings about the threat to U. S. security, the Soviets continued a military buildup until Kennedy on Oct. 22 ordered a blockade and Khrushchev agreed on Oct. 28 to pull his missile bases out of Cuba.

U. S. Firmness

It is obviously too early to assess the long term implications of Cuba on Soviet-American relations. If there is one effect, however, according to Western commentators it was that the United States demonstrated clearly it would fight to preserve its essen-

Many Changes Have Been Noted In Russia Since Stalin's Death 10 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Josef Stalin died on March 5, 1953, the whole world held its breath, waiting to see what would come next in—and from—the Soviet Union. The ensuing decade has brought changes that no one would have predicted. It has been marked by a series of crises and several major confrontations between the two super-powers, Russia and America. But it has also led to what is termed a "freer dialogue" between them.

About That UNESCO Report....

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer justifiably demands State Department repudiation of the Soviet propaganda booklet published under the emblem of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Purporting to be a study of discrimination against races and nationalities, the booklet prejudicially contrasts the Soviet Union's "brotherhood of free and equal peoples" with "colonialist oppression" by Western nations.

The booklet states with authoritative tone that Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia voluntarily joined the Soviet Union. No mention is made of the hard, cold truth, which is that Russian troops marched into those countries and stood guard while the Kremlin calmly annexed them.

Distortion of history is nothing new to the Kremlin's wordsmiths. What is new though—and also ludicrous—is that part of the cost of this piece of fiction by two Russian authors is underwritten by the United States—which pays one-third of UNESCO's upkeep.

Americans of Lithuanian, Latvian and Estonian descent, many with relatives lock-stepping to the "free and equal life" imposed upon their countries by the Kremlin, must be baffled by Uncle Sam's gullibility.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Passing Of The Tail Fin

When Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith, now our Ambassador to India, returns to this country from New Delhi, I wonder what he will make of things?

Before he left our shores he was one of the most vociferous critics of the way the U.S. "affluent society" (the phrase was his own inspired bit of coinage) was spending its superfluous money. Dr. Galbraith was particularly severe on the "waste" that was going into tail fins on automobiles.

Well, the other day I looked at the street in a typical middle-sized American community, and I had to search a long way before I found a single tail fin. The rear ends of almost all the newer automobiles had become nicely rounded and quite inconspicuous. Whatever it is that affluent people are buying nowadays, it is not cars with the Detroit equivalent of the poop deck of an eighteenth century frigate.

Personally, I wonder what has been gained by the change in style? There seem to be only three things you can do with the rear end of an automobile; you either flare it up to give it fins, or flatten it out to resemble the flight deck of an aircraft carrier, or give it a soft contour to suggest that it won't hurt you very much if it backs into you. But no matter what is done to it, you may be sure that the style will not be permanent. People get bored seeing the same thing year after year.

The gaudiness of the tail fin may have been in doubtful taste, but when gaudiness is in the ascendancy you may be sure that people are enjoying themselves. Was England any happier when the hugh ruffs and doublets worn by the Elizabethans gave way to the sombre Puritan garb of dictator Oliver Cromwell's time? And is the severely "functional" modern house any easier to live in than the commodious mansions favored by the Victorians? No, gaudiness and gingerbread, whatever their esthetic drawbacks, are the sure signs of a certain exuberance—and that is always to be prized.

As for the economic "waste" involved in tail fins, I once asked a Chrysler Company economist to make an estimate for me of the amount of money the manufacturers might have saved if they had shaved down the after-decks of their cars. He promised he'd try to find out. But he never got a figure that was worth anything. He got lost in the question of material costs versus status symbol advertising values, and the whole thing was an arithmetical muddle.

While I could personally take a tail fin or leave it, I suspect that the criticism of the unswept rear car deck was always motivated by a Puritanism that frowned on enjoyment for its own sake. The "new" economists are the only real Puritans among us, and their criticism has always been quite wide of the mark in post-World War II America, where larger—and more costly—families mean that there is little "disposable income" left after taxes for "waste."

In 1959, the very year that Galbraith was fulminating against "waste" in Detroit, the after-tax income of the American people was $336 billion. Some $252 billion of this happened to be lavished on such "wasteful" things as food, shelter, clothing and basic transport. The remaining $84 billion was spent in a most commonsensical way. Some $24 billion was saved, $19 billion went for doctors, medicine and hospitals, more than $8 billion was spent on education at private schools and colleges and for churches and private welfare institutions, $17 billion was paid in fees and interest to banks and installment credit companies — and the remainder went for fun, including serious reading and gardening.

Well, if $16 billion out of a total after-tax income of $336 billion is to be condemned as "frivolity," then life is hardly worth the living. Not even the Pilgrims of Miles Standish's time, who stuffed themselves on Thanksgiving Day, would have considered it "waste" to spend less than a twentieth of their income on enjoyment.

Since the tail fin is now demonstrably on its way out, what will our Puritanical "liberals" seize upon next as the target for their ire? And isn't it a little bit laughable that the only big victory of these Puritanical liberals has been won over the inoffensive hind end of an automobile?

Self Strangulation

A Great Success That Brought New Problems

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is curious and instructive to compare this year's and last year's reactions, here in Washington and in the world at large, to the annual brass-hat-bellowing on Red Army day in Moscow.

The customary rocket-rattling, mailed-fist-brandishing speech was made by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky. If taken literally, the Soviet Defense Minister's remarks were spine-chilling, indeed. Yet what was said was really less notable than what was not said. Threats of a dictated settlement at Berlin were notably lacking.

This year, moreover, the official demonologists did not conn the Red Army day speeches and the preliminary vollys on the anniversary of the battle of Stalingrad-turned Volgograd with desperate anxiety about the current crisis temperature. They looked instead for more detailed, less catastrophic indicators, some of which were most interesting.

Among these indicators was rather clear confirmation, for instance, that the real purpose of Khrushchev's often-vaunted 100-megaton nuclear warhead is to start a gigantic firestorm, on the Hamburg pattern, but vast enough in scale to burn a small state to a crisp.

This suggests a sharp divergence between Soviet nuclear war-planning and the planning of the McNamara Pentagon, with its strong emphasis on pinpoint destruction of military targets. Then too, still in the field of weapons studies, there were strong pointers to suggest a continuing, most determining Soviet effort to produce an operational anti-missile-missile.

On the political side, the indicators were still more remarkable. Here there was an open conflict between the retired Stalingrad Field Commander, Marshal Yeremenko, and the brusque Defense Minister, Marshal Malinovsky.

Some months ago, Yeremenko published a book on the Stalingrad battle, in which he gave prime credit for the victory to that towering military genius, Nikita S. Khrushchev. Amid the recent celebrations, Malinovsky published a commentary, in effect contradicting Yeremenko, and giving the main credit for victory to the Soviet General staff.

"N. S. Khrushchev and others" had been helpful civilian morale builders, Malinovsky admitted. But that was all he had to say about civilians, and he boldly recorded the further fact that the disgraced Marshal Zhukov had been a member of the General staff at the time of the Stalingrad battle.

In these strikingly odd exchanges, the demonologists see symptoms of a renewed dispute between Khrushchev, who would like to solve his pressing problem of investment priorities by shrinking the swollen Soviet armed forces, and the army General staff, whose members defeated Khrushchev's previous shrink-the-army scheme and no doubt are still determined not to demobilize a single man. That must be why insistence on the superior wisdom of the General staff is now in order.

None of these matters is trifling or insignificant. Yet compare these current preoccupations of the demonologists with the preoccupations of this city and the whole world, while listening to the Red Army day bellowing in every previous mid-February from 1959 onwards.

Then we had not passed through the valley of the shadow, and then the Berlin crisis endlessly menaced the whole world with what is coothingly called a final nuclear confrontation. Now, in contrast, we have passed through the valley of the shadow quite unscatched.

We made the passage in those tense days of the Cuban crisis when Sen. Kenneth Keating and others like him were so notably silent (except perhaps for praying, as all sensible men had to pray, that we would peacefully secure as good a settlement as we got).

Now, in sum, a nuclear confrontation of sorts has actually occurred, testing both the will of the United States and its government and the intentions of Khrushchev and the men of the Kremlin. The very fact that this test has occurred has transformed everything else. The tacit deflation of the Berlin crisis, which cost the world sleep for four whole years, is by no means the greatest of the changes.

Among these changes traceable to Cuba, the grave difficulties that have arisen within the Western alliance must clearly be included. The great early Chinese historian, Ssu-ma Ch'ien, records a proverb: "When all the wild beasts are dead, the hunting dog is put in the pot and boiled." And when there is no immediate Soviet military menace to Western Europe, our European allies have less need to defer to American views and prejudices.

The truth is, in other words, that in quite large part, the troubles and challenges now harassing President Kennedy and his administration, have their origin in the President's single greatest success. For balance, this fact needs to be recorded by any reporter leaving for Western Europe to study the new troubles on the spot, as this reporter is now doing.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RARE FIND—Despite all efforts of the federal government's Fish and Wildlife Service, the count of whooping cranes has diminished to 32 and they again face extinction. With so few remaining, individuals and organizations interested in wildlife are concerned about what can be done to preserve the whooping crane's likeness. Obviously none can be spared for the taxidermist.

However, two of the birds, dead and stuffed for exhibition at the Brussels World's Fair of 1910, were discovered recently in storage at the University of Minnesota. The school gave them to the Smithsonian Institution in return for an assortment of other stuffed fowl. They arrived in Washington the other day in a crate filled with popcorn to prevent damage in transit.

The stuffed whooping cranes will be a focal point of an exhibit at the Museum of History and Technology in the capital, due for completion in about 18 months.

Breaking The Sound Barrier In Medicine

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Chester Gould, the creator of Dick Tracy, has utilized many electronic devices in his fight against crime. So far he has not invented a character supplied with an electric brain, unbelieveable vision, or supernatural hearing. All this would take is a clever surgeon to insert a microcomputer into the brain that would provide unlimited memory, a radar device into the lens of the eye, or an electric scanner into the ear.

This is not as farfetched as it sounds. The nervous system, including the brain and organs or hearing, sight, perception, and motion, have counterparts in the field of electronics. Nerve and brain waves can be detected with special machines and muscle tissue will contract when stimulated with electrical currents.

Dr. John B. Doyle Jr. of Los Angeles recently reported on his experiments in which wires are threaded through the skull and attached to the cochlear nerve in the ear. This organ of Corti picks up the nerve impulses that are generated by sound and brings them to the brain, where they become intelligible.

The individual wears an induction coil resembling a telephone operator's head phone that picks up sounds from the outside. These are relayed to a second induction coil implanted beneath the scalp, which in turn is connected to the wires mentioned previously.

This indwelling microapparatus is not perfected but opens up possibilities for the deaf mute and those who lost their hearing because of meningitis or from the side effects of drugs. It will take an electronic genius to perfect the device because the sounds heard at present are not always intelligible.

Some victims of heart disease owe their life to a tiny, built-in pacemaker that stimulates the organ to beat. These men and women have a defect in the nerve structures that initiate the heart beat. To overcome the block, or broken connections, surgeons insert an electronic device under the skin which gives off an electric current at regular intervals. The instrument is attached to the heart by special wires. Some have been operating for years. The use of electronics in medicine still is in its infancy; we can expect almost anything from now on.

LEPROSY

D. H. writes: What happened to leprosy? Does it still evist?

REPLY

Yes, but it is now called Hansen's disease. A drug (Dapsone) is available for treatment.

TEMPERATURE RISE

L. G. writes: What causes fever and what function does it perform for the body?

REPLY

Fever may be caused by infections, nerve lesions, dehydration, drugs, and after surgery. Fever of infectious origin is thought to be a body response that discourages bacterial growth and stimulates the development of protective antibodies.

HOW MUCH EXERCISE?

C. A. M. writes: I'm 57 and stand or walk on my job all day. Do I need more exercise?

REPLY

Not if you walk most of the day. There is no harm in obtaining more exercise, especially if you are not physically fit.

CHILD OF ADDICT

J. A. writes: Can an unborn child be affected by or born with an addiction to drugs if the father is an addict?

REPLY

No. On the other hand, the child may become an addict in years to come if he has the same emotional immaturity that plagues the father.

STERILIZING SHOES, HOSE

Mrs. M. writes: How do you sterilize hose and shoes?

REPLY

Why? Cotton hose can be boiled for 10 minutes. Shoes may be placed in a box containing formaldehyde and kept covered overnight.

DISTURBED MUSCULAR MOVEMENTS

M. P. writes: What is meant by a motor cell disease?

REPLY

The motor cells transmit the impulses that control muscular movements in contrast to the sensory cells that deal with sensation. Muscular weakness, paralysis, incoordination, or irritability may be noted when the motor cells are involved.

TOMORROW: Diseased tonsils and adenoids.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The noted minister, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, summers in Maine, and recalls a romantic interlude that occurred there a few years back. The local blacksmith, only five-feet-one for all his muscles of steel, fell in love with a girl who towered fully a foot above him. Diffident for months, he proposed marriage to her one night in a sudden burst of courage, and was promptly accepted. He climbed on top of his anvil and kissed the girl rapturously. Hours later, walking home through a pasture, he asked if he might kiss her again. "No," she decided. "Let's not overdo our sparking."

"Shucks," said the disappointed blacksmith. "If I can't kiss you no more, I might as well stop lugging this anvil."

How to get ahead in the Navy: The Secretary of the Navy was inspecting a recently launched carrier. The entire crew stood at attention. "I suppose," said the Secretary jokingly to the carrier's Captain, "you know the name of every man on the ship." "I think I do," was the Captain's unexpected reply.

"Aha," smiled the Secretary. "What's the name of the third man from the left there in the rear rank?"

"William Jones," said the Captain.

The Secretary addressed the seaman himself.

"What's your name, lad?" he asked.

"William Jones, Sir," replied Seaman Jonathan Abernathy.

Pearson Invites Comparison Of Mexican, Cuban Revolutions

By Drew Pearson

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his grandson, George L. Arnold, Jr.)

Washington, D. C.
Feb. 27, 1963

Dear Georgie,

I am glad to hear that you watered the lawn for your mother and did not charge her anything for it. Here in Washington we have had so much snow that we don't need to water any lawns, and I wish I could be in California where it's warmer and you have to water.

I am also glad to hear that you are writing reports on France, England, Germany, and Italy. Have you started to study Cuba yet? This is what everyone in Congress seems to be worrying about and making statements about, without studying much, so I hope you are studying Cuba in school.

I also hope you are studying about Mexico, because both these countries are not only important neighbors of the United States but have undergone similar experiences. In fact, I would recommend that the congressmen who are making all these statements about Cuba sit down first and study the history of Mexico. If you study it in school, you will be ahead of them.

Cuba is now called a Communist nation, and this is pretty much true. But Mexico also underwent a Communist revolution back in 1910, which was 53 years ago and seven years before the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia. Yet Mexico is now a good friend of ours.

Reasons For Revolution

The reasons for the Mexican Revolution were about the same as those in Russia and in Cuba. Mexico had been under a dictator for thirty years, Porfirio Diaz, just as Russia had been under the czars and Cuba had been under various dictators ranging from Machado to Batista. Under dictators, the gap between the poor people at the bottom and the wealthy people at the top usually becomes dangerous; and the first thing the Mexican people did when they revolted was to divide up the land and give it to the landless peons. This was also what the Bolsheviks did seven years later in Russia and what Castro did about 50 years later when there was a revolt in Cuba.

The Mexicans also seized American Oil property and American ranches, just as the revolutionaries have seized American oil refineries and American ranches in Cuba.

During the Mexican revolution, the State Department got very sore at Mexico and wrote a long series of notes, just as the State Department has written notes to Cuba. And one Mexican leader, Pancho Villa, actually raided across the border into New Mexico and killed quite a few Americans. As a result, your grandfather Thurman Arnold went down into Mexico to fight under General Pershing.

Actually, they didn't do much fighting, because the Mexicans were too smart and too elusive in hiding in the hills. But our high-handed policies at that time did cause a lot of bitterness.

At one time, the United States Navy, which was far more powerful than Mexico's puny little fleet of gunboats, seized Vera Cruz because Mexico refused to salute the American flag after an American naval officer was insulted. At another time, American naval vessels shot up the relatively defenseless port of Tampico.

All of this was something like the trouble we are having with Cuba today, except that it was worse. The Mexicans even sent agents all over Latin America to stir up trouble against us just as Castro is sending agents around Latin America to stir up trouble today.

Wait Twenty Years

However, what most congressmen forget is that eventually men forget is that eventually we got over this bitterness; so that today Mexico is a good friend. We respect each other, work together on a lot of things, and American investments are safer in Mexico than perhaps any other Latin country.

Relations are so much improved that when President F. D. Roosevelt sent the Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, who had once shot up Tampico, to be ambassador to Mexico, Daniels became very popular. The Mexicans had learned to forgive and forget.

This is why I say that you should study Mexican history in school and why congressmen should study Cuba in relation to Mexico. Because we will have to learn to be quite patient with Cuba for about twenty years. If we are, things will work out. If we aren't, if we start invading Cuba or bombarding her, the bitterness will deepen, and it will take a much longer time to heal the wounds.

Furthermore, we may have a world war. When we bombarded Mexico in 1914 and 1917, no European country was free to come to her defense. Europe was tied up in a world war. But today, a powerful European country, Russia, is free to come to Cuba's defense.

I am not saying that we should be patient merely because of this facts—though the possibility of world war is not to be taken lightly. I say we should be patient because it is the wise thing to do, and we will win more friends and get our investments back and have better cooperation in the future.

Twenty years may seem a long time to a boy who is only twelve. But in the life of nations, it is very short, and we can afford to wait.

When you water the lawn again, think of our snow.

Lots of love from Your Grandfather

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

We were having dinner at Dinty Moore's. The corned beef was lean and long, like a spaniel's tongue in August. The cabbage had been drained. A square of butter surrendered in the middle of a boiled potato. I lifted my fork. A man at the next table got up, came over, and said: "Are you Jim Bishop?" He didn't look like a process server, so I nodded.

"My name is Jed Harris," he said. I motioned for him to be seated. He shook his head no, and sat. He had a belt of booze in his pitching hand and it was obvious that he had been tossing strikes for quite a while. "You ought to write a book about your old man," Mr. Harris said. "He's the greatest character in years."

I introduced Mr. Harris to Mrs. B. Every few minutes, Mr. Harris said he didn't want to intrude, and put a little weight on his feet, then sat again. He is a dark man, a man of fluent fingers and tongue. His jowls are blue; his laughter rings like a bronze bell, and he has the hard sad eyes of an unemployed gangster.

He talked at length about my father, and I did too. But my mind was on Jed Harris, and I was yanking cards out of the memory index to recall what I could of this man. He was — and perhaps is — a theatrical producer. He has written a book for Doubleday called "Watchman, What of the Night?" It reads as though it was written by Frank Harris, in 1900.

This Harris has a hobby. He cultivates enemies. Not just any old enemy, mind you. Most people do not rate this man's scorn. It is said that he has to like you first. Noel Coward said that Jed had "one of the most self-devouring egos I have ever met" which is, at least, literate contempt.

Harry Ruby once said: "I've known Jed for years and I must say in all fairness that I've never known him to hurt anyone who hadn't befriended him." Perhaps. But Jed Harris has a record of having produced plays which have grossed $35,000,000. He has a gift for earning money, and of finding unique ways of losing it. One of them is getting married three times; the others are inconsequential.

His best plays, in my estimation, were "Broadway"; "The Front Page"; "The Royal Family"; and "Our Town." He is a surface sentimentalist who can weep or laugh, depending on the chimes emanating from the cash register. Harris is 63, looks 50, and thinks in the hundreds. Some actors have said that they would drop dead rather than work for Jed Harris. And have.

The corned beef was good, and I asked a waiter to set another brandy before Mr. Harris, thinking selfishly that while he was busy guzzling I would assault the dinner. This is sneaky plotting, and like most small crimes, doesn't work. Harris can slip and talk at the same time, like that little old wine maker.

We got on the subject of Mark Hellinger. Jed didn't like him — thought that the blue shirts and white ties were a Broadway affection. That killed that subject. He said he would send a copy his book. Jed didn't ask me to write anything about it, so I won't. Why kill two subjects in one paragraph?

We had not met before, but I found him to be an engaging conversationalist. Of course, he was at his best when he was talking about me. Still, the more I thought about how clever I am and how dumb he is, the more I kept thinking of the $5,000,000 which Jed used to have and the five million pennies I never accumulated.

Luck, I guess. Anyway, the dessert came and Harris stared into a fresh shot glass. This one stared back, so he said he would have to leave. "Do a favor for me," he said. "Write a book about your father." Knowing my father, I know better, but I nodded and we wrestled a little on the tile floor for the check.

He bowed to my wife, shook hands with me, and left with the dignity of a man who goes to bed with a gold-headed cane. I kept trying to think of a quote I almost — but not quite — remembered about Jed Harris. It was uttered by Fred Finklehof a long time ago.

"Nobody denies that Harris is a stinker, including Harris," he said. "But that's like saying that Toscanini had a bad backhand. Who the hell cares how Toscanini played tennis?" It's a fair summation.

After Jed Harris left, my wife said: "Who was that?" I shrugged. "Who knows?" I said. . .

About That UNESCO Report....

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer justifiably demands State Department repudiation of the Soviet propaganda booklet published under the emblem of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Purporting to be a study of discrimination against races and nationalities, the booklet prejudicially contrasts the Soviet Union's "brotherhood of free and equal peoples" with "colonialist oppression" by Western nations.

The booklet states with authoritative tone that Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia voluntarily joined the Soviet Union. No mention is made of the hard, cold truth, which is that Russian troops marched into those countries and stood guard while the Kremlin calmly annexed them.

Distortion of history is nothing new to the Kremlin's wordsmiths. What is new though—and also ludicrous—is that part of the cost of this piece of fiction by two Russian authors is underwritten by the United States—which pays one-third of UNESCO's upkeep.

Americans of Lithuanian, Latvian and Estonian descent, many with relatives lock-stepping to the "free and equal life" imposed upon their countries by the Kremlin, must be baffled by Uncle Sam's gullibility.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Passing Of The Tail Fin

When Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith, now our Ambassador to India, returns to this country from New Delhi, I wonder what he will make of things?

Before he left our shores he was one of the most vociferous critics of the way the U.S. "affluent society" (the phrase was his own inspired bit of coinage) was spending its superfluous money. Dr. Galbraith was particularly severe on the "waste" that was going into tail fins on automobiles.

Well, the other day I looked at the street in a typical middle-sized American community, and I had to search a long way before I found a single tail fin. The rear ends of almost all the newer automobiles had become nicely rounded and quite inconspicuous. Whatever it is that affluent people are buying nowadays, it is not cars with the Detroit equivalent of the poop deck of an eighteenth century frigate.

Personally, I wonder what has been gained by the change in style? There seem to be only three things you can do with the rear end of an automobile; you either flare it up to give it fins, or flatten it out to resemble the flight deck of an aircraft carrier, or give it a soft contour to suggest that it won't hurt you very much if it backs into you. But no matter what is done to it, you may be sure that the style will not be permanent. People get bored seeing the same thing year after year.

The gaudiness of the tail fin may have been in doubtful taste, but when gaudiness is in the ascendancy you may be sure that people are enjoying themselves. Was England any happier when the hugh ruffs and doublets worn by the Elizabethans gave way to the sombre Puritan garb of dictator Oliver Cromwell's time? And is the severely "functional" modern house any easier to live in than the commodious mansions favored by the Victorians? No, gaudiness and gingerbread, whatever their esthetic drawbacks, are the sure signs of a certain exuberance—and that is always to be prized.

As for the economic "waste" involved in tail fins, I once asked a Chrysler Company economist to make an estimate for me of the amount of money the manufacturers might have saved if they had shaved down the after-decks of their cars. He promised he'd try to find out. But he never got a figure that was worth anything. He got lost in the question of material costs versus status symbol advertising values, and the whole thing was an arithmetical muddle.

While I could personally take a tail fin or leave it, I suspect that the criticism of the unswept rear car deck was always motivated by a Puritanism that frowned on enjoyment for its own sake. The "new" economists are the only real Puritans among us, and their criticism has always been quite wide of the mark in post-World War II America, where larger—and more costly—families mean that there is little "disposable income" left after taxes for "waste."

In 1959, the very year that Galbraith was fulminating against "waste" in Detroit, the after-tax income of the American people was $336 billion. Some $252 billion of this happened to be lavished on such "wasteful" things as food, shelter, clothing and basic transport. The remaining $84 billion was spent in a most commonsensical way. Some $24 billion was saved, $19 billion went for doctors, medicine and hospitals, more than $8 billion was spent on education at private schools and colleges and for churches and private welfare institutions, $17 billion was paid in fees and interest to banks and installment credit companies — and the remainder went for fun, including serious reading and gardening.

Well, if $16 billion out of a total after-tax income of $336 billion is to be condemned as "frivolity," then life is hardly worth the living. Not even the Pilgrims of Miles Standish's time, who stuffed themselves on Thanksgiving Day, would have considered it "waste" to spend less than a twentieth of their income on enjoyment.

Since the tail fin is now demonstrably on its way out, what will our Puritanical "liberals" seize upon next as the target for their ire? And isn't it a little bit laughable that the only big victory of these Puritanical liberals has been won over the inoffensive hind end of an automobile?

Self Strangulation

A Great Success That Brought New Problems

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is curious and instructive to compare this year's and last year's reactions, here in Washington and in the world at large, to the annual brass-hat-bellowing on Red Army day in Moscow.

The customary rocket-rattling, mailed-fist-brandishing speech was made by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky. If taken literally, the Soviet Defense Minister's remarks were spine-chilling, indeed. Yet what was said was really less notable than what was not said. Threats of a dictated settlement at Berlin were notably lacking.

This year, moreover, the official demonologists did not conn the Red Army day speeches and the preliminary vollys on the anniversary of the battle of Stalingrad-turned Volgograd with desperate anxiety about the current crisis temperature. They looked instead for more detailed, less catastrophic indicators, some of which were most interesting.

Among these indicators was rather clear confirmation, for instance, that the real purpose of Khrushchev's often-vaunted 100-megaton nuclear warhead is to start a gigantic firestorm, on the Hamburg pattern, but vast enough in scale to burn a small state to a crisp.

This suggests a sharp divergence between Soviet nuclear war-planning and the planning of the McNamara Pentagon, with its strong emphasis on pinpoint destruction of military targets. Then too, still in the field of weapons studies, there were strong pointers to suggest a continuing, most determining Soviet effort to produce an operational anti-missile-missile.

On the political side, the indicators were still more remarkable. Here there was an open conflict between the retired Stalingrad Field Commander, Marshal Yeremenko, and the brusque Defense Minister, Marshal Malinovsky.

Some months ago, Yeremenko published a book on the Stalingrad battle, in which he gave prime credit for the victory to that towering military genius, Nikita S. Khrushchev. Amid the recent celebrations, Malinovsky published a commentary, in effect contradicting Yeremenko, and giving the main credit for victory to the Soviet General staff.

"N. S. Khrushchev and others" had been helpful civilian morale builders, Malinovsky admitted. But that was all he had to say about civilians, and he boldly recorded the further fact that the disgraced Marshal Zhukov had been a member of the General staff at the time of the Stalingrad battle.

In these strikingly odd exchanges, the demonologists see symptoms of a renewed dispute between Khrushchev, who would like to solve his pressing problem of investment priorities by shrinking the swollen Soviet armed forces, and the army General staff, whose members defeated Khrushchev's previous shrink-the-army scheme and no doubt are still determined not to demobilize a single man. That must be why insistence on the superior wisdom of the General staff is now in order.

None of these matters is trifling or insignificant. Yet compare these current preoccupations of the demonologists with the preoccupations of this city and the whole world, while listening to the Red Army day bellowing in every previous mid-February from 1959 onwards.

Then we had not passed through the valley of the shadow, and then the Berlin crisis endlessly menaced the whole world with what is coothingly called a final nuclear confrontation. Now, in contrast, we have passed through the valley of the shadow quite unscatched.

We made the passage in those tense days of the Cuban crisis when Sen. Kenneth Keating and others like him were so notably silent (except perhaps for praying, as all sensible men had to pray, that we would peacefully secure as good a settlement as we got).

Now, in sum, a nuclear confrontation of sorts has actually occurred, testing both the will of the United States and its government and the intentions of Khrushchev and the men of the Kremlin. The very fact that this test has occurred has transformed everything else. The tacit deflation of the Berlin crisis, which cost the world sleep for four whole years, is by no means the greatest of the changes.

Among these changes traceable to Cuba, the grave difficulties that have arisen within the Western alliance must clearly be included. The great early Chinese historian, Ssu-ma Ch'ien, records a proverb: "When all the wild beasts are dead, the hunting dog is put in the pot and boiled." And when there is no immediate Soviet military menace to Western Europe, our European allies have less need to defer to American views and prejudices.

The truth is, in other words, that in quite large part, the troubles and challenges now harassing President Kennedy and his administration, have their origin in the President's single greatest success. For balance, this fact needs to be recorded by any reporter leaving for Western Europe to study the new troubles on the spot, as this reporter is now doing.

RARE FIND—Despite all efforts of the federal government's Fish and Wildlife Service, the count of whooping cranes has diminished to 32 and they again face extinction. With so few remaining, individuals and organizations interested in wildlife are concerned about what can be done to preserve the whooping crane's likeness. Obviously none can be spared for the taxidermist.

However, two of the birds, dead and stuffed for exhibition at the Brussels World's Fair of 1910, were discovered recently in storage at the University of Minnesota. The school gave them to the Smithsonian Institution in return for an assortment of other stuffed fowl. They arrived in Washington the other day in a crate filled with popcorn to prevent damage in transit.

The stuffed whooping cranes will be a focal point of an exhibit at the Museum of History and Technology in the capital, due for completion in about 18 months.

Pearson Invites Comparison Of Mexican, Cuban Revolutions

By Drew Pearson

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his grandson, George L. Arnold, Jr.)

Washington, D. C.
Feb. 27, 1963

Dear Georgie,

I am glad to hear that you watered the lawn for your mother and did not charge her anything for it. Here in Washington we have had so much snow that we don't need to water any lawns, and I wish I could be in California where it's warmer and you have to water.

I am also glad to hear that you are writing reports on France, England, Germany, and Italy. Have you started to study Cuba yet? This is what everyone in Congress seems to be worrying about and making statements about, without studying much, so I hope you are studying Cuba in school.

Some actors have said that they would drop dead rather than work for Jed Harris. And have.

The corned beef was good, and I asked a waiter to set another brandy before Mr. Harris, thinking selfishly that while he was busy guzzling I would assault the dinner. This is sneaky plotting, and like most small crimes, doesn't work. Harris can slip and talk at the same time, like that little old wine maker.

We got on the subject of Mark Hellinger. Jed didn't like him — thought that the blue shirts and white ties were a Broadway affection. That killed that subject. He said he would send a copy his book. Jed didn't ask me to write anything about it, so I won't. Why kill two subjects in one paragraph?

We had not met before, but I found him to be an engaging conversationalist. Of course, he was at his best when he was talking about me. Still, the more I thought about how clever I am and how dumb he is, the more I kept thinking of the $5,000,000 which Jed used to have and the five million pennies I never accumulated.

Luck, I guess. Anyway, the dessert came and Harris stared into a fresh shot glass. This one stared back, so he said he would have to leave. "Do a favor for me," he said. "Write a book about your father." Knowing my father, I know better, but I nodded and we wrestled a little on the tile floor for the check.

He bowed to my wife, shook hands with me, and left with the dignity of a man who goes to bed with a gold-headed cane. I kept trying to think of a quote I almost — but not quite — remembered about Jed Harris. It was uttered by Fred Finklehof a long time ago.

"Nobody denies that Harris is a stinker, including Harris," he said. "But that's like saying that Toscanini had a bad backhand. Who the hell cares how Toscanini played tennis?" It's a fair summation.

After Jed Harris left, my wife said: "Who was that?" I shrugged. "Who knows?" I said. . .

Breaking The Sound Barrier In Medicine

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Chester Gould, the creator of Dick Tracy, has utilized many electronic devices in his fight against crime. So far he has not invented a character supplied with an electric brain, unbelieveable vision, or supernatural hearing. All this would take is a clever surgeon to insert a microcomputer into the brain that would provide unlimited memory, a radar device into the lens of the eye, or an electric scanner into the ear.

This is not as farfetched as it sounds. The nervous system, including the brain and organs or hearing, sight, perception, and motion, have counterparts in the field of electronics. Nerve and brain waves can be detected with special machines and muscle tissue will contract when stimulated with electrical currents.

Dr. John B. Doyle Jr. of Los Angeles recently reported on his experiments in which wires are threaded through the skull and attached to the cochlear nerve in the ear. This organ of Corti picks up the nerve impulses that are generated by sound and brings them to the brain, where they become intelligible.

The individual wears an induction coil resembling a telephone operator's head phone that picks up sounds from the outside. These are relayed to a second induction coil implanted beneath the scalp, which in turn is connected to the wires mentioned previously.

This indwelling microapparatus is not perfected but opens up possibilities for the deaf mute and those who lost their hearing because of meningitis or from the side effects of drugs. It will take an electronic genius to perfect the device because the sounds heard at present are not always intelligible.

Some victims of heart disease owe their life to a tiny, built-in pacemaker that stimulates the organ to beat. These men and women have a defect in the nerve structures that initiate the heart beat. To overcome the block, or broken connections, surgeons insert an electronic device under the skin which gives off an electric current at regular intervals. The instrument is attached to the heart by special wires. Some have been operating for years. The use of electronics in medicine still is in its infancy; we can expect almost anything from now on.

LEPROSY

D. H. writes: What happened to leprosy? Does it still evist?
REPLY

Yes, but it is now called Hansen's disease. A drug (Dapsone) is available for treatment.

TEMPERATURE RISE

L. G. writes: What causes fever and what function does it perform for the body?
REPLY

Fever may be caused by infections, nerve lesions, dehydration, drugs, and after surgery. Fever of infectious origin is thought to be a body response that discourages bacterial growth and stimulates the development of protective antibodies.

HOW MUCH EXERCISE?

C. A. M. writes: I'm 57 and stand or walk on my job all day. Do I need more exercise?
REPLY

Not if you walk most of the day. There is no harm in obtaining more exercise, especially if you are not physically fit.

CHILD OF ADDICT

J. A. writes: Can an unborn child be affected by or born with an addiction to drugs if the father is an addict?
REPLY

No. On the other hand, the child may become an addict in years to come if he has the same emotional immaturity that plagues the father.

STERILIZING SHOES, HOSE

Mrs. M. writes: How do you sterilize hose and shoes?
REPLY

Why? Cotton hose can be boiled for 10 minutes. Shoes may be placed in a box containing formaldehyde and kept covered overnight.

DISTURBED MUSCULAR MOVEMENTS

M. P. writes: What is meant by a motor cell disease?
REPLY

The motor cells transmit the impulses that control muscular movements in contrast to the sensory cells that deal with sensation. Muscular weakness, paralysis, incoordination, or irritability may be noted when the motor cells are involved.

TOMORROW: Diseased tonsils and adenoids.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The noted minister, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, summers in Maine, and recalls a romantic interlude that occurred there a few years back. The local blacksmith, only five-feet-one for all his muscles of steel, fell in love with a girl who towered fully a foot above him. Diffident for months, he proposed marriage to her one night in a sudden burst of courage, and was promptly accepted. He climbed on top of his anvil and kissed the girl rapturously. Hours later, walking home through a pasture, he asked if he might kiss her again. "No," she decided. "Let's not overdo our sparking."

"Shucks," said the disappointed blacksmith. "If I can't kiss you no more, I might as well stop lugging this anvil."

How to get ahead in the Navy: The Secretary of the Navy was inspecting a recently launched carrier. The entire crew stood at attention. "I suppose," said the Secretary jokingly to the carrier's Captain, "you know the name of every man on the ship." "I think I do," was the Captain's unexpected reply.

"Aha," smiled the Secretary. "What's the name of the third man from the left there in the rear rank?"

"William Jones," said the Captain.

The Secretary addressed the seaman himself.

"What's your name, lad?" he asked.

"William Jones, Sir," replied Seaman Jonathan Abernathy.

Meyersdale Rotary Club Names 'Citizen Of Year'

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — Dr. Creed C. Glass, dean of the Meyersdale area medical practioneers, last night was presented the "1963 Citizen of the Year" award during a banquet sponsored by the Meyersdale Rotary Club at the First Methodist Church.

A review of Doctor Glass's life was outlined by Judge Thomas F. Lansberry of the 16th Judicial District who was guest speaker. The award was presented by Earl Walker, president of the Rotary Club.

It was pointed out that Doctor Glass came to Meyersdale in August 1920 as successor to Dr. W. T. McMillan. A graduate of Jefferson Medical School, Philadelphia, he had just completed his internship at West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh.

In October 1922 Doctor Glass and his wife, the former Hazel McGilvery, a trained nurse, opened the Hazel McGilvery Hospital consisting of an operating room on the second floor of their home and two rooms for patients.

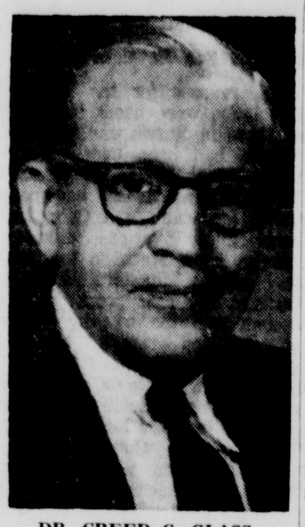

The hospital grew and was enlarged, and in 1933 Doctor Glass purchased the Will Hocking property next door to accomodate his family of three children. The war years placed a heavy burden on this expert diagnostician.

In December of 1944 Doctor Glass reported his intention to close the institution. Thus came the proposal for a new, modern community hospital and its eventual construction.

He is a member of the Somerset County Medical Society, served for many years as director and vice president of the Second National Bank and is a former Rotarian.

Nominees for the award are considered for their selfless service to the community through their vocations, religion and seperate community activities.

Rev. Charles E. Staub gave invocation at the dinner and group singing was led by H. Andrew Horchner, who was accompanied by Frank S. Lucente. On the banquet committee were Herman E. Basehore, James W. Knecht, Sanford R. Strattan, Mr. Horchner and Mr. Lucente. George L. Foy and Carl F. Miller were in charge of decorations.

Kiwanis Hears Talk By Lt. Governor

KEYSER — Nineteen freshmen students at Potomac State College were inducted into the Circle K Club Wednesday night before a group comprised of the sophomore members, visitors from the Kiwanis Club of Keyser, which sponsors the organization; and a delegation of Kiwanians from Petersburg.

Those accepted were: Norman Bender, Lewistown, Pa.; Stephen Bennett, Cumberland; John D. Clay, Whitesville; Charles Ezell Jr., Falls Church, Va.; Glen A. Harman, Rough Run; John W. Harman, Petersburg.

Ray Kenneth Harris and Thomas Eric Martin, both of Alexandria, Va.; Ray McManis, Mt. Lake Park, Md.; William Milleson, Springfield; Jeff Rafter, Salisbury, Md.; Ralph O. Sharp, Front Royal, Va.; Edward Lee Shearer, Charleston.

Donnie Shields, Wildcat; John Gregory Sligar, Elm Grove; Joseph L. Strange III, Vienna, Va.; Vaughn N. Thomas, Delmont, Pa.; Raymond T. Westfall, Nutter Fort; and William Joseph Williams, Clarksburg.

The induction ceremony was conducted by officers of the Circle K with Robert L. Baer, Somerset, Pa., president of the group, in charge. Remarks were made by William E. Michael, the club sponsor, and by Charles Rennix, of Keyser, who is lieutenant governor for the 5th Division of the West Virginia District of Kiwanis.

Rennix was speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club which preceded the college program. His talk was based on the importance of good fellowship, self-expression, voluntary service, responsibility, and the friendly rivalry with other clubs.

Announcements were made regarding the interclub meeting with Rotary and Lions on April 4 at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club with the latter group as host. Entertainment will feature exhibition dancing from Scotland and other countries under the supervision of Mrs. Joseph A. Blundon.

Robert Harman announced that his classes in American history at Keyser High School had prepared a Civil War Exhibit which would be open to the public tonight in the high school auditorium.

Those enrolled in the self-help program being sponsored by the Mineral County Department of Civil Defense said that classes would continue today at 7 p.m. at the VFW Home on Armstrong Street.

PSC Delegation Attend Convention

KEYSER—Two representatives of the Newman Club of Potomac State College, accompanied by their chaplain, Rev. John J. O'Connell, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, attended the Diocesan Convention of Newman Clubs held in Richmond.

Attending from the campus group were Thomas Meravi, West Orange, N.J., president of the Newman Club, and Joseph L. Strange, of Vienna, Va.

Father O'Connell said the conference marked the final meeting of the clubs under the Piedmont Province. Henceforth they will be under the rulings of the Mid-Atlantic Province.

W. Va. Road Bond Issue Endorsed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers endorsed the proposed $200 million road bond issue Thursday and said if it or some comparable financing plan was not approved, West Virginia would not be able to meet its share of the Interstate Highway program.

Sawyers made the statement before the House of Delegates, meeting as a "committee-of-the whole." The House had invited the commissioner to explain his recent report outlining a proposed 10-year road - building program which he said would cost about $1.5 billion, including $86 million of state funds.

Frostburg Little League Plans To Fence In Field

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Little League has decided to install a fence around the entire playing field.

William Lemmert who was in charge of a meeting at which time the project was discussed said it is hoped that all organizations of the community will help financially as well as furnish manual assistance.

Several teams are without a manager and it is hoped some of the directors will provide names of men interested in managing a team during the coming season.

Reapportion Bill Moves To Passage Stage

By DONALD F. FANNIN

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Senate Thursday moved to the passage stage a reapportionment bill to allow each county to retain at least one House delegate — withstanding all efforts to amend the measure to create "delegate districts" in a three-hour, full - scale parliamentary "war."

The measure, if passed by the upper chamber Friday, will go back to the House for concurrence in a Senate Redistricting Committee amendment which would set up one more Senatorial District. It would consist of Kanawha County and be superimposed over the county's present district, giving it four senators.

The amendment was approved in a voice vote before the senators beat down 17-13 and 17-11 proposals by Redistricting Chairman R. E. Barnett, D-Mercer, and Majority Leader William Moreland, respectively, that would have provided for delegate districts in the House.

The defeat of Barnett's proposal to set up six delegate districts actually came in a 17-13 vote in favor of an amendment to Barnett's amendment by Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, to "strike" out Barnett's plan. Moreland's plan was defeated outright.

Those opposing Carrigan—thereby favoring delegate districts — were Sens. Barnett, Davis, Hatcher, Holden, Jackson, Jasper, Kaufman, McKown, Moreland, Sharpe, Smith, Tompos and President Howard Carson.

The same senators supported Morelands' "district" plan with the exception of Barnett and McKown who were absent, Davis who opposed the measure and Porter who supported it.

Moreland warned his colleagues that defeat of the delegate district plans "will bring us back here this summer."

Top 4-H Award Given To WVU President

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University president Paul A. Miller has been named winner of the National 1963 4-H Club Alumni Recognition Award, it was announced Thursday.

The award, made by the National 4-H Service Committee, is the highest honor that can be obtained by a former member. Miller, named WVU president last year, was a club member in Hancock County for five years.

MGM Plans

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., said it will divert much of its 173-acre studio property at Culver City, Calif., to industrial and commercial use. The new president, Robert O'Brien, outlined to the annual meeting a sweeping program to put the big movie company back in the black.

KEYSER — Students at Potomac State College go to the polls today to select the couple to reign as May Queen and Escort for the traditional spring-time festivities scheduled for Saturday, May 11.

The election will be conducted under the auspices of the Student Council with the polls open from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Candidates nominated by Greek letter organizations on the campus include four students from Keyser.

Sponsored by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity and Eta Upsilon Gamma Sorority are Miss Marjorie Nichols and J. Scott Bosley, both of Keyser Phi Sigma Nu and Sigma Iota Chi have selected Miss Carol Machamer and David Hollen, both of Keyser. Nominees from Phi Kappa Omega and Kappa Delta Psi are Cathy Riedel, Wheeling, and Carl Washington, Greensburg, Pa.

The student body will select a May Queen and Escort with the two runners-up serving as Maids of Honor. During the election a court of eight princesses and eight escorts will also be chosen.

Disability Grant Program Slated

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Welfare Department's new program of screening applicants for disability grants will begin in Kanawha County Monday and in Cabell and Raleigh Counties as soon as review committees are organized.

Welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said the program, to determine which individuals would be the best prospects for rehabilitation, will be expanded to the Wheeling, Morgantown and Bluefield areas during the next fiscal year if the Legislature provides necessary funds.

The program is based on a pilot study conducted last year by a team of doctors from the Kanawha County Medical Society.

The study of 329 disabled welfare recipients showed that many could be rehabilitated to the point of being able to earn a livelihood.

Court Case Is Settled

KEYSER — A trial slated in Mineral County Circuit Court involving a fatal acident last year on West Virginia Route 28 near Ridgeley, has been settled out of court.

The petit jury which was scheduled to appear on Monday to hear the trial has been dismissed, court attaches said, since a compromise was reached by attorneys.

The case had been brought by Joseph A. Blundon, administrator for the estate of the late Robert D. O'Baker against J. Paul Davis, administrator of the estate of the late Ronald C. Swain and others.

The suit was a consolidation of several civil cases stemming from the acicdent last year on Route 28 in which five persons were killed.

Killed In Wreck

SPENCER, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia's highway fatality toll increased to 46 with the death of Edward L. Bullard, 45, Spencer, Wednesday night, but was still well below the 60 reported at this time last year. Police said Bullard was killed when his car wrecked on U. S. 119 near here.

Train Stop Canceled

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Centennial Commission said Thursday that the Special Centennial Exhibits Train will be unable to make its scheduled stop in Spencer July 9. The commission said the C&O Railway has advised it that the track conditions would not permit a visit to the Roane County town during the statewide tour this summer.

Newspaper Sales Tax Exemption Plan Backed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee Thursday approved a House-passed bill to exempt retail sale of home - delivered newspapers from the state consumers sales tax.

The tax, now levies at a rate of 3 per cent, has never been reforced against sales of carrier-delivered papers to persons who pay on a weekly basis. But the state Tax Department recently announced plans to require collection.

Del. Luther Ghiz, D-Logan, introduced the bill and the House passed it on Feb. 23 to take effect from final passage.

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, tabled a bill to open all government records to public inspection. It was submitted by Del. Robert Holliday, D-Fayette.

Buildings To Be Razed

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (UPI)—The ABC Demolition Corp. Arlington, Va., will demolish five old Storer College buildings, Brackett and Mosher Halls and three residences, under a $24,608 contract. The buildings are located within the area of the Harpers Ferry National Monument which is being restored as nearly as possible to Civil War-era conditions.

The measure, if passed by the upper chamber Friday, will go back to the House for concurrence in a Senate Redistricting Committee amendment which would set up one more Senatorial District. It would consist of Kanawha County and be superimposed over the county's present district, giving it four senators.

The amendment was approved in a voice vote before the senators beat down 17-13 and 17-11 proposals by Redistricting Chairman R. E. Barnett, D-Mercer, and Majority Leader William Moreland, respectively, that would have provided for delegate districts in the House.

The defeat of Barnett's proposal to set up six delegate districts actually came in a 17-13 vote in favor of an amendment to Barnett's amendment by Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, to "strike" out Barnett's plan. Moreland's plan was defeated outright.

Those opposing Carrigan—thereby favoring delegate districts — were Sens. Barnett, Davis, Hatcher, Holden, Jackson, Jasper, Kaufman, McKown, Moreland, Sharpe, Smith, Tompos and President Howard Carson.

The same senators supported Morelands' "district" plan with the exception of Barnett and McKown who were absent, Davis who opposed the measure and Porter who supported it.

Top 4-H Award Given To WVU President

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University president Paul A. Miller has been named winner of the National 1963 4-H Club Alumni Recognition Award, it was announced Thursday.

The award, made by the National 4-H Service Committee, is the highest honor that can be obtained by a former member. Miller, named WVU president last year, was a club member in Hancock County for five years.

MGM Plans

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., said it will divert much of its 173-acre studio property at Culver City, Calif., to industrial and commercial use. The new president, Robert O'Brien, outlined to the annual meeting a sweeping program to put the big movie company back in the black.

May Queen Election Set At PSC

Keyser Students Are Candidates

KEYSER — Students at Potomac State College go to the polls today to select the couple to reign as May Queen and Escort for the traditional spring-time festivities scheduled for Saturday, May 11.

The election will be conducted under the auspices of the Student Council with the polls open from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Candidates nominated by Greek letter organizations on the campus include four students from Keyser.

Sponsored by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity and Eta Upsilon Gamma Sorority are Miss Marjorie Nichols and J. Scott Bosley, both of Keyser Phi Sigma Nu and Sigma Iota Chi have selected Miss Carol Machamer and David Hollen, both of Keyser. Nominees from Phi Kappa Omega and Kappa Delta Psi are Cathy Riedel, Wheeling, and Carl Washington, Greensburg, Pa.

The student body will select a May Queen and Escort with the two runners-up serving as Maids of Honor. During the election a court of eight princesses and eight escorts will also be chosen.

Disability Grant Program Slated

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Welfare Department's new program of screening applicants for disability grants will begin in Kanawha County Monday and in Cabell and Raleigh Counties as soon as review committees are organized.

Welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said the program, to determine which individuals would be the best prospects for rehabilitation, will be expanded to the Wheeling, Morgantown and Bluefield areas during the next fiscal year if the Legislature provides necessary funds.

The program is based on a pilot study conducted last year by a team of doctors from the Kanawha County Medical Society.

The study of 329 disabled welfare recipients showed that many could be rehabilitated to the point of being able to earn a livelihood.

Worker Dies

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Coroner Goff Lilly has ruled that the death of Junior Foster, 36, of nearby Cabin Creek, Wednesday while working 100 feet underground on a Charleston sewer project, was caused by a heart attack.

Court Case Is Settled

KEYSER — A trial slated in Mineral County Circuit Court involving a fatal acident last year on West Virginia Route 28 near Ridgeley, has been settled out of court.

The petit jury which was scheduled to appear on Monday to hear the trial has been dismissed, court attaches said, since a compromise was reached by attorneys.

The case had been brought by Joseph A. Blundon, administrator for the estate of the late Robert D. O'Baker against J. Paul Davis, administrator of the estate of the late Ronald C. Swain and others.

The suit was a consolidation of several civil cases stemming from the acicdent last year on Route 28 in which five persons were killed.

Killed In Wreck

SPENCER, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's highway fatality toll increased to 46 with the death of Edward L. Bullard, 45, Spencer, Wednesday night, but was still well below the 60 reported at this time last year. Police said Bullard was killed when his car wrecked on U. S. 119 near here.

Train Stop Canceled

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Centennial Commission said Thursday that the Special Centennial Exhibits Train will be unable to make its scheduled stop in Spencer July 9. The commission said the C&O Railway has advised it that the track conditions would not permit a visit to the Roane County town during the statewide tour this summer.

Newspaper Sales Tax Exemption Plan Backed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee Thursday approved a House-passed bill to exempt retail sale of home - delivered newspapers from the state consumers sales tax.

The tax, now levies at a rate of 3 per cent, has never been reforced against sales of carrier-delivered papers to persons who pay on a weekly basis. But the state Tax Department recently announced plans to require collection.

Del. Luther Ghiz, D-Logan, introduced the bill and the House passed it on Feb. 23 to take effect from final passage.

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, tabled a bill to open all government records to public inspection. It was submitted by Del. Robert Holliday, D-Fayette.

Buildings To Be Razed

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (UPI)—The ABC Demolition Corp, Arlington, Va., will demolish five old Storer College buildings, Brackett and Mosher Halls and three residences, under a $24,608 contract. The buildings are located within the area of the Harpers Ferry National Monument which is being restored as nearly as possible to Civil War-era conditions.

Mineral County Youth To Celebrate 4-H Week

KEYSER — Approximately 425 young people of Mineral County will observe National 4-H Club Week, March 2-9, according to local representatives, who said they are among 35,000 members in West Virginia who live in rural and urban areas.

Among the special 4-H Week activities planned for Mineral County are the 4-H exhibits which will be placed in store windows throughout the county.

The annual roller skating party will be held Thursday, March 7, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. at the Keyser Roller Rink, and mass media will be used to tell the 4-H story to the public.

This is the first year for the erection of billboard signs along the highways in Mineral County to remind people of National 4-H Week.

Joining the 4-H members in their observance will be 80 local volunteer leaders from the 18 clubs in Mineral County along with many 4-H alumni.

The theme for National 4-H Club Week in 1963 is "4-H: Young Citizens in Action."

In 1900, some four per cent of all deaths in the United States were due to cancer.

Certificates Of Merit Presented

Employes Cited For Support In CUF Campaign

FROSTBURG — Seven groups of employes from businesses in the Frostburg area have been singled out for achievement awards as a result of their support in the 1962 County United Fund drive.

One of the seven groups qualified for a fourth-year award, signifying four consecutive years of having met its goal or increasing its group participation in the CUF campaign. Recipient of the award was Kaiser Refractories, Chemical Division of Kaiser Aluminum Chemical Corporation.

Third-year award shingles were earned by four employe groups. They are the employes of Michael Berkowitz Company, Fidelity Bank, Frostburg State Teachers College, and the U. S. Post Office in Frostburg.

A second-year award shingle was attained by Frostburg National Bank.

Receiving an award for first time, — and achievement award plaque — was Heiskell Motor Sales.

Awards were presented to representatives of these employe groups Tuesday during the annual awards dinner of County United Fund at Ali Ghan Shrine Temple.

Presentations were made by members of some of the CUF agencies who benefit from their contributions — YMCA, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

W. Va. Better Equipped To Accomodate Tourists

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A survey by the travel division of the State Department of Commerce shows that West Virginia is better equipped to accommodate tourists now than it was three years ago.

Commerce Commissioner Hulett C. Smith said Thursday that according to the survey, West Virginia entered its Centennial year with a combined total of 13,090 hotel, motel and tourist home rooms. He said the total represented an increase of 2,255 rooms over the number reported in the last survey in 1959.

The added facilities represent an investment of $12.1 million based on a conservative estimate of $5,000 per unit, he said.

Smith said motels led the field in expansion with the construction of 36 new motels with an aggregate of 1,684 rooms. At the same time, he said, 59 older motels were enlarged and modernized.

Two Men Join Navy At Keyser

KEYSER — Two Keyser area men enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting office, said Chief William M. Lessner, recruiter.

Sorority 'Rushees' Interviewed

Four rushees, Rosalie Johnson, Pamela Fike, Lois Cropp and Carolyn Bittinger, were interviewed by Mrs. Kathryn Dailey, state manager of Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Miss Janet Paugh, chapter president, and chairman of the program committee for the rush party, introduced chapter members and led a roundtable discussion informing the rushees of the activities of the chapter since its formation.

Games were played under the direction of Nancy Hardesty and LaVerna Shaffer. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Dailey and Pamela Fike and the rushees were presented a gift. Refreshments were served and the room was appropriately decorated.

Boy Hospitalized When Bicycle Is Hit By Truck

KEYSER, W. Va. — A six-year-old local boy was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital late yesterday afternoon for observation after being hit by a truck while he was riding a bicycle.

Wayne Phillips, son of James Phillips, 171 Lincoln Street, apparently was not seriously injured and attaches said his condition last night was satisfactory.

Authorities said the accident occurred about 4:35 p. m. as the boy was riding a bicycle near the intersection of Chestnut and Mineral streets.

The bike was hit by a truck driven by Albert Shallis and owned by the Keyser Television Company. The lad was riding downhill and apparently did not see the truck, authorities said.

Keyser Delegates To Attend Meeting

KEYSER — Mrs. I. W. Matlick, president of the Mineral County Democratic Club, and Mrs. Leslie Sherman left today for Charleston where they will represent the local organization at the sixth annual Democratic Women's Day being sponsored today and tomorrow by the West Virginia Council of Democratic Women.

They were chosen as delegates at a recent meeting of the Democratic Club in the Court House. The club agreed to resume its regular monthly meetings on the last Monday of each month.

Highlighting the Charleston program will be addresses by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the vice-president, and Mrs. Margaret Price, national vice-chairman.

Birth Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Hankins, Blacksburg, Va., announce the birth of a son Wednesday in Radford Comunity Hospital. The mother is the former June Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Morton, Frostburg.

2 Hampshire Schools To Consolidate

ROMNEY — The Hampshire County Board of Education met in the Court House Annex to discuss various matters.

The board, after considerable study on Capon Springs School and Capon School for the term of 1964, approved the consolidation of the two schools beginning in September 1963. Several factors influenced the board's decision. First and foremost was the retirement of Leyburn Brill, teacher at the Capon Springs School, at the end of this present term. Second, the small number of children in attendance at this school and the present indications are that there would be only 12 students at this school next term and since the present bus route would be able to take these children to Capon School with no additional transportation change, it was felt by the board, from the standpoint of economy, plus the fact that these 12 next year could easily be enrolled at Capon School, to consolidate. This would make approximately 53 children at Capon School for next term.

The board approved providing a bus for the Future Homemakers Club of Romney High School for March 30.

The board authorized George Shahan, music supervisor for Hampshire County, to attend the National Music Educators Conference in Charleston March 20-23.

A resolution was adopted by the board and the superintendent was instructed to submit the resolution to the Hampshire County Court, urging that the equalization of assessments in Hampshire County be completed at the earliest possible time and prior to the deadline of January 1, 1964 as provided by statute Senate Bill 29 and House Bill 75.

Dr. Delmas F. Miller, chairman of the Department of Secondary Education, West Virginia University, was approved by the board as commencement speaker at Romney High School May 28, and at Capon Bridge High School May 29.

Orders issued from January 8, 1963 to February 22, 1963 in the amount of $20,325.95 were approved, plus $34,488 from the school building bond fund.

Sorority 'Rushees' Interviewed

Four rushees, Rosalie Johnson, Pamela Fike, Lois Cropp and Carolyn Bittinger, were interviewed by Mrs. Kathryn Dailey, state manager of Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Miss Janet Paugh, chapter president, and chairman of the program committee for the rush party, introduced chapter members and led a roundtable discussion informing the rushees of the activities of the chapter since its formation.

Games were played under the direction of Nancy Hardesty and LaVerna Shaffer. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Dailey and Pamela Fike and the rushees were presented a gift. Refreshments were served and the room was appropriately decorated.

Boy Hospitalized When Bicycle Is Hit By Truck

KEYSER, W. Va. — A six-year-old local boy was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital late yesterday afternoon for observation after being hit by a truck while he was riding a bicycle.

Wayne Phillips, son of James Phillips, 171 Lincoln Street, apparently was not seriously injured and attaches said his condition last night was satisfactory.

Authorities said the accident occurred about 4:35 p. m. as the boy was riding a bicycle near the intersection of Chestnut and Mineral streets.

The bike was hit by a truck driven by Albert Shallis and owned by the Keyser Television Company. The lad was riding downhill and apparently did not see the truck, authorities said.

Keyser Delegates To Attend Meeting

KEYSER — Mrs. I. W. Matlick, president of the Mineral County Democratic Club, and Mrs. Leslie Sherman left today for Charleston where they will represent the local organization at the sixth annual Democratic Women's Day being sponsored today and tomorrow by the West Virginia Council of Democratic Women.

They were chosen as delegates at a recent meeting of the Democratic Club in the Court House. The club agreed to resume its regular monthly meetings on the last Monday of each month.

Highlighting the Charleston program will be addresses by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the vice-president, and Mrs. Margaret Price, national vice-chairman.

Birth Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Hankins, Blacksburg, Va., announce the birth of a son Wednesday in Radford Comunity Hospital. The mother is the former June Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Morton, Frostburg.

2 Hampshire Schools To Consolidate

ROMNEY — The Hampshire County Board of Education met in the Court House Annex to discuss various matters.

The board, after considerable study on Capon Springs School and Capon School for the term of 1964, approved the consolidation of the two schools beginning in September 1963. Several factors influenced the board's decision. First and foremost was the retirement of Leyburn Brill, teacher at the Capon Springs School, at the end of this present term. Second, the small number of children in attendance at this school and the present indications are that there would be only 12 students at this school next term and since the present bus route would be able to take these children to Capon School with no additional transportation change, it was felt by the board, from the standpoint of economy, plus the fact that these 12 next year could easily be enrolled at Capon School, to consolidate. This would make approximately 53 children at Capon School for next term.

The board approved providing a bus for the Future Homemakers Club of Romney High School for March 30.

The board authorized George Shahan, music supervisor for Hampshire County, to attend the National Music Educators Conference in Charleston March 20-23.

A resolution was adopted by the board and the superintendent was instructed to submit the resolution to the Hampshire County Court, urging that the equalization of assessments in Hampshire County be completed at the earliest possible time and prior to the deadline of January 1, 1964 as provided by statute Senate Bill 29 and House Bill 75.

Dr. Delmas F. Miller, chairman of the Department of Secondary Education, West Virginia University, was approved by the board as commencement speaker at Romney High School May 28, and at Capon Bridge High School May 29.

Orders issued from January 8, 1963 to February 22, 1963 in the amount of $20,325.95 were approved, plus $34,488 from the school building bond fund.

West Virginia Whips Richmond In S.C. Tourney Opener, 75-46

Mike Wolfe's Hot Shooting Is Highlight

Scores 25 Points, Mountaineers Play Furman Team Today

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Top-seeded West Virginia and prime challenger Davidson advanced with ease into the semi-finals of the 43rd Southern Conference basketball tournament Thursday but highly regarded Furman ran into unexpected difficulty.

The Mountaineers, led by hot shooting Mike Wolfe's 23 points, solved a troublesome "1-offense" set up by Richmond early in the first half and eliminated the Spiders, 75-46 in a first round game.

Wolfe hit on 11 of 18 floor shots, most of them looping one-handers from the right corner, to pace the win. All - America teammate Rod Thorn had 16 and guard Jim McCormick added 10 more for West Virginia.

Richmond's deliberate offense gave West Virginia fits in the early minutes before the Mountaineers' fast break began to click. West Virginia held a narrow 33-27 halftime advantage over the last-seeded Spiders.

But the Mountaineers roared back in the second half, limited Richmond to only two field goals in 14 minutes and opened the gap to 25 points, 60-35, before the reserves took over.

George Grodzicki, playing his final game for Richmond, paced the Spiders with 13 points while guard Doug Hunt had 10.

The Mountaineers took the lead for good midway in the first half when Wolfe connected on two of his patented corner shots to make the score 14-11.

Bruce Bulldogs Register First Win In Finale

Defeat Northern After 19 Losses

Victory came to Bruce High School not a game too soon last night. The previously winless Bulldogs scored a 66-60 triumph over Northern in their season finale at Westernport.

The contest closed out what was probably the worst season in history for the Bulldogs, who lost all of their first 19 games.

Bruce led nearly all the way against the Huskies, to whom they lost (55-50) only two nights before. Northern wound up its campaign with a 6-12 mark.

Sam Berry was the big gun in the Bulldogs' attack, scoring 25 points on 11 field goals in 22 attempts and a 3-4 effort at the free throw line. Malc Kight and Butch Biggs has 12 points each and the latter, a sophomore playing in only his fourth game, hauled in 11 rebounds.

The Huskies' Larry Yommer copped game scoring honors with 28 tallies, and Tom Speicher had 13 for the losers.

Oldtown Loses Class C Battle To Emmitsburg

Frederick County Five Stages Rally For 63-55 Victory

Oldtown's Indians were unable to cling to a seven-point halftime lead against Emmitsburg last night and suffered a 63-55 setback which eliminated them from the District One Class C championship picture.

Yesterday's Class C quarter-final at the South Hagerston High School gymnasium kicked off District One Tournament action, which swings into high gear today.

Oldtown had earned the right to represent Allegany County in the "C" classification by sweeping a pair of regular season contests from Flintstone.

The Indians jumped out to an 18-8 first period advantage last night and were still on top by seven (26-19) at intermission.

In the third period, however, Emmitsburg went on a scoring spree which quickly knotted the score at 27-all. After breaking the deadlock at 29-27, the Frederick Countians were never headed. Emmitsburg scored 44 points in the second half to Oldtown's 29.

Eyler led the winners with 21 points, while Harner had 14 and Baker grabbed 11. Harner had four of his five field goals in the productive third quarter.

The trio of Steve Nixon, Garry Appel and Scott Dixon accounted for all but one of Oldtown's points. Nixon was the top point-getter with 22, Appel was right behind with 20, and Dixon canned a dozen.

Emmitsburg moves into the Class C district semi-final against Hancock tomorrow at 2 p.m. The winner of that clash will play the District Three titlist on Tuesday at South Hagerstown.

Mountaineers Capture First Wrestling Win

Coach Bob Chaney's Beall High School wrestlers last night defeated Hyndman, 31-25, for their first victory in three meets since initiating the sport last month.

An enthusiastic turnout of more than 300 persons watched the home team Beall grapplers win the last two matches for the come-from-behind victory.

Mike Davis, competing in the unlimited class for Beall, pinned Hyndman's Gary Moore in 28 seconds of the first round, and Bill Elliott scored a fall over Tom Ritchey in just 40 seconds to give the Mountaineer wrestlers the team triumph. Davis' win was his third straight.

Beall scored five falls and two decisions in the individual events.

The summary:

95-pound Class — Danny Green, Beall, pinned Terry Gray (1:31).
103-pound Class — Nigel Price, Beall, decisioned Tom O'Reilly, 5-1.
112-pound Class — Bob Carter, Hyndman, pinned Dave Jenkins (:20).

Uncle Sam Grabs Most Of Money Won By Bettor

BOWIE, Md. (AP) —Albert Lepore of Pawtucket, R.I., lost 94 per cent of his $42,492 daily double winnings to Uncle Sam Thursday, without being present when the bite was made.

A spokesman for Bowie race track said a check for $39,764 was given to two Internal Revenue Service agents. The IRS had attached Lepore's winning tickets Tuesday until the income tax due on them could be paid.

Jack Loome, Bowie general manager, said the track would hold the remaining $2,528 for Lepore, subject to an income tax lien of $1,235 from the State of Maryland. Collection of the Maryland income tax would leave Lepore only $1,293 from his $42,492 won on last Saturday's daily double.

An IRS spokesman said, however, that Lepore might be entitled to a refund when his total federal tax liability for 1963 is ultimately determined.

Lepore turned in to the track Tuesday two $10 tickets on the winning double combination of Nos. 12 and 7. Mr. Tink won the first race, returning $49.40 for $2, and Harvest Tan, winner of the second, paid $209.20.

West Virginia Whips Richmond In S.C. Tourney Opener, 75-46

Mike Wolfe's Hot Shooting Is Highlight

Scores 25 Points, Mountaineers Play Furman Team Today

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Top-seeded West Virginia and prime challenger Davidson advanced with ease into the semi-finals of the 43rd Southern Conference basketball tournament Thursday but highly regarded Furman ran into unexpected difficulty.

The Mountaineers, led by hot shooting Mike Wolfe's 23 points, solved a troublesome "I-offense" set up by Richmond early in the first half and eliminated the Spiders, 75-46 in a first round game.

Wolfe hit on 11 of 18 floor shots, most of them looping one-handers from the right corner, to pace the win. All - America teammate Rod Thorn had 16 and guard Jim McCormick added 10 more for West Virginia.

Richmond's deliberate offense gave West Virginia fits in the early minutes before the Mountaineers' fast break began to click. West Virginia held a narrow 33-27 halftime advantage over the last-seeded Spiders.

But the Mountaineers roared back in the second half, limited Richmond to only two field goals in 14 minutes and opened the gap to 25 points, 60-35, before the reserves took over.

George Grodzicki, playing his final game for Richmond, paced the Spiders with 13 points while guard Doug Hunt had 10.

The Mountaineers took the lead for good midway in the first half when Wolfe connected on two of his patented corner shots to make the score 14-11.

Bruce Bulldogs Register First Win In Finale

Defeat Northern After 19 Losses

Victory came to Bruce High School not a game too soon last night. The previously winless Bulldogs scored a 66-60 triumph over Northern in their season finale at Westernport.

The contest closed out what was probably the worst season in history for the Bulldogs, who lost all of their first 19 games.

Bruce led nearly all the way against the Huskies, to whom they lost (55-50) only two nights before. Northern wound up its campaign with a 6-12 mark.

Sam Berry was the big gun in the Bulldogs' attack, scoring 25 points on 11 field goals in 22 attempts and a 3-4 effort at the free throw line. Malc Kight and Butch Biggs has 12 points each and the latter, a sophomore playing in only his fourth game, hauled in 11 rebounds.

The Huskies' Larry Yommer copped game scoring honors with 28 tallies, and Tom Speicher had 13 for the losers.

Keyser Beats Campers 33-23 In Wrestling

Mineral Countians Cop 7 Of 12 Tests

Capturing seven out of the 12 matches, Keyser High School's wrestling team defeated Allegany High School's grapplers last night at Campobello by the score of 33-23.

Keyser won six matches by pins and Allegany four. Each team won one match via the decision route.

Bill Dawson, West Virginia 120-pound champion, made his record 14-0, by pinning Bill Overstreet in 1:49 of the first period.

Summary:

95—Roy Whipp, Keyser, decisioned Brook Wright, 8-7.

Oldtown Loses Class C Battle To Emmitsburg

Frederick County Five Stages Rally For 63-55 Victory

Oldtown's Indians were unable to cling to a seven-point halftime lead against Emmitsburg last night and suffered a 63-55 setback which eliminated them from the District One Class C championship picture.

Yesterday's Class C quarter-final at the South Hagerston High School gymnasium kicked off District One Tournament action, which swings into high gear today.

Oldtown had earned the right to represent Allegany County in the "C" classification by sweeping a pair of regular season contests from Flintstone.

The Indians jumped out to an 18-8 first period advantage last night and were still on top by seven (26-19) at intermission.

In the third period, however, Emmitsburg went on a scoring spree which quickly knotted the score at 27-all. After breaking the deadlock at 29-27, the Frederick Countians were never headed. Emmitsburg scored 44 points in the second half to Oldtown's 29.

Eyler led the winners with 21 points, while Harner had 14 and Baker grabbed 11. Harner had four of his five field goals in the productive third quarter.

The trio of Steve Nixon, Garry Appel and Scott Dixon accounted for all but one of Oldtown's points. Nixon was the top point-getter with 22, Appel was right behind with 20, and Dixon canned a dozen.

Emmitsburg moves into the Class C district semi-final against Hancock tomorrow at 2 p.m. The winner of that clash will play the District Three titlist on Tuesday at South Hagerstown.

Mountaineers Capture First Wrestling Win

Coach Bob Chaney's Beall High School wrestlers last night defeated Hyndman, 31-25, for their first victory in three meets since initiating the sport last month.

An enthusiastic turnout of more than 300 persons watched the home team Beall grapplers win the last two matches for the come-from-behind victory.

Mike Davis, competing in the unlimited class for Beall, pinned Hyndman's Gary Moore in 28 seconds of the first round, and Bill Elliott scored a fall over Tom Ritchey in just 40 seconds to give the Mountaineer wrestlers the team triumph. Davis' win was his third straight.

Beall scored five falls and two decisions in the individual events.

The summary:

95-pound Class — Danny Green, Beall, pinned Terry Gray (1:31).
103-pound Class — Nigel Price, Beall, decisioned Tom O'Reilly, 5-1.

Unlimited Class — Mike Davis, Beall, pinned Gary Moore (:28).

Uncle Sam Grabs Most Of Money Won By Bettor

BOWIE, Md. (AP) —Albert Lepore of Pawtucket, R.I., lost 94 per cent of his $42,492 daily double winnings to Uncle Sam Thursday, without being present when the bite was made.

A spokesman for Bowie race track said a check for $39,764 was given to two Internal Revenue Service agents. The IRS had attached Lepore's winning tickets Tuesday until the income tax due on them could be paid.

Jack Loome, Bowie general manager, said the track would hold the remaining $2,528 for Lepore, subject to an income tax lien of $1,235 from the State of Maryland. Collection of the Maryland income tax would leave Lepore only $1,293 from his $42,492 won on last Saturday's daily double.

An IRS spokesman said, however, that Lepore might be entitled to a refund when his total federal tax liability for 1963 is ultimately determined.

Lepore turned in to the track Tuesday two $10 tickets on the winning double combination of Nos. 12 and 7. Mr. Tink won the first race, returning $49.40 for $2, and Harvest Tan, winner of the second, paid $209.20.

Mt. Savage, Southern, Piedmont, Paw Paw In Tournaments Tonight

Indians Battle Boonsboro In District Tilt

Highlanders Meet Walkersville At South Hagerstown

Mt. Savage High Schoo will be making its first appearance in a Class B Maryland District One Tournament tonight when it engages Boonsboro High School of Washington County in a semi-final round game at South Hagerstown High School.

The Mt. Savage-Boonsboro tilt is the first on a tripleheader program and will get under way at 6 o'clock.

Last year Coach John Thomas' Indians made the district Class A tournament by beating Beall but lost out to Walkersville, 74-72, after eliminating Southern of Oakland, 82-56. In other years it was either Valley or Bruce earning the right to represent this county in the district "B" contests.

Mt. Savage qualified for the Hagerstown tourney by winning a playoff game from Valley High on Tuesday, 79-50, after having split even with the Black Knights during the regular season. Mt. Savage's record is 16-6.

Southern vs. Walkersville

In tonight's other Class B semi-final in the Hub City, Coach Carl Schoonover's Southern High cagers of Oakland tackle Walkersville High School of Frederick County at 7:30 o'clock. The Highlanders earned a tourney berth by sweeping its series with the Northern High School Huskies.

Last season Southern High was in Class A and was ousted from the district tourney in the opening round by Mt. Savage. Two years ago, however, the Highlanders made their best showing when they ousted Allegany, 90-71, whipped Aberdeen at Hagerstown, 56-50, and lost out in the state "A" finals at College Park to Sparrows Point, 68-61, after eliminating Gaithersburg, 51-46.

Southern's record this season is 12-7.

Winners in tonight's semi-final games will play for the district "B" championship Saturday at 3:30 p. m.

Hubs Battle Frederick

The third game on tonight's card pits Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick High Cadets against Joe Proksa's North Hagerstown Hubs at 9 o'clock in a Class AA semi-final. North High (13-8) earned a district tourney berth by beating South Hagerstown's Rebels, 51-50 and 58-56. The Hubs will be playing Frederick for the third time this season. The Cadets copped the second game, 67-35, at home, after losing the opener, 55-46.

Frederick, with Brooks at the helm for the 14th year, has won 14 out of 18 games this season. Two of the setbacks came at the hands of South Hagerstown, 62-40 and 63-56.

The winner of the Frederick-North High game meets Annapolis High Saturday night at 8:30 in the Class AA district finale.

Brooks Robinson Signs For $33,000

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Brooks Robinson, the major leagues' all-star third-baseman in 1962, signed Thursday with the Baltimore Orioles for an estimated $33,000.

Club officials indicated that the 25-year old Robinson had received a raise of between $6,000 and $7,000. Robinson batted .303 with 23 home runs and 86 runs batted in last season and was selected on the 1962 UPI major league all-star team.

Robinson showed up unexpectedly Thursday and signed his contract after a brief talk with club President Lee MacPhail.

"Stub" Rase Dies Colts' Mound Ace

Won 66, Lost 31 Here Copped 22 In 1929

By C. V. BURNS

IRVIN "Stub" Rase, the pitching ace of Cumberland's first championship team in organized baseball, the 1927 Colts, died late Wednesday night in Barberton, Ohio.

"STUB" RASE

The news of Rase's death came to us from John J. Byrnes, the Eckhart grocer and Colts' first sacker in the days "Stub" was a standout hurler. Byrnes was advised of Rase's death by John Hendley, of Frostburg, a cousin of the one-time pitcher.

Rase pitched in more games and scored more victories for Cumberland teams in the Middle Atlantic League than any other hurler who performed for the local club during its eight years in organized ball.

In our "As You Were Series" on April 28, 1953, he wrote the following about Rase:

"He first attracted attention as a pitcher while he was playing twilight ball in a mining company league (Consol Coal) around Frostburg. Frank Spates and Alonzo (Lonnie Brown) gave him a tryout with the Frostburg Demons, topnotch semi-pro team, and he made good by beating several Blue Ridge League clubs in the early 1920s. He also made a creditable showing while pitching in an exhibition game against the Baltimore Orioles.

"This lad launched his minor league career with Hagerstown in the Blue Ridge loop and President Jimmy McGuire acquired him from the Hubs to build Cumberland's first M. A. pennant winner in 1927. The Colts also obtained Joe Conti, third sacker, from Hagerstown, and Dave Black, second baseman, and Cy Morgan, outfielder, from the New York-Penn League, to make the locals the best balanced club in the circuit.

"In 1927 this twirler was the Colts' ace with 14 wins and six losses. He was the league's third best pitcher. Claude Gillenwater of Wheeling, topped 'em all with 14-3 and Charley "Chuck" Trader, Fairmont southpaw, was runner-up with 12-4. The other Colt regulars were Warren Rambo (11-10), Tommy McGuire (8-10) and Sam Wernke (6-8).

"That's the year the Colts had the league's four top infielders — John Byrnes .993, Dave Black, .969, John "Shine" Cortazzo .948 and Joe Conti .953 — and owned the team fielding average of .968, best in the circuit.

"Manager Gus Thompson headed the Colts in hitting with .326, followed by Eddie Conley .311, Cy Morgan .307 and Frank Gleich .301. Conley was the league's home run king with 16 round-trippers.

"Altogether Rase pitched in over 100 contests in his four years with the Colts, winning 66 and losing 31 for the nice average of .680.

"His best year, however, was 1929 when he was the No. 1 pitcher in the league with 22 wins and four losses for the amazing mark of .846. He also had the lowest earned run average of 2.63 and hurled more innings than any other pitcher in the league, a total of 243. Those 22 wins, incidentally, represented one-third of the 65 victories credited to the Dobbins that season.

"In 1928, Rase's record was 16-11 and in his final year with the Colts (1930) he notched 14 wins against 10 defeats. Over four years he averaged 16 wins a season for the Ponies.

"At the close of the 1930 campaign, the Colts sold Rase to Harrisburg of the New York-Penn League."

IN THE OPINION of Johnny Byrnes, who served as regular first sacker of Cumberland teams for nine years, and also managed the local club for several years, Rase was the "best pitcher the Colts had in those days."

JOHNNY BYRNES

"Stub had a curve ball with four or five variations, had pinpoint control, walked very few batters and told his outfielders where to play when he pitched to certain batters. He was one of the best fielding pitchers I've ever seen," Byrnes commented.

RASE was a native of Frostburg and lived on Grant Street. He had resided in Ohio for about 25 years and had bee employed as a crane operator for a steel company until several years ago when his health began to fail. "Stub" was about 60 years old at the time of his death. He is survived by a brother, Alvin, and a sister Hilda, both of whom make their home in Ohio.

The body will be brought to Frostburg for burial.

Skiing Conditions Are Good At Davis

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Enough snow is on the ground to provide good to excellent conditions at three of West Virginia's major ski slopes this week end.

The State Commerce Department said a one to two-foot base with 8 inches of powdery snow was reported at Weiss Knob and 15 to 20 inches on the Cabin Mountain Mountain slopes in the Blackwater Falls area near Davis.

Chestnut Ridge near Morgantown has a 4 to 10 inch snow base, and plans to operate if the weather holds. No reports were available for Bald Knob near Berkeley or Oglebay Park in Wheeling, the department said.

NO KNOCKOUTS

Dutchmen Nip Saint Patrick's, Grab CYL Lead

SS. Peter and Paul's Flying Dutchmen last night scored an overtime 36-33 victory over St. Patrick's to climb into first place in the Catholic Youth League's second half championship race.

In other games of yesterday's CYL tripleheader at the SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, St. Michael's edged Mt. Savage St. Patrick's 33-32, and St. Ambrose downed St. Peter's, 39-30.

With 20 seconds left to play in the overtime period of the thriller between the top contenders, Gary Neus tossed in a tie-breaking lay-up following a steal executed by teammate Kevin Mattingly. Pat McLean, of SS. Peter and Paul, closed out the scoring with a free throw.

The triumph was the fourth without a loss in second half play for the Dutchmen, who were runners-up in first round competition. First half champion St. Patrick's is now 5-1, and St. Michael's is right behind in third position with a 4-1 log.

Neus sparked the Dutchmen's victory last night by scoring 15 points and grabbing ten rebounds. For St. Patrick's, Ralph Hager tallied ten points and picked off nine rebounds, and Ricky Scaletta played an outstanding floor game.

League-leading scorer Regis Arnold hooped 19 points to pace St. Michael's to its uphill win, and Eddie Barth had a like number for Mt. Savage.

Trailing by seven points at intermission (20-13), St. Ambrose roared from behind in the second half to chalk up its first victory.

Casey Halts Drills After Mets Complain

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (UPI) — Casey Stengel Thursday temporarily discontinued the daily calisthenic drills which pitcher Jay Hook was conducting for the New York Mets. Stengel said too many players were complaining of aching muscles as a result of the drills.

Huck Miers' Lions Meet Elk Garden

Ridgeley Opposes Ft. Ashby; Pirates Face Wardensville

Paw Paw (20-0) and Piedmont (18-1), the tri-state area's winningest teams this season, are slated to swing into action tonight in a pair of West Virginia Class A sectional tournaments that may bring them together for the second straight year in a regional showdown next weekend.

Coach Lewis Close's unbeaten Pirates play the Wardensville High Warriors, (8-11) a team they have trounced twice this season, in the opening game of the Section 3, Region 4 tournament on the Paw Paw court tonight at 7:30 o'clock. In the other semi-final tilt, Capon Bridge (6-11) faces the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney (4-16).

Pirates Hot Favorites

Paw Paw, sparked by Roland Hamilton and Larry Harding, appears to be a shoo in in this tourney which draws to a conclusion Saturday night. The bold Buccaneers already have belted the Warriors, 88-38 and 90-28 and also hold 77-27 and 64-41 decisions over the Deaf School cagers. Capon Bridge has trimmed the Lions from Romney by scores of 35-25 and 33-32.

Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont cagers tackle Elk Garden tonight at 8:30 in the Section 1, Region 4 tourney at Potomac State College after Fort Ashby's Eagles do battle with the Ridgeley High Blackhawks in the 7 opener.

Lions Win 13 In Row

Piedmont, winner of 13 consecutive games, has gone unbeaten since December 21 when it dropped a 51-49 heartbreaker to Valley of Lonaconing in their only meeting this season. The Lions have beaten Elk Garden, 48-26 and 70-33, and Ridgeley, 63-52 and 86-54. Ridgeley has split even with Fort Ashby, losing 56-50 and winning 53-47. Fort Ashby's record for the season is 9-12, Elk Garden's 9-10 and Ridgeley's 7-13.

Championship games in both tournaments are slated for Saturday night with the winners earning berths in the Region 4 tourney at Potomac State College, March 8-9, along with the victors this week at Shepherd College and Moorefield.

Co-Champs In PVC

Piedmont (14-0) and Paw Paw (10-0) are co-champions of the Potomac Valley Conference. Last season when Paw Paw was 17-6 and Piedmont (16-8) the teams tangled in the 4-A regional at Shepherd College and the Mineral countians won, 61-47. The Lions then took Musselman in the finals, 45-26, but lost out to Tunnelton, 58-39, in an area game at Oakland.

BIG ODDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The highest recorded odds in man-to-man betting on a heavyweight title fight was 20-1, the price at which Joe Louis was favored to beat each of four challengers: Harry Thomas, Al McCoy, Gus Dorazio and Tony Musto.

Girls' Play Day Attracts 150 Junior High Students

Champions Named In 8th And 9th Grade Basketball

More than 150 eighth and ninth grade girl athletes from five county schools participated in the Play Day program staged yesterday at the Allegany High School gymnasium.

Activities included basketball games, basket-per-minute contests, foul shooting contests and table tennis tournaments. Schools represented were Fort Hill, Allegany, Beall, Oldtown and Flintstone.

Twelve basketball teams were organized, with three girls from each school on a team. The ninth grade competition was won by the Steers, and the Cardinals were eighth grade champions.

Members of the winning ninth grade team were Donna Fletcher, Elaine McCusker and Linda Kinton, of Flintstone; Harriet Benson and Donna Twigg, Oldtown; Carolyn Dru and Phyllis Shobe, Beall; Kathy Verdery, Janet Barrick and Paulette Sheehe, Allegany; and Darlene Counihan and Carol Palumbo, Fort Hill.

Mt. Savage, Southern, Piedmont, Paw Paw In Tournaments Tonight

Indians Battle Boonsboro In District Tilt

Highlanders Meet Walkersville At South Hagerstown

Mt. Savage High Schoo will be making its first appearance in a Class B Maryland District One Tournament tonight when it engages Boonsboro High School of Washington County in a semi-final round game at South Hagerstown High School.

The Mt. Savage-Boonsboro tilt is the first on a tripleheader program and will get under way at 6 o'clock.

Last year Coach John Thomas' Indians made the district Class A tournament by beating Beall but lost out to Walkersville, 74-72, after eliminating Southern of Oakland, 82-56. In other years it was either Valley or Bruce earning the right to represent this county in the district "B" contests.

Mt. Savage qualified for the Hagerstown tourney by winning a playoff game from Valley High on Tuesday, 79-50, after having split even with the Black Knights during the regular season. Mt. Savage's record is 16-6.

Southern vs. Walkersville

In tonight's other Class B semi-final in the Hub City, Coach Carl Schoonover's Southern High cagers of Oakland tackle Walkersville High School of Frederick County at 7:30 o'clock. The Highlanders earned a tourney berth by sweeping its series with the Northern High School Huskies.

Last season Southern High was in Class A and was ousted from the district tourney in the opening round by Mt. Savage. Two years ago, however, the Highlanders made their best showing when they ousted Allegany, 90-71, whipped Aberdeen at Hagerstown, 56-50, and lost out in the state "A" finals at College Park to Sparrows Point, 68-61, after eliminating Gaithersburg, 51-46.

Southern's record this season is 12-7.

Winners in tonight's semi-final games will play for the district "B" championship Saturday at 3:30 p. m.

Hubs Battle Frederick

The third game on tonight's card pits Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick High Cadets against Joe Proksa's North Hagerstown Hubs at 9 o'clock in a Class AA semi-final. North High (13-8) earned a district tourney berth by beating South Hagerstown's Rebels, 51-50 and 58-56. The Hubs will be playing Frederick for the third time this season. The Cadets copped the second game, 67-35, at home, after losing the opener, 55-46.

Frederick, with Brooks at the helm for the 14th year, has won 14 out of 18 games this season. Two of the setbacks came at the hands of South Hagerstown, 62-40 and 63-56.

The winner of the Frederick-North High game meets Annapolis High Saturday night at 8:30 in the Class AA district finale.

Brooks Robinson Signs For $33,000

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Brooks Robinson, the major leagues' all-star third-baseman in 1962, signed Thursday with the Baltimore Orioles for an estimated $33,000.

Club officials indicated that the 25-year old Robinson had received a raise of between $6,000 and $7,000. Robinson batted .303 with 23 home runs and 86 runs batted in last season and was selected on the 1962 UPI major league all-star team.

Robinson showed up unexpectedly Thursday and signed his contract after a brief talk with club President Lee MacPhail.

"Stub" Rase Dies Colts' Mound Ace

Won 66, Lost 31 Here Copped 22 In 1929

By C. V. BURNS

IRVIN "Stub" Rase, the pitching ace of Cumberland's first championship team in organized baseball, the 1927 Colts, died late Wednesday night in Barberton, Ohio.

The news of Rase's death came to us from John J. Byrnes, the Eckhart grocer and Colts' first sacker in the days "Stub" was a standout hurler. Byrnes was advised of Rase's death by John Hendley, of Frostburg, a cousin of the one-time pitcher.

Rase pitched in more games and scored more victories for Cumberland teams in the Middle Atlantic League than any other hurler who performed for the local club during its eight years in organized ball.

In our "As You Were Series" on April 28, 1953, he wrote the following about Rase:

"He first attracted attention as a pitcher while he was playing twilight ball in a mining company league (Consol Coal) around Frostburg. Frank Spates and Alonzo (Lonnie Brown) gave him a tryout with the Frostburg Demons, topnotch semi-pro team, and he made good by beating several Blue Ridge League clubs in the early 1920s. He also made a creditable showing while pitching in an exhibition game against the Baltimore Orioles.

"This lad launched his minor league career with Hagerstown in the Blue Ridge loop and President Jimmy McGuire acquired him from the Hubs to build Cumberland's first M. A. pennant winner in 1927. The Colts also obtained Joe Conti, third sacker, from Hagerstown, and Dave Black, second baseman, and Cy Morgan, outfielder, from the New York-Penn League, to make the locals the best balanced club in the circuit.

"In 1927 this twirler was the Colts' ace with 14 wins and six losses. He was the league's third best pitcher. Claude Gillenwater of Wheeling, topped 'em all with 14-3 and Charley "Chuck" Trader, Fairmont southpaw, was runner-up with 12-4. The other Colt regulars were Warren Rambo (11-10), Tommy McGuire (8-10) and Sam Wernke (6-8).

"That's the year the Colts had the league's four top infielders — John Byrnes .993, Dave Black, .969, John "Shine" Cortazzo .948 and Joe Conti .953 — and owned the team fielding average of .968, best in the circuit.

"Manager Gus Thompson headed the Colts in hitting with .326, followed by Eddie Conley .311, Cy Morgan .307 and Frank Gleich .301. Conley was the league's home run king with 16 round-trippers.

"Altogether Rase pitched in over 100 contests in his four years with the Colts, winning 66 and losing 31 for the nice average of .680.

"His best year, however, was 1929 when he was the No. 1 pitcher in the league with 22 wins and four losses for the amazing mark of .846. He also had the lowest earned run average of 2.63 and hurled more innings than any other pitcher in the league, a total of 243. Those 22 wins, incidentally, represented one-third of the 65 victories credited to the Dobbins that season.

"In 1928, Rase's record was 16-11 and in his final year with the Colts (1930) he notched 14 wins against 10 defeats. Over four years he averaged 16 wins a season for the Ponies.

"At the close of the 1930 campaign, the Colts sold Rase to Harrisburg of the New York-Penn League."

IN THE OPINION of Johnny Byrnes, who served as regular first sacker of Cumberland teams for nine years, and also managed the local club for several years, Rase was the "best pitcher the Colts had in those days."

"Stub had a curve ball with four or five variations, had pinpoint control, walked very few batters and told his outfielders where to play when he pitched to certain batters. He was one of the best fielding pitchers I've ever seen," Byrnes commented.

RASE was a native of Frostburg and lived on Grant Street. He had resided in Ohio for about 25 years and had bee employed as a crane operator for a steel company until several years ago when his health began to fail. "Stub" was about 60 years old at the time of his death. He is survived by a brother, Alvin, and a sister Hilda, both of whom make their home in Ohio.

The body will be brought to Frostburg for burial.

Dutchmen Nip Saint Patrick's, Grab CYL Lead

SS. Peter & Paul Wins In Overtime

SS. Peter and Paul's Flying Dutchmen last night scored an overtime 36-33 victory over St. Patrick's to climb into first place in the Catholic Youth League's second half championship race.

In other games of yesterday's CYL tripleheader at the SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, St. Michael's edged Mt. Savage St. Patrick's 33-32, and St. Ambrose downed St. Peter's, 39-30.

With 20 seconds left to play in the overtime period of the thriller between the top contenders, Gary Neus tossed in a tie-breaking layup following a steal executed by teammate Kevin Mattingly. Pat McLean, of SS. Peter and Paul, closed out the scoring with a free throw.

The triumph was the fourth without a loss in second half play for the Dutchmen, who were runners-up in first round competition. First half champion St. Patrick's is now 5-1, and St. Michael's is right behind in third position with a 4-1 log.

Neus sparked the Dutchmen's victory last night by scoring 15 points and grabbing ten rebounds. For St. Patrick's, Ralph Hager tallied ten points and picked off nine rebounds, and Ricky Scaletta played an outstanding floor game.

League-leading scorer Regis Arnold hooped 19 points to pace St. Michael's to its uphill win, and Eddie Barth had a like number for Mt. Savage.

Trailing by seven points at intermission (20-13), St. Ambrose roared from behind in the second half to chalk up its first victory.

Casey Halts Drills After Mets Complain

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (UPI) — Casey Stengel Thursday temporarily discontinued the daily calisthenic drills which pitcher Jay Hook was conducting for the New York Mets. Stengel said too many players were complaining of aching muscles as a result of the drills.

Skiing Conditions Are Good At Davis

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Enough snow is on the ground to provide good to excellent conditions at three of West Virginia's major ski slopes this week end.

The State Commerce Department said a one to two-foot base with 8 inches of powdery snow was reported at Weiss Knob and 15 to 20 inches on the Cabin Mountain Mountain slopes in the Blackwater Falls area near Davis.

Chestnut Ridge near Morgantown has a 4 to 10 inch snow base, and plans to operate if the weather holds. No reports were available for Bald Knob near Berkeley or Oglebay Park in Wheeling, the department said.

NO KNOCKOUTS

LONDON (UPI) — Charley Mitchell, England's famous old-time heavyweight who fought a 39-round draw with John L. Sullivan, never was credited with a knockout victory in his 27 fights.

Huck Miers' Lions Meet Elk Garden

Ridgeley Opposes Ft. Ashby; Pirates Face Wardensville

Paw Paw (20-0) and Piedmont (18-1), the tri-state area's winningest teams this season, are slated to swing into action tonight in a pair of West Virginia Class A sectional tournaments that may bring them together for the second straight year in a regional showdown next weekend.

Coach Lewis Close's unbeaten Pirates play the Wardensville High Warriors, (8-11) a team they have trounced twice this season, in the opening game of the Section 3, Region 4 tournament on the Paw Paw court tonight at 7:30 o'clock. In the other semi-final tilt, Capon Bridge (6-11) faces the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney (4-16).

Pirates Hot Favorites

Paw Paw, sparked by Roland Hamilton and Larry Harding, appears to be a shoo in in this tourney which draws to a conclusion Saturday night. The bold Buccaneers already have belted the Warriors, 88-38 and 90-28 and also hold 77-27 and 64-41 decisions over the Deaf School cagers. Capon Bridge has trimmed the Lions from Romney by scores of 35-25 and 33-32.

Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont cagers tackle Elk Garden tonight at 8:30 in the Section 1, Region 4 tourney at Potomac State College after Fort Ashby's Eagles do battle with the Ridgeley High Blackhawks in the 7 opener.

Lions Win 13 In Row

Piedmont, winner of 13 consecutive games, has gone unbeaten since December 21 when it dropped a 51-49 heartbreaker to Valley of Lonaconing in their only meeting this season. The Lions have beaten Elk Garden, 48-26 and 70-33, and Ridgeley, 63-52 and 86-54. Ridgeley has split even with Fort Ashby, losing 56-50 and winning 53-47. Fort Ashby's record for the season is 9-12, Elk Garden's 9-10 and Ridgeley's 7-13.

Championship games in both tournaments are slated for Saturday night with the winners earning berths in the Region 4 tourney at Potomac State College, March 8-9, along with the victors this week at Shepherd College and Moorefield.

Co-Champs In PVC

Piedmont (14-0) and Paw Paw (10-0) are co-champions of the Potomac Valley Conference. Last season when Paw Paw was 17-6 and Piedmont (16-8) the teams tangled in the 4-A regional at Shepherd College and the Mineral countians won, 61-47. The Lions then took Musselman in the finals, 45-26, but lost out to Tunnelton, 58-39, in an area game at Oakland.

BIG ODDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The highest recorded odds in man-to-man betting on a heavyweight title fight was 20-1, the price at which Joe Louis was favored to beat each of four challengers: Harry Thomas, Al McCoy, Gus Dorazio and Tony Musto.

Champions Named In 8th And 9th Grade Basketball

More than 150 eighth and ninth grade girl athletes from five county schools participated in the Play Day program staged yesterday at the Allegany High School gymnasium.

Activities included basketball games, basket-per-minute contests, foul shooting contests and table tennis tournaments. Schools represented were Fort Hill, Allegany, Beall, Oldtown and Flintstone.

Twelve basketball teams were organized, with three girls from each school on a team. The ninth grade competition was won by the Steers, and the Cardinals were eighth grade champions.

Members of the winning ninth grade team were Donna Fletcher, Elaine McCusker and Linda Kinton, of Flintstone; Harriet Benson and Donna Twigg, Oldtown; Carolyn Dru and Phyllis Shobe, Beall; Kathy Verdery, Janet Barrick and Paulette Sheehe, Allegany; and Darlene Counihan and Carol Palumbo, Fort Hill.

Players on the Cardinal team were Lulu Shreve and Nancy Robinette, Flintstone; Nancy Ritchey and Shirley Fletcher, Oldtown; Lynn Kennedy and Linda Chapman, Beall; Patty Farrell, Nancy Stickley and Linda Ritchie, Allegany; and Joyce Hansrote, Joan Stafford, Ann Brant, Patty Snyder, Sandra Browning and Sandy Robinson, Fort Hill.

The program was directed by Robert E. Pence, county supervisor of physical education. He was assisted by Miss Eleanor Rizer and Mrs. Lenore Auker, of the Allegany faculty; Mrs. Joann Eckard and Mrs. Henrietta Snyder, Fort Hill; Mrs. Joan Nickel, Flintstone; Mrs. Annabelle Leatherman, of Oldtown, and Mrs. Gladys Faherty, Beall.

Indians Win Over Moorefield, 79-61; Title Game Tonight

Franklin High School's Panthers and Circleville High School's Indians marched into the finals of the West Virginia Section 2, Region 4, Class A basketball tournament last night when they eliminated Mathias and Moorefield in opening round games of the two-day event at Moorefield High School.

Coach Ed Wimer's Panthers extended their victory string to seven games by downing a stubborn Mathias quint by the score of 59-51 while Coach Guy Propst's Indians from Circleville ousted the Moorefield Yellowjackets to the tune of 79-61.

Finale Set Tonight

The championship game between Franklin and Circleville is set for tonight following the consolation contest between Moorefield and Mathias at 7 p. m.

Franklin, two-times winner over Mathias during the regular season, was extended before it pulled out a victory over the Hardy countians last night. The score was knotted at 40-40 going into the final period when the Panthers outpointed their opponents 19 to 11. Larry Hedrick's basket put Franklin ahead to stay at 44-43 after the score had been knotted 12 times.

Hedrick's 24 points was high for the Pendleton countians, Jimmie Edwards contributed 13 points and Joe Blizzard garnered 11. Gary Strawderman sparked Mathias with 15 tallies while Don Hoover and Ron Whetzel collected 11 each.

Circleville made it three in a row over Moorefield by downing the Jackets last night. The Indians jumped off to a 18-15 lead at the quarter, held a 43-28 advantage at halftime and held the long end of a 60-41 count at the close of the third period.

Williams Scores 33

Ronnie Williams dumped in 33 points for the Tribe by sinking 15 shots from the field and converted 3 of 5 charity tosses. Donnie Boggs garnered 14 points and Roger Lambert accounted for an even dozen markers.

Garry Barr was Moorefield's high scorer with 14 points, Jim Bosley accounted for 12 and Dick Riggleman and Richard Eye had 10 points each. The loss was Moorefield's 19th in 21 outings.

Heyman Heads All-America Named By AP

Bearcats' Bonham Second In Voting

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Art Heyman of Duke, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati and Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola, whose exploits helped their teams to national ranking, top the 1963 college basketball All-America announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Rounding out the first team are Gary Bradds of Ohio State and Barry Kramer of New York University. Heyman and Harkness are seniors, Bonham, Bradds and Kramer juniors.

Two seniors, Rod Thorn of West Virginia and Tom Thacker of Cincinnati, two juniors, Cotton Nash of Kentucky and Walt Hazzard of UCLA, and Princeton's star sophomore, Bill Bradley, make up a second team.

The third team is comprised of Nick Werkman, Seton Hall junior, and four seniors, Tony Yates of Cincinnati, Bill Green of Colorado State University, Eddie Miles of Seattle and Jimmy Rayl of Indiana.

Mel Counts of Oregon State, Ken Charlton of Colorado, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Paul Siles of Creighton and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University head the honorable mention list. The list also includes George Wilson of Cincinnati, Mack Herndon of Bradley, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Dave Downey of Illinois and Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green.

The 6-foot-5 Heyman, from Rockville Centre, N.Y., sparked the Duke Blue Devils to an unbeaten record in regular season play in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He topped the voting by 183 sports writers and radio-TV broadcasters.

On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team nod, Heyman polled 142 firsts and 744 points altogether. Bonham, also 6-5, whose hot shooting helped Cincinnati's National Collegiate champions to another Missouri Valley Conference title, was runner-up in the voting with 132 firsts and 706 points.

Harkness, a "small" 6-2 who sparked Loyola to 21 straight victories was third with 64 firsts and 428 points comfortably ahead of the 6-8 Bradds and the 6-4 Kramer.

The voting was very close after the top three with Bradds, Kramer, Thorn and Nash virtually even at 321, 319, 313 and 307, respectively. Thorn polled 49 first place votes to 47 for each of the other three, but Bradds and Kramer slipped in ahead of him with more second place nods.

Thacker, Hazzard, Bradley and Werkman also were close with 256, 249, 246 and 238 points, respectively. So, too, was the voting on the next level with Rayl getting 167, Miles 162, Green 143, Yates 124 and Counts 118.

Battey Adds New Training Wrinkle

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) —Earl Battey, 25 pounds lighter than a year ago, has added a new training wrinkle to make him even more agile in his catching duties for the Minnesota Twins.

Thursday, he moved in to catch during batting practice while wearing five-pound metal weights taped to his ankles. "I hope this will make my legs feel lighter when I have to move around behind the plate when the season opens," said Battey, considered by many to be the best all-around catcher in the major leagues.

Earl is down to 237 pounds after eight days of practice. A year ago at this time, Battey, troubled by a thyroid condition, weighed in at 262. He trimmed down to 245 by the time the season opened.

Davidson Tops Keydets, 108-71, Hetzel Gets 28

Furman Eliminates Colonials, 57-54

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Second - seeded Davidson advanced with ease into the semi-finals of the 43rd southern conference basketball tournament Thursday but highly regarded Furman ran into unexpected difficulty in its debut.

Davidson, led by all - southern center Fred Hetzel's 28 points, and 66.6 shooting percentage, socked Virginia Military Institute, 108-71, in an afternoon encounter.

But the fourth - seeded Paladins had to rely on last - minute field goals by Jerry Smith and Jack Halford to squeak past ambitious George Washington, 57-54, in the curtain raiser.

Furman meets the winner of a 7:30 p.m. EST match between top-seeded West Virginia and Richmond (No. 8). Davidson will be challenged in the semi-final Friday by the winner of the William and Mary (No. 3) Virginia Tech (No. 6) game at 9:30 p.m.

The Keydets challenged Davidson in the early minutes, but the big Wildcats raced to a commanding 47-35 halftime lead. Every member of the Davidson squad who saw action broke into the scoring column.

In addition to Hetzel's performance, the Wildcats got 16 points from forward Bill Jarman, 15 from forward Terry Holland, 13 from forward Bill Beerman and 12 points from brilliant playmaker Barry Teague. VMI guard Bill Blair was high for the Keydets with 22 points. Davidson outrebounded VMI 69-30.

LaSalle Hosts Hyndman Quint

LaSalle High School's Explorers will play the twenty-first and final game on their regular season schedule when they host Hyndman High School's Hornets, champions of the Bedford County League, tonight at 8 o'clock at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium.

Coach John Keller's Hornets eked out a 76-73 decision over the Explores at Hyndman January 9.

Al Lopez Lines Up Number One Infield

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox gave the first official recognition of his No. 1 infield for 1963 today.

He announced that a combination of Joe Cunningham at first, Nellie Fox at second, Ron Hansen at short and rookie Pete Ward at third would open the initial infield drill of the spring Friday.

The inner cordon will represent a 50 per cent change from last season when Luis Aparicio and Al Smith, the two regulars traded to Baltimore, were at short and third.

Officials Named For First County Mat Tournament

Joe Stanislawczyk To Referee; Diehl Is Official Scorer

Officials for the first annual Allegany County high school wrestling tournament, to be staged at Allegany High next weekend, have been announced by tournament director Ronald Chapman.

Joseph Stanislawczyk, wrestling coach at Keyser High School, has been selected to referee all of the individual matches, and Tom Diehl will serve as official scorer. The latter is a former Pennsylvania state high school champion.

Timers will be Gerard P. Calhoun, Beall High School football coach; William Marley, wrestling coach at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Ed Dawson, assistant football coach at Fort Hill.

Three schools will participate in this initial tournament—Allegany, Beall and Bruce. All of these schools instituted wrestling as a varsity sport this year.

The two-day affair will be under way next Friday at 7 p. m. All semi-final matches will be staged on the first night, and the finals will be held on Saturday, beginning at 8 p. m. Admission prices will be 50c for adults and 25c for students.

Individual matches will be held in 12 weight classes — 95-pound, 103, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 180-pound and heavyweight unlimited.

Scoring will be on the basis of 11 points for the first place, seven for second and five for third. The winning team will receive a trophy donated by the Sports Shoppe, and individual winners will be awarded bronze medals.

Detroit Tigers Sign Fernandez

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Shortstop Chico Fernandez ended his two-day holdout and signed with the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Fernandez, who hit 20 home runs last season — more than any Detroit shortstop in history—reportedly received about $18,000. He immediately took part in the three-hour drill at Henley Field.

Eppa Rixey, 72, Hall Of Famer, Taken By Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eppa Rixey, the winningest left-handed pitcher in his playing days from 1912 to 1933 and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, died Thursday. He was 72.

He posted a 266-251 record in 21 year with the Philadelphia Phils and the Cincinnati Reds. It was a record that stood until Warren Spahn broke it in 1959.

Rixey, who became a successful insurance executive in suburban Mairemont after leaving baseball, was elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame only a month ago.

Nat's Dave Stenhouse Suffers Muscle Pull

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. — (UPI) — Pitcher Dave Stenhouse, who started the second all-star game in Chicago last year, came up with a pulled hamstring muscle Thursday.

Stenhouse was an early-season star for the Washington Senators in 1962 and had a 10-4 record at the halfway mark. He developed a bad knee in the second part of the season and lost eight of his last nine decisions.

Franklin And Circleville Cagers Score Sectional Victories

Panthers Top Mathias High Cagers, 59-51

Indians Win Over Moorefield, 79-61; Title Game Tonight

Franklin High School's Panthers and Circleville High School's Indians marched into the finals of the West Virginia Section 2, Region 4, Class A basketball tournament last night when they eliminated Mathias and Moorefield in opening round games of the two-day event at Moorefield High School.

Coach Ed Wimer's Panthers extended their victory string to seven games by downing a stubborn Mathias quint by the score of 59-51 while Coach Guy Propst's Indians from Circleville ousted the Moorefield Yellowjackets to the tune of 79-61.

Finale Set Tonight

The championship game between Franklin and Circleville is set for tonight following the consolation contest between Moorefield and Mathias at 7 p. m.

Franklin, two-times winner over Mathias during the regular season, was extended before it pulled out a victory over the Hardy countians last night. The score was knotted at 40-40 going into the final period when the Panthers outpointed their opponents 19 to 11. Larry Hedrick's basket put Franklin ahead to stay at 44-43 after the score had been knotted 12 times.

Hedrick's 24 points was high for the Pendleton countians, Jimmie Edwards contributed 13 points and Joe Blizzard garnered 11. Gary Strawderman sparked Mathias with 15 tallies while Don Hoover and Ron Whetzel collected 11 each.

Circleville made it three in a row over Moorefield by downing the Jackets last night. The Indians jumped off to a 18-15 lead at the quarter, held a 43-28 advantage at halftime and held the long end of a 60-41 count at the close of the third period.

Williams Scores 33

Ronnie Williams dumped in 33 points for the Tribe by sinking 15 shots from the field and converted 3 of 5 charity tosses. Donnie Boggs garnered 14 points and Roger Lambert accounted for an even dozen markers.

Garry Barr was Moorefield's high scorer with 14 points, Jim Bosley accounted for 12 and Dick Riggleman and Richard Eye had 10 points each. The loss was Moorefield's 19th in 21 outings.

Heyman Heads All-America Named By AP

Bearcats' Bonham Second In Voting

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Art Heyman of Duke, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati and Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola, whose exploits helped their teams to national ranking, top the 1963 college basketball All-America announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Rounding out the first team are Gary Bradds of Ohio State and Barry Kramer of New York University. Heyman and Harkness are seniors, Bonham, Bradds and Kramer juniors.

Two seniors, Rod Thorn of West Virginia and Tom Thacker of Cincinnati, two juniors, Cotton Nash of Kentucky and Walt Hazzard of UCLA, and Princeton's star sophomore, Bill Bradley, make up a second team.

The third team is comprised of Nick Werkman, Seton Hall junior, and four seniors, Tony Yates of Cincinnati, Bill Green of Colorado State University, Eddie Miles of Seattle and Jimmy Rayl of Indiana.

Mel Counts of Oregon State, Ken Charlton of Colorado, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Paul Siles of Creighton and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University head the honorable mention list. The list also includes George Wilson of Cincinnati, Mack Herndon of Bradley, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Dave Downey of Illinois and Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green.

The 6-foot-5 Heyman, from Rockville Centre, N.Y., sparked the Duke Blue Devils to an unbeaten record in regular season play in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He topped the voting by 183 sports writers and radio-TV broadcasters.

On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team nod, Heyman polled 142 firsts and 744 points altogether. Bonham, also 6-5, whose hot shooting helped Cincinnati's National Collegiate champions to another Missouri Valley Conference title, was runner-up in the voting with 132 firsts and 706 points.

Harkness, a "small" 6-2 who sparked Loyola to 21 straight victories was third with 64 firsts and 428 points comfortably ahead of the 6-8 Bradds and the 6-4 Kramer.

The voting was very close after the top three with Bradds, Kramer, Thorn and Nash virtually even at 321, 319, 313 and 307, respectively. Thorn polled 49 first place votes to 47 for each of the other three, but Bradds and Kramer slipped in ahead of him with more second place nods.

Thacker, Hazzard, Bradley and Werkman also were close with 256, 249, 246 and 238 points, respectively. So, too, was the voting on the next level with Rayl getting 167, Miles 162, Green 143, Yates 124 and Counts 118.

Battey Adds New Training Wrinkle

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) —Earl Battey, 25 pounds lighter than a year ago, has added a new training wrinkle to make him even more agile in his catching duties for the Minnesota Twins.

Thursday, he moved in to catch during batting practice while wearing five-pound metal weights taped to his ankles. "I hope this will make my legs feel lighter when I have to move around behind the plate when the season opens," said Battey, considered by many to be the best all-around catcher in the major leagues.

Earl is down to 237 pounds after eight days of practice. A year ago at this time, Battey, troubled by a thyroid condition, weighed in at 262. He trimmed down to 245 by the time the season opened.

Davidson Tops Keydets, 108-71, Hetzel Gets 28

Furman Eliminates Colonials, 57-54

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Second - seeded Davidson advanced with ease into the semi-finals of the 43rd southern conference basketball tournament Thursday but highly regarded Furman ran into unexpected difficulty in its debut.

Davidson, led by all - southern center Fred Hetzel's 28 points, and 66.6 shooting percentage, socked Virginia Military Institute, 108-71, in an afternoon encounter.

But the fourth - seeded Paladins had to rely on last - minute field goals by Jerry Smith and Jack Halford to squeak past ambitious George Washington, 57-54, in the curtain raiser.

Furman meets the winner of a 7:30 p.m. EST match between top-seeded West Virginia and Richmond (No. 8). Davidson will be challenged in the semi-final Friday by the winner of the William and Mary (No. 3) Virginia Tech (No. 6) game at 9:30 p.m.

The Keydets challenged Davidson in the early minutes, but the big Wildcats raced to a commanding 47-35 halftime lead. Every member of the Davidson squad who saw action broke into the scoring column.

In addition to Hetzel's performance, the Wildcats got 16 points from forward Bill Jarman, 15 from forward Terry Holland, 13 from forward Bill Beerman and 12 points from brilliant playmaker Barry Teague. VMI guard Bill Blair was high for the Keydets with 22 points. Davidson outrebounded VMI 69-30.

LaSalle Hosts Hyndman Quint

LaSalle High School's Explorers will play the twenty-first and final game on their regular season schedule when they host Hyndman High School's Hornets, champions of the Bedford County League, tonight at 8 o'clock at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium.

Coach John Keller's Hornets eked out a 76-73 decision over the Explores at Hyndman January 9.

Al Lopez Lines Up Number One Infield

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox gave the first official recognition of his No. 1 infield for 1963 today.

He announced that a combination of Joe Cunningham at first, Nellie Fox at second, Ron Hansen at short and rookie Pete Ward at third would open the initial infield drill of the spring Friday.

The inner cordon will represent a 50 per cent change from last season when Luis Aparicio and Al Smith, the two regulars traded to Baltimore, were at short and third.

Officials Named For First County Mat Tournament

Joe Stanislawczyk To Referee; Diehl Is Official Scorer

Officials for the first annual Allegany County high school wrestling tournament, to be staged at Allegany High next weekend, have been announced by tournament director Ronald Chapman.

Joseph Stanislawczyk, wrestling coach at Keyser High School, has been selected to referee all of the individual matches, and Tom Diehl will serve as official scorer. The latter is a former Pennsylvania state high school champion.

Timers will be Gerard P. Calhoun, Beall High School football coach; William Marley, wrestling coach at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Ed Dawson, assistant football coach at Fort Hill.

Three schools will participate in this initial tournament—Allegany, Beall and Bruce. All of these schools instituted wrestling as a varsity sport this year.

The two-day affair will be under way next Friday at 7 p. m. All semi-final matches will be staged on the first night, and the finals will be held on Saturday, beginning at 8 p. m. Admission prices will be 50c for adults and 25c for students.

Individual matches will be held in 12 weight classes — 95-pound, 103, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 180-pound and heavyweight unlimited.

Scoring will be on the basis of 11 points for the first place, seven for second and five for third. The winning team will receive a trophy donated by the Sports Shoppe, and individual winners will be awarded bronze medals.

Eppa Rixey, 72, Hall Of Famer, Taken By Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eppa Rixey, the winningest left-handed pitcher in his playing days from 1912 to 1933 and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, died Thursday. He was 72.

He posted a 266-251 record in 21 year with the Philadelphia Phils and the Cincinnati Reds. It was a record that stood until Warren Spahn broke it in 1959.

Rixey, who became a successful insurance executive in suburban Mairemont after leaving baseball, was elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame only a month ago.

Nat's Dave Stenhouse Suffers Muscle Pull

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. — (UPI) — Pitcher Dave Stenhouse, who started the second all-star game in Chicago last year, came up with a pulled hamstring muscle Thursday.

Stenhouse was an early-season star for the Washington Senators in 1962 and had a 10-4 record at the halfway mark. He developed a bad knee in the second part of the season and lost eight of his last nine decisions.

Detroit Tigers Sign Fernandez

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Shortstop Chico Fernandez ended his two-day holdout and signed with the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Fernandez, who hit 20 home runs last season — more than any Detroit shortstop in history—reportedly received about $18,000. He immediately took part in the three-hour drill at Henley Field.

Card Of Thanks

I take this means to thank my friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness to me during my recent bereavement, the death of my beloved husband, George L. Torbet. I also wish to thank those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

Wife — Mrs. George L. Torbet

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father James E. "Bunny" Smith. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers and cards and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

The family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Shirley Jean Smith, who died 6 years ago, March 1, 1957.
Come, let the burial rite be read,
The funeral song be sung! . . .
An anthem for the queenliest dead
That ever died so young —
A dirge for her, the doubly dead,
In that she died so young.
Sadly missed by Mother and Dad
Mr. and Mrs. Arlie J. Martin
Brothers and Sisters

In loving memory of our dear Mother, and Grandmother, Mrs. Mary C. (Mamie) Pendergast, who passed away March 1, 1962.
If we had seen you to the last,
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart,
We would not feel so bad.
We did not know the pain you had,
We did not see you die,
We only know you went with God,
And never said good-bye.
So sadly missed by,
Eugene and Marlean Pendergast and children
James and Anita Pendergast and Son

Card Of Thanks

I take this means to thank my friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness to me during my recent bereavement, the death of my beloved husband, George L. Torbet. I also wish to thank those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and those who loaned cars for the fufferal.

Wife — Mrs. George L. Torbet

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father James E. "Bunny" Smith. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers and cards and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

The family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Shirley Jean Smith, who died 6 years ago, March 1, 1957.
Come, let the burial rite be read,
The funeral song be sung! . . .
An anthem for the queenliest dead
That ever died so young —
A dirge for her, the doubly dead,
In that she died so young.
Sadly missed by Mother and Dad
Mr. and Mrs. Arlie J. Martin
Brothers and Sisters

In loving memory of our dear Mother, and Grandmother, Mrs. Mary C. (Mamie) Pendergast, who passed away March 1, 1962.
If we had seen you to the last,
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart,
We would not feel so bad.
We did not know the pain you had,
We did not see you die,
We only know you went with God,
And never said good-bye.
So sadly missed by,
Eugene and Marlean Pendergast and children
James and Anita Pendergast and Son

'Citizenship' For Sir Winston Gets Support

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee gave a favorable report Thursday to a joint resolution making Sir Winston Churchill of England an honorary citizen of Maryland.

"Does this mean he would be requested to pay income taxes in Maryland?" asked Sen. James Clark Jr., D-Howard.

"We might add that as an amendment," Sen. Edward O. Weant Jr., D-Carroll said.

The resolution — without any amendment—was given a unanimous vote. It already has been passed by the house.

Md. GOP Clubs Hear Report On Legislation

The executive board of the Maryland Federation of Young Republican Clubs met this week in Annapolis and heard reports by top Maryland Republicans in the General Assembly on the present legislative session.

Principal speakers were House Minority Leader J. Glenn Beall and Senate Minority Leader Harry T. Phoebus. Del. Fred H. Anderson, a past president of the Allegany County Young GOP Club, also attended.

Donald W. Mason of the Allegany County Young GOP Club and vice president of the state federation, attended the meeting and reported that the newly-formed Garrett County Young GOP Club has been accepted into the state federation of clubs. Donald M. Browning of Oakland is president of the new club.

Donald Kendall of Montgomery County, president of the state federation, recently was selected as one of the 10 outstanding young Republican state presidents and will make a tour of the NATO countries.

John Dailey of the National Federation of Young GOP Clubs told the executive board a concentrated effort is being made in Baltimore City to form Republican Clubs and to build precinct organizations.

It was announced the regional meeting of GOP Clubs in the middle Atlantic states will be held in Washington on April 5 and 6 and the Maryland Federation will hold its bi-annual convention in Frederick on May 17 and 18.

Del. Swartz Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday for Del. Jerome J. Swartz D-Prince Georges, killed in a traffic accident Thursday in suburban Glen Burnie.

Services will be at the Roman Catholic Church of the Holy Redeemer in Berwyn Heights, near College Park. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Swartz, 44, died in South Baltimore General Hospital of injuries suffered in a collision on the Ritchie Highway. The other driver, Henry P. Lanasa, 61, of Annapolis, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Swartz, a Beltsville auditor who was on the faculty of a Washington D.C., business college, was serving his first term in the House of Delegates. He was elected to one of four house seats added for Prince Georges County in the recent reapportionment of the house.

A sergeant in the Air Force during World War II, Swartz was a certified public accountant and a past president of the Takoma-Langley Park Kiwanis Club. He also was a director of the Prince Georges County Boys Club.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mae Vandenberg Swartz; one son, Thomas Swartz, and two daughters, Mrs. Franklin Pilkerton and Miss Jeanne Swartz, all of Beltsville.

Trooper Sues For Injuries

A state trooper now stationed in Frederick, who was injured in the summer of 1961 when a tire on his motorcycle suddenly went flat near Romney, W. Va., has filed a damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Thomas L. Winebrenner, whose home address is 29 West Mechanic Street, Frostburg, brought the action against Anne E. Storm, individually and trading as Storm's Amoco Station, East Main Street, Frostburg, and Clinton E. Pryor, Parkersburg Road, Eckhart.

The trooper said he delivered the motorcycle tire, tube and wheel to the service station on or about July 4, 1961, and ordered a new tube. Later he discovered that the new tube placed in the tire was of a different make and size than the one replaced.

On or about August 12, 1961, Mr. Winebrenner was riding his motorcycle along West Virginia Route 28 about two miles north of Romney when the tire suddenly went flat, causing the motorcycle to crash. He contends that he sustained severe and painful injuries.

Area Deaths And Funeral Notices

MRS. THOMAS MALLOY

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Nell Malloy, 76, of Washington, a former resident, died Wednesday in a hospital there.

Born in Baltimore, she was a daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. William M. Dunn. Her father was a judge of Baltimore Orphans Court. Mrs. Malloy was a former member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church here and the Sodality of the parish.

Surviving are two sons, Rev. James E. Malloy, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Olney, and William Malloy, 3355 16th Street, Washington, with whom she resided; four daughters, Mrs. Vincent Cole and Miss Helen Malloy, both of Baltimore; Mrs. Steve Cina, Potomac Park, and Mrs. Baker Parker, Clinton, Md.; a brother, Harry Dunn, Baltimore, 16 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Washington, and interment will be in a cemetery there.

FREDERICK S. BLACKBURN

PIEDMONT — Frederick Summers Blackburn, 58, died yesterday at his home, 188 West Fairview Street, after an illness of eight years.

A native of Elk Garden, he was a son of the late James and Fannie (Barricks) Blackburn.

Mr. Blackburn was a retired employe of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. He was a member of Trinity Methodist Church and of Local 676, United Paper Workers.

Surviving are his widow, Bernice (Price) Blackburn; two sons, Wallace F. Blackburn, Luke, and Donald E. Blackburn, with the Navy at Norfolk, Va.; three brothers, Howard Blackburn, Baltimore; Gilbert Blackburn, Piedmont, and Cecil Blackburn, address unknown, and four grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Sumner Sawyers, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, and burial will be in Philos Cemetery.

MRS. OSCAR WILSON

HENDRICKS, W. Va. — Mrs. Jennie E. Wilson, 87, wife of Oscar M. Wilson, died yesterday at her home after a long illness.

Born at Todd, Pa., she was a daughter of the late John W. and Louisa (Horton) Taylor. Mrs. Wilson was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Pythian Sisters of Parsons.

Also surviving are two daughters, Miss Mildred P. Wilson, at home, and Mrs. Lola Williams, Elkins, and a grandchild.

The body will be at the Greenlief Funeral Home, Parsons, after 3 p.m. today.

Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 2 p.m. by Rev. A. B. Mann. Burial will be in Parsons Cemetery.

WHITMAN SERVICES

Many Changes

What this portends for Berlin, where Khrushchev has eased pressure for a settlement, and nuclear testing — the years-old sore spots in Soviet-American relations—it is difficult to see.

There have been some voices raised in the West to the effect that Russia is caught between two giants—China and America—and hopes to achieve a detente with the United States, if for no other reason than to protect one flank.

The Soviet Union has long taken the position—last expressed by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the end of 1962—that if the US-USSR superpowers came to an agreement there would be no more trouble in the world.

But that agreement appears as far off as it ever was under Stalin. The only agreement seems to be that a nuclear war is unthinkable.

American tourists stroll through the Kremlin, a Washington audience applauds the Bolshoi ballet, and Khrushchev congratulates U. S. opera singer Jerome Hines at the height of the Cuban crisis.

EMORY F. SHRIVER

Emory F. Shriver, 79, formerly of 114 Elder Street, died yesterday in Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney, W. Va., following an illness of several months.

Born at Sleepy Creek, W. Va., a son of the late George and Rose (Cook) Shriver, he was a retired employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mr. Shriver held membership in Fort Cumberland Lodge 211, AF & AM; was a 55-year member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and a charter member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church here. Twice married, he was preceded in death by his first wife, Mrs. Flora R. (Michael) Shriver.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Laura V. (Shepherd) Shriver; a son, Glenden L. Shriver, Short Gap, W. Va.; a brother, John Shriver, Berkeley Springs, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. Norman B. Gordon, Mason City, Iowa, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

MRS. WADE LILLER

ELK GARDEN — Mrs. Pearl Liller, 80, widow of Wade Liller, died Thursday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where she had been a patient since February 17.

Born near Burlington, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Rawlings. Mrs. Liller was a member of Grace Methodist Church and Lillian Rebekah Lodge 58, Elk Garden.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Mae Burdock and Mrs. Rosalee Stullenbarger, both of Elk Garden; Mrs. Arbutus Seaber, Westernport; Mrs. Kathleen Robertson, Barton, and Mrs. Helene Liller, Weston; two sons, James T. and Harry L. Liller, both of Baltimore; two brothers, Paul Rawlings, Tampa, Fla., and Grover Rawlings, Burlington; 19 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Sharpless Funeral Home, Blaine, and will be taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mae Burdock, Elk Garden, at 5 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at Nethken Hill Methodist Church by Rev. F. Robert Armentrout. Burial will be in Kalbaugh Cemetery.

EDWIN D. HEAVNER

Edwin Dale Heavner, 26, of 130 North Brown Street, Lewisburg, Pa., died suddenly yesterday at his home.

Born in Cumberland, he was a son of Brook and Audrey (Getz) Heavner, McMullen Highway. He was employed as a salesman for the Harrisburg Textile Corporation and was a member of Central Assembly of God Church in Cumberland.

Also surviving are his widow, Eleanor (Powley) Heavner; four children, Kevin, Donald, Harry and Kathy, all at home; a brother, Herschel Heavner, McMullen Highway, and a sister, Mrs. Juanita Lewis, Cumberland.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

MRS. KUHNS RITES

A requiem mass for Mrs. Bernadette G. Kuhns, 63, of Locust Grove, who died Wednesday in Hollywood, Fla., will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Burial will be in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

The body will be returned to the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 7 to 9 p.m.

The rosary will be recited today at 8:15 p.m. at the funeral home.

CRIST RITES

Services for Edgar S. Crist, 81, of 38 Elder Street, who died Tuesday, will be conducted Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home. Rev. Connell T. Chaney will officiate and interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

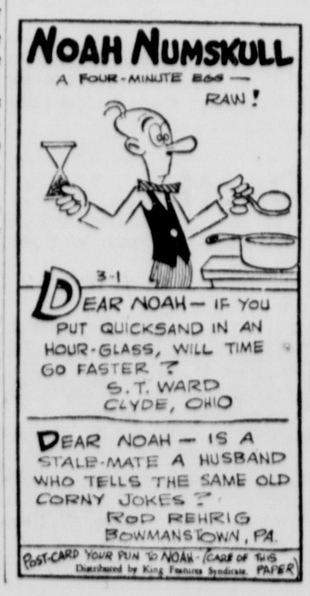

Pallbearers will be Raymond Shipley, C. R. Crosten, W. J. Dohrman, Joseph C. Wilson, Frank J. Davis and C. C. Wolford.

Potomac Lodge 211, AF & AM will conduct ritualistic rites today at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

GOP Club Told Soviet Forces Threat To U. S.

The presence of Soviet Military forces in Cuba represents a definite threat to the security of the United States, a local GOP leader told members of the Republican Women's Club.

The statement was made by Kenneth K. Lowe, area committeeman on the GOP State Fund, at a meeting Wednesday night in Republican Headquarters, 1 North Liberty Street.

Few believe she said that the United States is in danger of actual physical attack and some say, "Why not simply ignore Cuba and eventually the danger to our security will go away by collapse of the Cuban economy or popular uprising of the people against Castroism?"

He said he does not believe such a thing will come about since every activity of the Cuban Castroites indicates more and more advancement of their cause.

"It is felt," he said, "that we are the ones who are under constant pressure."

It is in the face of the United States' position and "our apparent inability to prevent serious deterioration of our position" that Republicans feel justified in criticizing the Kennedy administration and its Cuban policy.

Administration spokesmen she said, are critical of the Republican attitude, but it is the responsibility of Republican leaders "to call attention to the incredible diplomatic ineptness of the administration in handling a problem of grave concern to all of us, regardless of political affiliation."

There will be a showdown in Cuba, he said, and "all we desire as Americans is that the results will be the strengthening of the United States and our form of government."

Mr. Lowe was introduced by Mrs. Bonnie Cessna, president of the club.

Two Men Held In Entry Here

Two local men were picked up last night in connection with the breaking and entering of the Cumberland Welding Company, Wineow Street, city police said.

A complaint of the entry was received at police headquarters at 7:11 p.m. City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey, Cpl. Murl Boggs and the K-9 dog, went to the scene.

The two men were later arrested and are being held for action of the Detective Bureau.

Five Damage Suits Filed

Five damage suits including one involving the death of a six-year-old boy last year near Westernport have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Darlene Arthur of Franklin, mother and administratrix of the estate of her late son, Hollie D. Arthur, filed a damage suit against Robert W. Robertson of Pekin, driver of a car which struck the victim on December 6, 1962.

The accident occurred on Maryland State Route 36 as the child was crossing the highway in Franklin. He died later in the day at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

In other damage suits filed, Anna Z. Martin and W. Vincent Martin, 509 Reihl Avenue, are suing the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center. Mrs. Martin says she was injured when she fell on May 25, 1962 after leaving one of the stores in the shopping center.

Betty and Nello Caporossi, 21 Browning Street, filed damage suits against Robert E. Grapes and Louise Grapes, his mother, of Bedford Road. On January 28, 1961, Mrs. Caporossi left a business establishment owned by Robert Grapes, and says she fell on snow and ice which had accumulated on the pavement.

Charles Robinette Marks Birthday

Attending were Michelle Zollner, Harry Musgrove, Linda Musgrove, James Humbertson, Andrew Humbertson, Stacey Humbertson, Debrah Appel, Susan Appel, Diane Appel, Stanley Appel, Stephen Appel, Brian Apel, Donald Wyer, Thomas Landaker, Edward Robinette, Winifred Robinette, Kathy Robinette and Dale Robinette.

Adults present were Mrs. Gladys Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray-Robinette Sr., Mrs. Gretchen Hartford, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Stanford Zollner, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Musgrove, Gaithersburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Humbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wyer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Landaker and Mrs. Theo Malone.

LaVale Firemen Check Auto Fire

Volunteer firemen of LaVale last night were called to Campground Road where an auto belonging to Harold Moon of LaVale caught fire.

Firemen said the battery terminal shorted out and damage was confined to wiring under the hood. Twenty-seven firemen responsed to the blaze about 10:30 p. m. and two pumpers and an equipment truck were dispatched since the fire was reported near a business place.

ance and emergency communications and financial aid.

Its disaster program is designed to ease the suffering of victims of either natural or nuclear disasters with food, shelter, clothing, medical and nursing care, and with aid in returning to normal living.

The chapter, through its blood program, helps restore the health of the sick and the injured with whole blood and its lifesaving components gamma globulin, serum albumin and fibrinogen.

By teaching American Red Cross courses in first aid, water safety and home nursing, the chapter plays its part in keeping American families safe.

Mr. Ebert pointed out that while proud of its part in the 100 year history of the world-wide Red Cross, the Allegany County Chapter and the entire American Red Cross, must continue building for the future.

In this coming year, perhaps as never before in a time of so-called peace, he added, Red Cross must be ready and able to provide its traditional help to the victims of disaster, disease and war.

'Citizenship' For Sir Winston Gets Support

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee gave a favorable report Thursday to a joint resolution making Sir Winston Churchill of England an honorary citizen of Maryland.

"Does this mean he would be requested to pay income taxes in Maryland?" asked Sen. James Clark Jr., D-Howard.

"We might add that as an amendment," Sen. Edward O. Weant Jr., D-Carroll said.

The resolution — without any amendment—was given a unanimous vote. It already has been passed by the house.

Md. GOP Clubs Hear Report On Legislation

The executive board of the Maryland Federation of Young Republican Clubs met this week in Annapolis and heard reports by top Maryland Republicans in the General Assembly on the present legislative session.

Principal speakers were House Minority Leader J. Glenn Beall and Senate Minority Leader Harry T. Phoebus. Del. Fred H. Anderson, a past president of the Allegany County Young GOP Club, also attended.

Donald W. Mason of the Allegany County Young GOP Club and vice president of the state federation, attended the meeting and reported that the newly-formed Garrett County Young GOP Club has been accepted into the state federation of clubs. Donald M. Browning of Oakland is president of the new club.

Donald Kendall of Montgomery County, president of the state federation, recently was selected as one of the 10 outstanding young Republican state presidents and will make a tour of the NATO countries.

John Dailey of the National Federation of Young GOP Clubs told the executive board a concentrated effort is being made in Baltimore City to form Republican Clubs and to build precinct organizations.

It was announced the regional meeting of GOP Clubs in the middle Atlantic states will be held in Washington on April 5 and 6 and the Maryland Federation will hold its bi-annual convention in Frederick on May 17 and 18.

Del. Swartz Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday for Del. Jerome J. Swartz D-Prince Georges, killed in a traffic accident Thursday in suburban Glen Burnie.

Services will be at the Roman Catholic Church of the Holy Redeemer in Berwyn Heights, near College Park. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Swartz, 44, died in South Baltimore General Hospital of injuries suffered in a collision on the Ritchie Highway. The other driver, Henry P. Lanasa, 61, of Annapolis, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Swartz, a Beltsville auditor who was on the faculty of a Washington D.C., business college, was serving his first term in the House of Delegates. He was elected to one of four house seats added for Prince Georges County in the recent reapportionment of the house.

A sergeant in the Air Force during World War II, Swartz was a certified public accountant and a past president of the Takoma-Langley Park Kiwanis Club. He also was a director of the Prince Georges County Boys Club.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mae Vandenberg Swartz; one son, Thomas Swartz, and two daughters, Mrs. Franklin Pilkerton and Miss Jeanne Swartz, all of Beltsville.

Trooper Sues For Injuries

A state trooper now stationed in Frederick, who was injured in the summer of 1961 when a tire on his motorcycle suddenly went flat near Romney, W. Va., has filed a damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Thomas L. Winebrenner, whose home address is 29 West Mechanic Street, Frostburg, brought the action against Anne E. Storm, individually and trading as Storm's Amoco Station, East Main Street, Frostburg, and Clinton E. Pryor, Parkersburg Road, Eckhart.

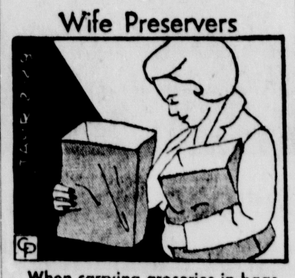

The trooper said he delivered the motorcycle tire, tube and wheel to the service station on or about July 4, 1961, and ordered a new tube. Later he discovered that the new tube placed in the tire was of a different make and size than the one replaced.

On or about August 12, 1961, Mr. Winebrenner was riding his motorcycle along West Virginia Route 28 about two miles north of Romney when the tire suddenly went flat, causing the motorcycle to crash. He contends that he sustained severe and painful injuries.

Many Changes

What this portends for Berlin, where Khrushchev has eased pressure for a settlement, and nuclear testing — the years-old sore spots in Soviet-American relations—it is difficult to see.

There have been some voices raised in the West to the effect that Russia is caught between two giants—China and America—and hopes to achieve a detente with the United States, if for no other reason than to protect one flank.

The Soviet Union has long taken the position—last expressed by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the end of 1962—that if the US-USSR superpowers came to an agreement there would be no more trouble in the world.

But that agreement appears as far off as it ever was under Stalin. The only agreement seems to be that a nuclear war is unthinkable.

Against this standstill on the political and military levels the cultural, scientific and tourist exchanges go on.

American tourists stroll through the Kremlin, a Washington audience applauds the Bolshoi ballet, and Khrushchev congratulates U. S. opera singer Jerome Hines at the height of the Cuban crisis.

In the 10 years since Stalin's death a grim, undeviating Kremlin dictator has been succeeded by a flexible, flamboyant and energetic extrovert.

EMORY F. SHRIVER

Emory F. Shriver, 79, formerly of 114 Elder Street, died yesterday in Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney, W. Va., following an illness of several months.

Born at Sleepy Creek, W. Va., a son of the late George and Rose (Cook) Shriver, he was a retired employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mr. Shriver held membership in Fort Cumberland Lodge 211, AF & AM; was a 55-year member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and a charter member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church here. Twice married, he was preceded in death by his first wife, Mrs. Flora R. (Michael) Shriver.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Laura V. (Shepherd) Shriver; a son, Glenden L. Shriver, Short Gap, W. Va.; a brother, John Shriver, Berkeley Springs, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. Norman B. Gordon, Mason City, Iowa, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

MRS. WADE LILLER

ELK GARDEN — Mrs. Pearl Liller, 80, widow of Wade Liller, died Thursday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where she had been a patient since February 17.

Born near Burlington, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Rawlings. Mrs. Liller was a member of Grace Methodist Church and Lillian Rebekah Lodge 58, Elk Garden.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Mae Burdock and Mrs. Rosalee Stullenbarger, both of Elk Garden; Mrs. Arbutus Seaber, Westernport; Mrs. Kathleen Robertson, Barton, and Mrs. Helene Liller, Weston; two sons, James T. and Harry L. Liller, both of Baltimore; two brothers, Paul Rawlings, Tampa, Fla., and Grover Rawlings, Burlington; 19 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Sharpless Funeral Home, Blaine, and will be taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mae Burdock, Elk Garden, at 5 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at Nethken Hill Methodist Church by Rev. F. Robert Armentrout. Burial will be in Kalbaugh Cemetery.

EDWIN D. HEAVNER

Edwin Dale Heavner, 26, of 130 North Brown Street, Lewisburg, Pa., died suddenly yesterday at his home.

Born in Cumberland, he was a son of Brook and Audrey (Getz) Heavner, McMullen Highway. He was employed as a salesman for the Harrisburg Textile Corporation and was a member of Central Assembly of God Church in Cumberland.

Also surviving are his widow, Eleanor (Powley) Heavner; four children, Kevin, Donald, Harry and Kathy, all at home; a brother, Herschel Heavner, McMullen Highway, and a sister, Mrs. Juanita Lewis, Cumberland.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Five Damage Suits Filed

Five damage suits including one involving the death of a six-year-old boy last year near Westernport have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Darlene Arthur of Franklin, mother and administratrix of the estate of her late son, Hollie D. Arthur, filed a damage suit against Robert W. Robertson of Pekin, driver of a car which struck the victim on December 6, 1962.

The accident occurred on Maryland State Route 36 as the child was crossing the highway in Franklin. He died later in the day at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

In other damage suits filed, Anna Z. Martin and W. Vincent Martin, 509 Reihl Avenue, are suing the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center. Mrs. Martin says she was injured when she fell on May 25, 1962 after leaving one of the stores in the shopping center.

Betty and Nello Caporossi, 21 Browning Street, filed damage suits against Robert E. Grapes and Louise Grapes, his mother, of Bedford Road. On January 28, 1961, Mrs. Caporossi left a business establishment owned by Robert Grapes, and says she fell on snow and ice which had accumulated on the pavement.

Charles Robinette Marks Birthday

Attending were Michelle Zollner, Harry Musgrove, Linda Musgrove, James Humbertson, Andrew Humbertson, Stacey Humbertson, Debrah Appel, Susan Appel, Diane Appel, Stanley Appel, Stephen Appel, Brian Apel, Donald Wyer, Thomas Landaker, Edward Robinette, Winifred Robinette, Kathy Robinette and Dale Robinette.

Adults present were Mrs. Gladys Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robinette Sr., Mrs. Gretchen Hartford, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Stanford Zollner, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Musgrove, Gaithersburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Humbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wyer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Landaker and Mrs. Theo Malone.

GOP Club Told Soviet Forces Threat To U. S.

The presence of Soviet Military forces in Cuba represents a definite threat to the security of the United States, a local GOP leader told members of the Republican Women's Club.

The statement was made by Kenneth K. Lowe, area committeeman on the GOP State Fund, at a meeting Wednesday night in Republican Headquarters, 1 North Liberty Street.

Few believe she said that the United States is in danger of actual physical attack and some say, "Why not simply ignore Cuba and eventually the danger to our security will go away by collapse of the Cuban economy or popular uprising of the people against Castroism?"

He said he does not believe such a thing will come about since every activity of the Cuban Castroites indicates more and more advancement of their cause.

"It is felt," he said, "that we are the ones who are under constant pressure."

It is in the face of the United States' position and "our apparent inability to prevent serious deterioration of our position" that Republicans feel justified in criticizing the Kennedy administration and its Cuban policy.

Administration spokesmen she said, are critical of the Republican attitude, but it is the responsibility of Republican leaders "to call attention to the incredible diplomatic ineptness of the administration in handling a problem of grave concern to all of us, regardless of political affiliation."

There will be a showdown in Cuba, he said, and "all we desire as Americans is that the results will be the strengthening of the United States and our form of government."

Mr. Lowe was introduced by Mrs. Bonnie Cessna, president of the club.

Two Men Held In Entry Here

Two local men were picked up last night in connection with the breaking and entering of the Cumberland Welding Company, Wineow Street, city police said.

A complaint of the entry was received at police headquarters at 7:11 p.m. City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey, Cpl. Murl Boggs and the K-9 dog, went to the scene.

The two men were later arrested and are being held for action of the Detective Bureau.

Man Fined $50 For Shooting Dog

John Martin, of Mexico Farms, was fined $50 Wednesday in Trial Magistrate Court after he was found guilty of shooting a dog owned by his neighbor.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt imposed the fine on Martin for shooting a dog owned by Wallace Walker. The incident occurred February 11. Martin indicated he planned to appeal the ruling.

State's Attorney James S. Getty prosecuted the case and Martin was represented by Harold E. Naughton, local attorney.

LaVale Firemen Check Auto Fire

Volunteer firemen of LaVale last night were called to Campground Road where an auto belonging to Harold Moon of LaVale caught fire.

Firemen said the battery terminal shorted out and damage was confined to wiring under the hood. Twenty-seven firemen responsed to the blaze about 10:30 p. m. and two pumpers and an equipment truck were dispatched since the fire was reported near a business place.

College Budget Of $134,281 Gets Approval

$77,181 Sought From County

A $134,281 operating budget for the Allegany Community College for the fiscal year starting July 1 was approved by the college's Board of Trustees last night.

The Board of Trustees, which also sits as the Allegany County Board of Education, had begun the discussion concerning the college's budget at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president, has invited the Board of County Commissioners to come to the college at 3 p.m. next Thursday to review the progress the college has made in less than two years of operation and to receive a more detailed explanation of the budget request.

The county will be requested to provide a total of $77,181 toward the operation of the college in the coming fiscal year. That is $3,984 more than the $73,197 being provided this year. The county also will be asked to permit the diversion of $6,000 balance in the capital improvements budget to another use.

Of this county money, $52,181 would be in the operating budget and the other $25,000 would be utilized for the purchase of books for the college library. Dr. Zimmer told the board Tuesday afternoon that the college library should have some 10,000 volumes in it by the time accreditation by the Middle State Association is sought in the spring of 1965. Presently the library has about 3,500 books.

Money for the operation of the college in the coming fiscal year will come from three sources. An expanding student body will be expected to provide $46,100 compared with $38,050 this year. The state would provide $36,000 compared with $21,700 in the current year and the county would provide the other $52,181 compared with $50,600 this year for general operations.

The overall proposed budget for the 1963-64 fiscal year would be $24,616 more than the $109,665 for the current year.

College expenditures are divided into four basic groups. Administration would take $38,540 compared with $33,323 this year, instruction would cost $68,850 up from $49,354, library operations would take $11,110 down from this year's $15,294 and plant operation and maintenance are earmarked for $15,781 compared with $11,689 this year.

Four of the five board members and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster met with Dr. Zimmer last night. Present were J. Goodloe Jackson, T. Donald Shires, Mrs. Richard Winer and Mrs. George M. Young.

Scholarship Finalists Interviewed

PPG Grant Can Be Worth $6,000

Seven of Allegany County's best high school students were interviewed yesterday by three prominent educators who eventually will select one of them for a four-year Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation college scholarship.

Before their interviews, the seven students attended a luncheon with the selection committee, and representatives of the PPG Foundation and local educators at the Cumberland Country Club.

The seven finalists in the scholarship competition, whose scores on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test, were only 10 points apart, are Edward J. Milbrada of LaSalle; David Kalbaugh and Dorothy L. Kohne of Bruce; Terry D. Imhoff of St. Peter's, Westernport; John G. Warnick of Valley and John P. Moffatt and Louise A. Costello of Allegany.

The selection panel consists of Dr. James P. Earp of Western Maryland College, Dr. W. Gordon Zeeveld of the University of Maryland, and Robert L. Strider of The Johns Hopkins University.

Walter E. Dyck, manager of the local PPG plant and representative of the Foundation, said at yesterday's luncheon that the PPG Foundation grants are one expression of the company's belief that "government shouldn't pick up the check for all the problems of the world."

He told the students one of them will be notified of his or her selection this month by the National Merit Scholarship program, and another will be selected as an alternate. The public announcement of the selections will come next month.

Mr. Dyck also said high school students who plan to enter the 1964 PPG Foundation scholarship competition must take the NMS qualifying test this month to become eligible for the four-year award, which can be worth up to $6,000.

The test will be given next Tuesday or Saturday, depending on which date fits high school programs best. Students can obtain the 1964 PPG Foundation application blanks this month by writing to Mr. Dyck or by contacting their high school principals.

Dr. Earp, speaking for the selection board, urged all seven of the students, whether or not they win the scholarship, to choose carefully the college that best suits their needs.

He said many college students haven't made final decisions about their life work by the time they graduate. He pointed out that he himself took his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering but now is a sociology professor.

Dr. Earp also urged that counselors keep abreast of the new fields of work that are constantly developing. Many of these are "cross-disciplinary" careers that require training in fields that formerly were considered widely separated.

Red Cross Chapter Opens Centennial Observance

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter today joins in a nationwide campaign for members and funds and observance of the centenary of the world-wide Red Cross movement. The theme of the month-long program is "Always There . . . With Your Help.

The local chapter receives all its needed funds as a partner in the County United Fund and does not conduct a fund campaign. Instead the chapter conducts an educational and thank-you campaign to increase understanding of Red Cross and to encourage voluntary participation in its services.

In opening the education campaign, Robert L. Ebert, chapter chairman, pointed out that in the past 100 years the cross of red on a field of white has become one of the most widely known symbols of hope for the hopeless and help for the helpless.

In war, it protects the sick and wounded, prisoners of war, and the civilian population of enemy-occupied countries. At all times, it is the universal emblem of aid and comfort for the victims of natural disasters.

To carry on its share of this tradition of mercy, Mr. Ebert said the local chapter relies on freely given time and talents of trained volunteers.

Through its Home Service program the chapter helps solve the personal and family problems of servicemen and their dependents with friendly counsel and guid-

Plaques Given To County Soil Supervisors

Supervisors of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District which was named grand award conservation district for 1961-62 in Maryland, yesterday received plaques from the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, sponsors of the annual award.

Unable to attend the luncheon meeting at the Porter farm in Eckhart were Ernest Slider and Floyd Buser.

Guest speaker at the meeting was C. Lee Renaud, county planner, who spoke on planning and zoning in the county, how it would affect farmers and what consideration is being given to agriculture.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service office here, gave his monthly report. He informed the supervisors that since January 25 this year two new cooperators are seeking conservation advice from the SCS.

J. J. Helmstetter, Cash Valley Road, who owns 67 acres of land, is interested in a basic conservation plan and Paul Morgan, Union Grove, who has a 73-acre farm, is interested in pasture improvement and drainage.

Basic plans were outlined for R. W. Brown of Oldtown who owns 293 acres of land. A revision of basic plans were made for the Consolidated Orchard on Irons Mountain and Marion W. Bashor of Town Creek.

Mr. Gordon also reported on a number of educational activities in which his office participated.

Countians Paid $1,841,672 On Md. Tax Returns

'61 Share Tops Washington County

With income tax time fast approaching, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported yesterday that Allegany countians paid $1,841,672 or 2.06 per cent of the state's total take of $89,602,006 from income taxes last year.

The average tax for the 25,036 returns filed in this county was $73.56, or $93.64 if the 5,369 returns on which no tax was paid are excluded.

Neighboring Washington County paid a total of $1,835,829, or 2.05 per cent of the state total with returns averaging $67.14 in taxes. Of the 27,344 persons who filed returns in Washington County, 7,159 had no tax to pay. If these are excluded, the average payment per return was $90.95.

Garrett County filed 4,049 returns, with tax payments averaging $40.37 and totaling $163,470 or 0.18 per cent of the state total. No tax was paid on 1,751 of the Garrett County returns. If these are excluded the average tax payment from that county was $71.14.

The statewide average per return filed, including those on which no tax was paid, was $94.80.

Although Baltimore City residents paid the greatest percentage of the total income tax take from any subdivision of the state —26.39 per cent—the average tax per return was only $79.27. Montgomery County, which paid 19.51 per cent of the total, had the highest tax per return, $156.50. Next highest was Baltimore County with $108.32 per return and 20.15 per cent of the state total.

In Allegany County, a majority of taxpayers paid $140 or less, but 42 paid between $1,000 and $2,000, and seven persons paid more than $2,000, averaging $2,665 per return. Washington County had 67 in the $1,000-to-$2,000 tax payment bracket, seven in the $2,000-to-$3,000 bracket, and four who paid more than $3,000.

Urban Renewal Plan Outlined To Realtors

To Be Staged Over 10-Year Period

The Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency is considering undertaking a plan which would encompass the entire central area of Cumberland, members of the Cumberland Board of Realtors were told last night.

An outline of the plan, which calls for a general neighborhood renewal program for the central section of the city, was presented by William F. DeMare, executive director of the agency.

He said the Urban Renewal program being planned here is broad in scope and, if carried to completion, will have one of the greatest impacts upon the economic social and environmental conditions that the city has ever experienced.

Mr. DeMare asked the realtors for support, guidance and constructive criticism.

10-Year Plan

Through urban renewal, the community is being given an opportunity to bring about necessary improvements in a short time which could not be accomplished if left to the normal processes of evolution, he said.

The agency's first project, he said, will be staged over a 10-year period and will coordinate the efforts of all state, federal and local agencies interested in the renewal of the city's central area.

Realtors, he said, will have an active part in the local project, since every urban renewal program involves land acquisition.

They may also be asked to make cost estimates to determine the advisability of alternate projects and to prepare re-use value studies and appraisals.

Agency Formed

The formation of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, he said, resulted from the work of Blair and Stein Associates, the city's planners who are in the process of preparing a comprehensive plan for the city's development.

One of the suggestions of the planning firm was for the formation of the agency, the appointment of an executive director and the undertaking of an urban renewal program to carry out recommendations in the city's master plan.

Man Gets 10 Days In Jail

Roy Van Meter, 164 North Centre Street, yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail after he was found guilty of creating a disturbance at a local restaurant.

Van Meter was tried in City Police Court by Magistrate F. Allen Weatherholt who found the man not guilty of being drunk and dismissed a charge of damaging city property.

Van Meter was arrested early yesterday by City Police and while he was in jail a window was broken in his cell. However, an officer testified the window had previously been damaged and was in need of repairs, and the charge was dismissed.

Van Meter also faces an assault charge today at 10 a.m. in Trial Magistrate Court. He has been charged with assaulting Nancy Sampsell, formerly of 164 North Centre Street.

The variety show is being given for the benefit of the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children building fund.

Security Pact Talks Begin At PPG Plant

Furlough Report Given By Union

A report on furloughs at Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and plans for negotiating a security agreement were presented at an overflow meeting of Local 180, Glass Workers Union, AFL-CIO, last night.

Harold G. Fansler, president, said 127 members of the local attended the meeting.

He reported that 48 members were laid off February 22 due to curtailment of orders after the "bottom dropped out of the market."

Another 11 workers were laid off on February 27, he said, for a total of 59 members furloughed.

He said membership of the local is quite disturbed and that the union says the men are not being laid off according to seniority.

The Polishing department, he said, is on a five-day, three-crew cycle, and the Warehouse department is on the same schedule.

Mr. Fansler said the company has stated it sees no immediate relief, although it could be forthcoming, but that a tank repair project is scheduled and it is possible some of the men will be recalled to assist in the work.

He said the executive board said it was sorry for the furloughs but that its hands were tied. It offered all services of the local to the furloughed workers.

The union position, Mr. Fansler said, is that plant seniority is the final criterion before a man is laid off at the plant.

Local management, he said, has agreed to sit down and negotiate a security agreement.

Negotiations on the agreement, in charge of the local's industrial relations committee, began yesterday.

Mr. Fansler said the international union has been notified of the disagreement between the company and the union on furloughs, and has been asked to send a representative to asisst the committee.

Driver Gets 60 Days

William P. Wolfington Jr., 33, of 814 Stewart Avenue, was committed to Allegany County Jail yesterday for 60 days for drunken and reckless driving.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt found Wolfington guilty of the second offense of driving under the influence of liquor and reckless driving.

Wolfington was sentenced to 30 days and fined $100 on the drunken driving charge and $10 for reckless driving. He was given an additional 30 days in default of the $100 fine and the $10 fine was suspended.

He was arrested yesterday morning on North Mechanic Street by Sgt. E. Gordon Hite and Officer Clarence Valentine.

Slot Machine Bill Clears First Hurdle

Two Years Added To Phase-Out

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes' bill to abolish slot machines cleared its first big hurdle in the Maryland Legislature late Thursday with a favorable report from the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee, however, gave the four Southern Maryland counties where slots are legal five years in which to get rid of them instead of the three years proposed by Tawes.

The bill will be reported to the floor of the house for action next Wednesday.

The committee action, in which the full power of the Tawes Administration was evident, came shortly after some four hours of testimony at a public hearing.

"I have always told you I would advise you when an administration bill is before this committee," Chairman Thomas Hunter Lowe said. "God knows, this is an administration bill."

After the bill had ben approved, he commented, "I am sure the governor will appreciate this gift you have given him for the Governor's Ball tonight."

The dance, to be held a few hours later, is the big social highlight of the legislature's 90-day session.

May Face Trouble

Tawes hopes to redeem with the bill a campaign pledge he made last year to rid the state of legalized slots. They are legal only in Anne Arundel, Charles, St. Marys and Calvert counties.

The measure, even with committee approval and the govrnor's backing, could have rough going in the house and senate floor action which lies ahead. Legislators voting for it are having to ignore pleas that it violates a tradition of local option in letting the counties affected decide what is best for themselves.

Representatives of the four counties argued that slot machines had become a basic part of their economy, were well regulated and would bring about mortgage foreclosures on business and unemployment if they are abolished.

This was one expressed reason for the committee amending the period for abolishment from 3 to 5 years. Under the amendment, slots will be frozen for the next two years as of the number licensed in each establishment as of Jan. 1 this year. Beginning in July, 1965, establishments will be limited to not more than 30 machines or the number they had when the freeze started, whichever is less.

Abolition is to become complete by July 1, 1968.

Joseph S. Kaufman, former deputy attorney general who is a registered lobbyist for a major slot machine distributor in Anne Arundel County, coordinated testimony from the four counties affected.

Impact Cited

He summed up by telling the committee, "the economic impact on these counties would be fierce . . .on the evidence you have heard here today, the machines have not hurt anyone but hav helped the counties.

"Protect the economics and investments in these counties. Let the people make the decision themselves," he said.

The witnesses for the bill were representatives of the Maryland Committee for Abolition of Slot Machines, a citizens committee organized since the session bgan to drum up public support for the governor.

They contended the slot machines are a bad influence on politics and economy in the counties, without respect to any moral issue on gambling, and that they "invite" organized crime.

David Hume, who ran for Democratic nomination for governor and polled a sizeable vote against Tawes, noted that all candidates who opposed slot machines openly were defeated in the primary, except for one Anne Arundel County delegate.

Condemnation Award Of Jury Is $11,750

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury awarded $11,750 to a Westernport couple after deliberating for an hour and 15 minutes yesterday afternoon in a condemnation case.

At stake was property at 104 Railroad Street in Westernport, owned by Leonardo Simonelli and Maria Simonelli, his wife. This property is needed by the State Roads Commission in its relocation of State Route 36 in Westernport.

The jury compromised about midway between the $9,500 which the SRC had deposited with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, as a fair price for the property and the $13,691 value placed on the property by defense witnesses.

J. Russell McElfish was foreman of the jury of 11 men and one woman which visited the site yesterday morning with Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey and rival attorneys. Representing the SRC yesterday were Attorneys Peter J. Carpenti and Paul W. Barnett while John M. Robb was attorney for the Simonellis.

Five witnesses were called during the trial. Called for the SRC were Matthew R. Murray, SRC right-of-way agent, and D. C. Goodfellow, local real estate agent. Called by the Simonellis' attorney were James W. Beacham, real estate agent; Carl O. Belt, contractor, and Mr. Simonelli.

World Prayer Day To Be Observed

Churches in the LaVale area will hold a joint service today at 7:30 p. m. at LaVale Methodist Church to observe World Day of Prayer.

Participating in the service will be Park Place Methodist, LaVale Baptist, LaVale Assembly of God, LaVale Lutheran Chapel, LaVale Brethren and LaVale Methodist. The service is being sponsored by the women of the six churches.

Rev. Richard Simmons, pastor of LaVale Brethren Church, will speak on "More Than Conquerors," and the junior choir of LaVale Methodist, directed by Mrs. James E. Perry, will sing several selections. Mrs. Herman I. Smith will accompany the choir on the organ.

Mrs. Curt Cochenour is in charge of arrangements for the service.

Fluoridation Vote Decision May Be Made Monday

Mayor Earl D. Chaney announced yesterday that a vote on the timing of the fluoridation referendum is scheduled at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

City officials may elect to defer the referendum until the next general municipal election in 1966 or to hold a special election this spring.

He did not comment on whether an order for the purchase of equipment needed to add fluorine to the water supply will come up for a vote at the same meeting.

Paper Firm Reports Record Sales Period

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's sales reached a new first-quarter peak, but increased competitive pressures held down earnings for the first three months of fiscal year 1963, which ended January 31.

Sales for the seasonally slack months of November, December and January reached $66,641,000, exceeding by $1,188,000 last year's record first-quarter volume of $65,453,000, according to the company.

Earnings for the first quarter were $1,756,000, equal to 32 cents a share, compared with $2,140,000 or 40 cents a share for the same period last year.

The local chapter receives all its needed funds as a partner in the County United Fund and does not conduct a fund campaign. Instead the chapter conducts an educational and thank-you campaign to increase understanding of Red Cross and to encourage voluntary participation in its services.

In opening the education campaign, Robert L. Ebert, chapter chairman, pointed out that in the past 100 years the cross of red on a field of white has become one of the most widely known symbols of hope for the hopeless and help for the helpless.

In war, it protects the sick and wounded, prisoners of war, and the civilian population of enemy-occupied countries. At all times, it is the universal emblem of aid and comfort for the victims of natural disasters.

To carry on its share of this tradition of mercy, Mr. Ebert said the local chapter relies on freely given time and talents of trained volunteers.

These volunteers and funds from the CUF enable the chapter to help its community in many ways through Red Cross services.

Through its Home Service program the chapter helps solve the personal and family problems of servicemen and their dependents with friendly counsel and guid-

Plaques Given To County Soil Supervisors

Supervisors of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District which was named grand award conservation district for 1961-62 in Maryland, yesterday received plaques from the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, sponsors of the annual award.

Unable to attend the luncheon meeting at the Porter farm in Eckhart were Ernest Slider and Floyd Buser.

Guest speaker at the meeting was C. Lee Renaud, county planner, who spoke on planning and zoning in the county, how it would affect farmers and what consideration is being given to agriculture.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service office here, gave his monthly report. He informed the supervisors that since January 25 this year two new cooperators are seeking conservation advice from the SCS.

J. J. Helmstetter, Cash Valley Road, who owns 67 acres of land, is interested in a basic conservation plan and Paul Morgan, Union Grove, who has a 73-acre farm, is interested in pasture improvement and drainage.

Basic plans were outlined for R. W. Brown of Oldtown who owns 293 acres of land. A revision of basic plans were made for the Consolidated Orchard on Irons Mountain and Marion W. Bashor of Town Creek.

Mr. Gordon also reported on a number of educational activities in which his office participated.

Countians Paid $1,841,672 On Md. Tax Returns

'61 Share Tops Washington County

With income tax time fast approaching, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported yesterday that Allegany countians paid $1,841,672 or 2.06 per cent of the state's total take of $89,602,006 from income taxes last year.

The average tax for the 25,036 returns filed in this county was $73.56, or $93.64 if the 5,369 returns on which no tax was paid are excluded.

Neighboring Washington County paid a total of $1,835,829, or 2.05 per cent of the state total with returns averaging $67.14 in taxes. Of the 27,344 persons who filed returns in Washington County, 7,159 had no tax to pay. If these are excluded, the average payment per return was $90.95.

Garrett County filed 4,049 returns, with tax payments averaging $40.37 and totaling $163,470 or 0.18 per cent of the state total. No tax was paid on 1,751 of the Garrett County returns. If these are excluded the average tax payment from that county was $71.14.

The statewide average per return filed, including those on which no tax was paid, was $94.80.

Although Baltimore City residents paid the greatest percentage of the total income tax take from any subdivision of the state —26.39 per cent—the average tax per return was only $79.27. Montgomery County, which paid 19.51 per cent of the total, had the highest tax per return, $156.50. Next highest was Baltimore County with $108.32 per return and 20.15 per cent of the state total.

In Allegany County, a majority of taxpayers paid $140 or less, but 42 paid between $1,000 and $2,000, and seven persons paid more than $2,000, averaging $2,665 per return. Washington County had 67 in the $1,000-to-$2,000 tax payment bracket, seven in the $2,000-to-$3,000 bracket, and four who paid more than $3,000.

Urban Renewal Plan Outlined To Realtors

To Be Staged Over 10-Year Period

The Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency is considering undertaking a plan which would encompass the entire central area of Cumberland, members of the Cumberland Board of Realtors were told last night.

An outline of the plan, which calls for a general neighborhood renewal program for the central section of the city, was presented by William F. DeMare, executive director of the agency.

He said the Urban Renewal program being planned here is broad in scope and, if carried to completion, will have one of the greatest impacts upon the economic social and environmental conditions that the city has ever experienced.

Mr. DeMare asked the realtors for support, guidance and constructive criticism.

10-Year Plan

Through urban renewal, the community is being given an opportunity to bring about necessary improvements in a short time which could not be accomplished if left to the normal processes of evolution, he said.

The agency's first project, he said, will be staged over a 10-year period and will coordinate the efforts of all state, federal and local agencies interested in the renewal of the city's central area.

Realtors, he said, will have an active part in the local project, since every urban renewal program involves land acquisition.

They may also be asked to make cost estimates to determine the advisability of alternate projects and to prepare re-use value studies and appraisals.

Agency Formed

The formation of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, he said, resulted from the work of Blair and Stein Associates, the city's planners who are in the process of preparing a comprehensive plan for the city's development.

One of the suggestions of the planning firm was for the formation of the agency, the appointment of an executive director and the undertaking of an urban renewal program to carry out recommendations in the city's master plan.

Man Gets 10 Days In Jail

Roy Van Meter, 164 North Centre Street, yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail after he was found guilty of creating a disturbance at a local restaurant.

Van Meter was tried in City Police Court by Magistrate F. Allen Weatherholt who found the man not guilty of being drunk and dismissed a charge of damaging city property.

Van Meter was arrested early yesterday by City Police and while he was in jail a window was broken in his cell. However, an officer testified the window had previously been damaged and was in need of repairs, and the charge was dismissed.

Van Meter also faces an assault charge today at 10 a.m. in Trial Magistrate Court. He has been charged with assaulting Nancy Sampsell, formerly of 164 North Centre Street.

Condemnation Award Of Jury Is $11,750

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury awarded $11,750 to a Westernport couple after deliberating for an hour and 15 minutes yesterday afternoon in a condemnation case.

At stake was property at 104 Railroad Street in Westernport, owned by Leonardo Simonelli and Maria Simonelli, his wife. This property is needed by the State Roads Commission in its relocation of State Route 36 in Westernport.

The jury compromised about midway between the $9,500 which the SRC had deposited with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, as a fair price for the property and the $13,691 value placed on the property by defense witnesses.

J. Russell McElfish was foreman of the jury of 11 men and one woman which visited the site yesterday morning with Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey and rival attorneys. Representing the SRC yesterday were Attorneys Peter J. Carpenti and Paul W. Barnett while John M. Robb was attorney for the Simonellis.

Five witnesses were called during the trial. Called for the SRC were Matthew R. Murray, SRC right-of-way agent, and D. C. Goodfellow, local real estate agent. Called by the Simonellis' attorney were James W. Beacham, real estate agent; Carl O. Belt, contractor, and Mr. Simonelli.

World Prayer Day To Be Observed

Churches in the LaVale area will hold a joint service today at 7:30 p. m. at LaVale Methodist Church to observe World Day of Prayer.

Participating in the service will be Park Place Methodist, LaVale Baptist, LaVale Assembly of God, LaVale Lutheran Chapel, LaVale Brethren and LaVale Methodist. The service is being sponsored by the women of the six churches.

Rev. Richard Simmons, pastor of LaVale Brethren Church, will speak on "More Than Conquerors," and the junior choir of LaVale Methodist, directed by Mrs. James E. Perry, will sing several selections. Mrs. Herman I. Smith will accompany the choir on the organ.

Mrs. Curt Cochenour is in charge of arrangements for the service.

Fluoridation Vote Decision May Be Made Monday

Mayor Earl D. Chaney announced yesterday that a vote on the timing of the fluoridation referendum is scheduled at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

City officials may elect to defer the referendum until the next general municipal election in 1966 or to hold a special election this spring.

He did not comment on whether an order for the purchase of equipment needed to add fluorine to the water supply will come up for a vote at the same meeting.

Paper Firm Reports Record Sales Period

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's sales reached a new first-quarter peak, but increased competitive pressures held down earnings for the first three months of fiscal year 1963, which ended January 31.

Sales for the seasonally slack months of November, December and January reached $66,641,000, exceeding by $1,188,000 last year's record first-quarter volume of $65,453,000, according to the company.

Earnings for the first quarter were $1,756,000, equal to 32 cents a share, compared with $2,140,000 or 40 cents a share for the same period last year.

Security Pact Talks Begin At PPG Plant

Furlough Report Given By Union

A report on furloughs at Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and plans for negotiating a security agreement were presented at an overflow meeting of Local 180, Glass Workers Union, AFL-CIO, last night.

Harold G. Fansler, president, said 127 members of the local attended the meeting.

He reported that 48 members were laid off February 22 due to curtailment of orders after the "bottom dropped out of the market."

Another 11 workers were laid off on February 27, he said, for a total of 59 members furloughed.

He said membership of the local is quite disturbed and that the union says the men are not being laid off according to seniority.

The Polishing department, he said, is on a five-day, three-crew cycle, and the Warehouse department is on the same schedule.

Mr. Fansler said the company has stated it sees no immediate relief, although it could be forthcoming, but that a tank repair project is scheduled and it is possible some of the men will be recalled to assist in the work.

He said the executive board said it was sorry for the furloughs but that its hands were tied. It offered all services of the local to the furloughed workers.

The union position, Mr. Fansler said, is that plant seniority is the final criterion before a man is laid off at the plant.

Local management, he said, has agreed to sit down and negotiate a security agreement.

Negotiations on the agreement, in charge of the local's industrial relations committee, began yesterday.

Mr. Fansler said the international union has been notified of the disagreement between the company and the union on furloughs, and has been asked to send a representative to asisst the committee.

Driver Gets 60 Days

William P. Wolfington Jr., 33, of 814 Stewart Avenue, was committed to Allegany County Jail yesterday for 60 days for drunken and reckless driving.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt found Wolfington guilty of the second offense of driving under the influence of liquor and reckless driving.

Wolfington was sentenced to 30 days and fined $100 on the drunken driving charge and $10 for reckless driving. He was given an additional 30 days in default of the $100 fine and the $10 fine was suspended.

He was arrested yesterday morning on North Mechanic Street by Sgt. E. Gordon Hite and Officer Clarence Valentine.

Slot Machine Bill Clears First Hurdle

Two Years Added To Phase-Out

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes' bill to abolish slot machines cleared its first big hurdle in the Maryland Legislature late Thursday with a favorable report from the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee, however, gave the four Southern Maryland counties where slots are legal five years in which to get rid of them instead of the three years proposed by Tawes.

The bill will be reported to the floor of the house for action next Wednesday.

The committee action, in which the full power of the Tawes Administration was evident, came shortly after some four hours of testimony at a public hearing.

A voice vote was taken but only one nay was heard as delegates sounded their approval in the 30-member committee.

"I have always told you I would advise you when an administration bill is before this committee," Chairman Thomas Hunter Lowe said. "God knows, this is an administration bill."

After the bill had ben approved, he commented, "I am sure the governor will appreciate this gift you have given him for the Governor's Ball tonight."

The dance, to be held a few hours later, is the big social highlight of the legislature's 90-day session.

May Face Trouble

Tawes hopes to redeem with the bill a campaign pledge he made last year to rid the state of legalized slots. They are legal only in Anne Arundel, Charles, St. Marys and Calvert counties.

The measure, even with committee approval and the govrnor's backing, could have rough going in the house and senate floor action which lies ahead. Legislators voting for it are having to ignore pleas that it violates a tradition of local option in letting the counties affected decide what is best for themselves.

The local option issue was underscored heavily at the public hearing Thursday.

Representatives of the four counties argued that slot machines had become a basic part of their economy, were well regulated and would bring about mortgage foreclosures on business and unemployment if they are abolished.

This was one expressed reason for the committee amending the period for abolishment from 3 to 5 years. Under the amendment, slots will be frozen for the next two years as of the number licensed in each establishment as of Jan. 1 this year. Beginning in July, 1965, establishments will be limited to not more than 30 machines or the number they had when the freeze started, whichever is less.

After July 1, 1966, the number can not be greater than 20 machines.

After July 1, 1967, the maximum number allowed would be 10.

Abolition is to become complete by July 1, 1968.

Joseph S. Kaufman, former deputy attorney general who is a registered lobbyist for a major slot machine distributor in Anne Arundel County, coordinated testimony from the four counties affected.

Impact Cited

He summed up by telling the committee, "the economic impact on these counties would be fierce . . .on the evidence you have heard here today, the machines have not hurt anyone but hav helped the counties.

"Protect the economics and investments in these counties. Let the people make the decision themselves," he said.

The witnesses for the bill were representatives of the Maryland Committee for Abolition of Slot Machines, a citizens committee organized since the session bgan to drum up public support for the governor.

They contended the slot machines are a bad influence on politics and economy in the counties, without respect to any moral issue on gambling, and that they "invite" organized crime.

David Hume, who ran for Democratic nomination for governor and polled a sizeable vote against Tawes, noted that all candidates who opposed slot machines openly were defeated in the primary, except for one Anne Arundel County delegate.

148 Marriage Licenses Issued

Only 148 marriage licenses were issued during February in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, a drop of 9.2 per cent from the 163 issued in February 1962.

However, the two-month marriage license total of 341 is 4.3 per cent above the 327 issued in the first two months a year ago.
